GLOVER DEATH CASE BEFORE JURY

THE HOME PAPER OF BOSTON

BOSTON AMERICAN

Weather Forecast — Fair To-day.

FIFTH EDITION

VOL. 7—No. 137. Registered in U. S. Patent Office. BOSTON, FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1910. Copyright, 1910, by the New England Newspaper Publishing Company. PRICE ONE CENT.

PRESIDENT TAFT DEDICATES SHAFT TO THE PILGRIMS

PROVINCETOWN, Aug. 5—President Taft to-day dedicated the splendid monument erected here in honor of the first landing of the Pilgrim Fathers. An immense crowd cheered the President when he appeared.

Mr. Taft spoke in a clear, ringing tone that carried well into the throng of people. The address of President Taft follows in full:

REVIEWS STORY OF THE PILGRIMS' LANDING.

"Two hundred and ninety years ago a handful of one hundred Pilgrims in a small, crowded and leaking vessel first saw their new home. They had been preceded by the French on the St. Lawrence and by the English. Other efforts had been made on the New England coast to find colonies before this, but that was the first attempt by men seeking political and religious independence to secure an asylum in America where they might escape the fussy, meddling, narrow and tyrannical restraint imposed by the first of the Stuarts.

"They were not the nobility, they were not of the upper middle class. They were of the yeomanry, of the farmer class. Their ministers were university-bred men, but the rest were humble, God-fearing persons who were avowed nonconformists, and had been perverted as

Continued on Page 4, Column 3.

O'MEARA CALLS LAWS FAULTY

Police Commissioner Stephen O'Meara now pleads that his department lacks sufficient law to police Boston Common.

In a letter to the Mayor to-day the commissioner writes that the city parks, under control of the Park Commissioners of Boston, are regulated by specific rules which cover practically all offences. But, Commissioner O'Meara claims, the ordinances which apply to Boston Common, the Public Garden and other public grounds in charge of the superintendent of public grounds overlook many objectionable things which are covered by the Park Commission's regulations.

Commissioner O'Meara writes that, in consequence of this difference of park and public ground regulations, a man standing at the easterly end of Commonwealth avenue in the boulevard park, which runs through that avenue, may be arrested for offences which he can commit with impunity by merely stepping across Arlington street into the Public Garden.

Commissioner O'Meara recommends that the public grounds ordinances be amended to conform to park rules, also that the ordinance against loitering be so amended that it need not be proven that loiterers "wanton and malicious."

At the beginning of the agitation for a police regulated Common, Commissioner O'Meara denied that alleged conditions existed. Then he said it was up to the police, rules. Next he declared he lacked police men. Now, as seen by the following letter, he finds fault with the law.

The Commissioner's Letter.

August 5, 1910.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor:

Dear Sir—In the public interest I beg to call your attention to the following facts and conditions:

The city parks are under the control of three commissioners appointed by the Mayor. The Common, the Public Garden and the other public grounds and squares are under the control of a superintendent of public grounds, also appointed by the Mayor.

The city parks on the one hand and the Common and other public grounds on the other hand are open at all times to all persons, and because the public grounds are nearer to the centres of population they are used much more frequently in proportion to their size.

The parks and grounds are alike owned and managed by the city and are used by the same persons for the same purposes, the rules which govern them ought to be substantially the same, with a leading, in case of variance, to greater strictness in the more frequented places.

The exact reverse is the case. The parks have rules designed for the safety and comfort of the people and the preservation of property, which represent the watchful experience of twenty-five years. The Common and other public grounds have only section 66, 67 and 68 of chapter 47, of the ordinances, which overlook altogether many of the most objectionable incidents of life in such places.

Here are certain illustrations:

In the city parks it is an offence punishable by fine to stand or lie on a seat; on the Common it is not.

In the parks it is an offence to sleep on a seat or elsewhere; on the Common it is not an offence to sleep on a seat or to sleep in any other place except in so far as the sleeper might trespass on the grass.

What the Offences Are.

In the parks it is an offence to drink intoxicating liquor; on the Common it is not.

In the parks it is an offence to be under the influence of intoxicating liquor; on the Common it is only the general law as to actual drunkenness, applicable to all places, which is in effect.

In the parks it is an offence to "utter abusive or indecent language"; on the Common the language must be addressed to another person and must be "coarse or profane" in order to come under section 50, Chapter 47, of the ordinances, which applies to all public places. There is a large opportunity for mistimes between profane or obscene language addressed to another person and indecent language merely uttered.

In the parks it is an offence to "annoy another"; the Common has only the general laws as to assault, the use of profane or indecent language, etc. This distinction is more important than it may seem to be. A man, for instance, might accost a woman in language that was neither profane nor obscene, or might follow her from place to place without speaking to her, and, as the laws applicable to the Common in part could not be punished unless his acts amounted to that vague offence known as "disorderly conduct." Such actions in the parks would be a breach of the rule which forbids him to "annoy another" and would be legally punishable.

Question of Prosecution.

Moreover, a policeman in uniform or in plain clothes might well hesitate through his own observation evidence of annoyance sufficient to convict without the appearance of the women as complainant or witness in court or elsewhere. On the other hand, when the offence is the use of obscene language, or on the Common, no prosecution is possible unless the policeman has actually heard the language, which practically would never happen, or the offender having been caught, the woman is willing to appear against him and in open court repeat the very words which she accuses him of having addressed to her.

The absurdity of the present situation becomes clear when it may be truthfully said that a man at the easterly end of Commonwealth avenue, which is a part of the city parks, might be prosecuted for a dozen different violations of wholesome rules and yet by simply crossing Arlington street might consult in the Public Garden exactly the same offences without a possibility of legal punishment.

I beg to recommend that in the respects

Continued on Page 2, Column 2.

PROBERS TO CALL SHERMAN

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 5.—Vice-President Sherman, United States Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas and Jacob Hamon of Lawton, Okla., will be asked before the congressional committee investigating the Ballinger charges to give their testimony, according to a statement made today by one of the committeemen.

"It would be no more than justice to those whose names have been involved in the case through the testimony of Senator Dolliver," said this committeeman, "to have them tell their stories and stand examination."

Representative Reid S. McGuire, also named by Senator Gore, arrived here today from Guthrie.

"I am ready to go on the stand," he said. "My record is clean, and I am anxious for a chance to vindicate myself."

Hamon Makes Denial.

"I am well pleased with the first day's progress of the charges launched by me in the closing of the last Congress," said Senator Gore today. "I think I have made my charges stick that I was offered $50,000 to withdraw my opposition to the McMurray contracts with individual members of the Choctaw and Chickasaw Tribes of Indians, and the committee, I think, will sustain me.

"I regret exceedingly that I was forced to repeat the statement made to me that Vice-President Sherman, Senator Curtis of Kansas and Representative McGuire of Oklahoma were interested in the McMurray contracts.

"I do not see how the committee can decide otherwise than sustain my charges of attempted bribery, especially since Representative Creager substantiated my statement that Jake L. Hamon of Lawton had been here on the contracts and had offered him an interest in them. I will summon only two or three more witnesses."

At the committee's session this afternoon Hamon took the stand and made a complete denial of Senator Gore's charges.

Topeka dispatches say that Senator Curtis to-day reiterated his willingness to appear before the congressional committee and refute the allegations made by Gore. Senator Curtis declares that his legislative

Continued on Page 5, Column 2.

RED SOX OUT TO BEAT NAPS IN DOUBLE CARD

BATTING ORDER.

BOSTON.		CLEVELAND
Hooper, r.f.		Rath, 3b.
Engle, 2b.		Gremer, l.f.
Lewis, l.f.		Niles, 1.f.
Stahl, 1b.		Turner, ss.
Gardner, 3b.		Bemis, c.
Lewis, l.f.		Lajoie, 2b.
Wagner, ss.		Easterly, 1b.
Carrigan, c.		Birmingham, c.f.
Smith, p.		Smith, p.

AMERICAN LEAGUE GROUNDS, Cleveland, O., Aug. 5.—Fresh from bumping the Champion Tigers, the Boston Red Sox started on to put the Naps out of the running in double-header that brought the fans in the inclosure acclaiming.

The pennant-defending antics of the Red Sox had been heralded far and wide. The bunting of the Naps in Boniown was not forgotten, and the Naps' supporters wanted revenge. There was plenty of time to get it before the long session of diamond sport was completed.

As the home team had displayed even otherwise winning ability lately against the Yankees by eleatin-during rallies, there was a strong feeling that meeting such a good aggregation as the Red Sox the home team had a chance to land in front in at least one of the contests.

It was getting the goats of Messrs. Quinn and Wathop that pulled Cleveland out with an even break with New York, but whether they could get the "mojo" of the Boston flingers was another question. Dawson called on Hall and Wood to face Cleveland, with Falkenberg and Bankhead opposing.

A SUNDAY AMERICAN want advt. is often the road to fortune.

Wreckage Left in Wake of Cyclone in Lawrence

Upper picture shows workmen clearing the Common of trees leveled by storm; below is cross broken on Baptist Church.

TORNADO LIFTS HOUSE ROOFS AT LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, Aug. 5.—Hundreds of men are at work here to-day repairing the damage and clearing away the debris caused by a cyclone which swept through this city and unroofed houses, uprooted more than 100 trees, blew down chimneys and church spires, ripped off blinds, utterly destroyed several garages, houses and their contents, leveled flat and telegraph poles, cut off all telephone and telegraph communications, including police and fire alarms, and littered the streets with a mass of wreckage.

Everywhere are signs of the havoc wrought by the wind. The steeple of the First Baptist Church, at the corner of Amesbury and Haverhill streets, is toppling and may fall at any minute. The police have roped off the street and all traffic within the danger zone is barred. The staging of the new Pacific mills was ripped off and hurled through windows in the vicinity causing hundreds of dollars' damage.

The fierce gale blew down electric wires in all parts of the city, and the live wires dangling and sputtering about in the streets endangered the lives of pedestrians to such an extent that all the electric lights in the city had to be shut off. The lights had hardly gone out when reports were received at police headquarters from various points that people were being held up and robbed in the darkness by gangs of thugs.

The Common is a wreck. The big flag pole was snapped off at the base and nearly a hundred beautiful shade trees that were uprooted by the tornado are strewn about on the ground.

Roofs were blown from houses on Short, Common and Jackson streets, and plate glass windows in stores and houses were demolished by this fierce gale. Trolley cars were wrecked from their fastenings by the wind or falling trees. Many persons were hurled seven months in the Southern New Hampshire General Hospital.

DOVES AND REDS CLASH IN TWO GAMES TO-DAY

BATTING ORDER.

CINCINNATI.		BOSTON.
Dooin, c.		Collins, l.f.
Egan, 2b.		Herzog, 3b.
Hoblitzel, 1b.		Wagner, ss.
Mitchell, r.f.		Miller, r.f.
Packert, c.f.		Kling, c.
Clark, ss.		Beck, c.f.
Dooin, p.		Smith, p.
McMillan, s.s.		Sloan, 2b.
Brown, p.		Curtis, 1b.

SOUTH END GROUNDS, Boston, Aug. 5.—When the Cincinnati Reds and the Doves go down to business for the second double-header between the teams the latter cutting question in the minds of the fans was whether the Doves could repeat the double dose that they handed the Porktown nimrods last Wednesday.

Such a feat looked almost impossible, but the Doves were ready to tackle the job, while Old Pop Griffith was frantic at such a disaster happening to his team and talked very plainly to his men that anyone big penalty was coming to them if they allowed any more defeats to be chalked up. The Reds were the underdogs, as the Doves had two out of three games on the Gilmore picks, as they are called in their own town. The game is likely to be changed shortly to something less spicy.

The betting stood pat the impression because they thought the opening game that the reds would be easy, but after being shunted a couple of times at the second inning they changed their minds and were on hand to play all the baseball they knew or had read about, while the Doves were dying high and ready to make trouble for the Reds before the team got away from the home road.

The AMERICAN goes into more homes than all the other evening papers of Boston combined. It is the Quality newspaper.

CAMPBELLTON HIT BY WIND STORM

CAMPBELLTON, N. B., Aug. 5.—Wind and rain raised havoc with this town's section five sufferers, many of whom, since they lost their homes in the recent conflagration, have been living in tents and other improvised structures. The wind ripped up the tents, blowing them about the town and leaving families out in the open exposed to the heavy rain. The result was that scores, although they succeeded in finding shelter for the night, were obliged to sleep on wet mattresses with soaked bedclothing.

BEGIN WORK OF LAYING NEW CABLE

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 5.—The work of laying the new Western Union cable which is to connect Bay Roberts and Conception Bay, Newfoundland, with Cornwall, England, has been started by the cable ship Colonia. The steamer Telconia is now while cutting the Direct United States Cable Company's cable off at Conception Bay and commencing it with the new shore end which will connect with the new station at Harbor Grace.

BENNETT DIES FROM FISHING BOAT BURNS

Michael Bennett, twenty-five, of No. 172 Paris street, East Boston, a water tender on the fishing boat Satellite, died early today as the result of burns received in the fire which destroyed the boat in the harbor. Bennett's death is the third as the result of that accident.

THE WEATHER.

Fair to-day and Saturday. Light westerly winds.

Sun rises 4:38 a. m.; sets 7:00 p. m. High tide 11:22 a. m.; 11:37 p. m.

WIDOW MUST FACE CHARGE IN NEW TRIAL

Judge Morton, in the Supreme Court to-day, set aside the decision of Judge McIntire of the East Cambridge Probate Court, upholding the will of the late Clarence F. Glover, the murdered Waltham laundryman, and ordered an entire rehearing of the case before a jury and a judge of the Supreme Court.

One of the questions which the jury must determine is this:

"Did Lillian M. Glover wilfully, maliciously and feloniously cause the death of Clarence F. Glover for the purpose of obtaining the estate given her under the instrument purporting to be his last will and testament!"

Lawyer Samuel D. Elmore, counsel for Mrs. Glover, argued to the court to-day that no jury trial should be given, and he charged that the newspapers and the public mind are against Mrs. Glover.

ORDERS THE ENTIRE CASE REOPENED.

Judge Morton overruled this objection and rendered his decision agreeing to the motion of the four grandsons of Mr. Glover who were mentioned in the will, that there be a complete re-opening of the case.

The brothers of Glover in whose favor today's decision came, are William L., Albert R., Arthur B., and Norman S. Glover, Mrs. Glover and the brother, Seymour Glover, were the chief beneficiaries under the will.

The courtroom was about vacant when Judge Morton took his seat behind the bench. Neither Mrs. Glover nor any of the Glover brothers was present. Attorney Elmore was there looking after the legal interests of Mrs. Glover, and the brother, Seymour, whom the murdered Clarence remembered in the instrument purporting to be his last will, was there conferring briefly and a full array of counsel in court—Jesse M. Gove, John J. Scott and Grenville S. Mayfarland.

Questions for Jury.

Judge Morton was asked to allow a jury trial on the validity of the will upheld by Judge McIntire. The brothers requested that the following issues of fact, as follows, be framed for a jury trial:

First—Was the instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of Clarence F. Glover duly executed?

Second—Was Clarence F. Glover of sound and disposing mind and memory at the time of the execution of said instrument?

Third—Was said instrument procured to be executed by the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover?

Fourth—Was Lillian M. Glover, the wife of Clarence F. Glover, with him at the time of his death?

Fifth—Did Clarence F. Glover intend that said instrument should take effect as his last will and testament?

Sixth—Did Lillian M. Glover wilfully, maliciously and feloniously cause the death of Clarence F. Glover for the purpose of obtaining the estate given her by the instrument purporting to be his last will and testament?

Seventh—Did Lillian M. Glover wilfully, maliciously and feloniously cause the death of Clarence F. Glover?

Reasons for Appeal.

The questions are the following several reasons for their appeal from the decision of Judge McIntire:

First—That said instrument was not duly executed.

Second—That said Clarence F. Glover was not of sound and disposing mind and memory at the time of the execution of said instrument.

Third—That said instrument was procured to be made through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Doe, or either of them.

Fourth—That said instrument was procured to be executed through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover and John Doe, or either of them.

Fifth—That said instrument was executed while Clarence F. Glover did not intend that it should take effect as his last will and testament.

Sixth—That part of said instrument whereby it purports to give and bequeath to Lillian M. Glover is null and void, for the said Lillian M. Glover wilfully and maliciously caused the unlawful death of Clarence F. Glover for the purpose of obtaining the estate given her under said trust.

Seventh—That part of said instrument whereby a trust is created for the benefit of Lillian M. Glover is null and void, for that the said Lillian M. Glover wilfully and feloniously caused the death of said Clarence F. Glover.

Elmore Addresses Court.

Attorney Elmore announced that the counsel for brothers would agree to waive all of their requests for a framing of jury issues except declaring that the purpose of the will was procured through the fraud and undue influence of Lillian M. Glover.

Judge Morton declared that the objections to the request of the brothers should be heard first, and Attorney Elmore for another addressed the court. Lawyer Elmore presented copies of newspapers containing stories of the Glover tragedy and of the trial of Lillian M. Glover, and he declared that there was a studied attempt on the part of the newspapers to connect Mrs. Glover unjustly with the murder of her husband.

"It is impossible," declared Lawyer Elmore, "for a jury to be drawn in Middlesex County to give proper and just consideration to this case. The will contest was brought before Judge McIntire, not so much to have the will set aside as to keep Hattie Le Blanc in the case for murder now hanging over her head. It was perpetrated for her defense.

Calls Newspapers Hostile.

"There was the further preconceived notion that the will could be broken. The newspapers were quite in their stories and in their headings. I simply desire to leave with you the findings of Judge McIntire, the will itself and the newspapers which have so prejudiced the popular mind that it is impossible to have a fair trial of this case with a jury drawn from the masses of the people.

"As a sample of one of the newspaper stories, here is one that Hattie Le Blanc was confessed to the murder of Clarence F. Glover. Here is another based on Mrs. Glover's past life—all trash. Your Honor would not read these papers, but the masses of the people do, and persons to be drawn on a panel have read these stories, many of them intending to show that Mrs. Glover was capable of murdering her husband. Some of them in bold headlines, conveyed the impression, spread by counsel for the Glover brothers, that Mrs. Glover actually did have guilty knowledge of the crime surrounding her husband's death.

Says Trial Was "Outrage."

"No grand jury has taken any action on Mrs. Glover and the action of the district attorney in the name of the Commonwealth in signalling to arrest and trial seven innocent persons upon the charge of being accessories to the murder, was an outrage. The district attorney did this to clear the atmosphere. He knew that it would be impossible unless something of the kind was done to have a fair trial for Hattie Le Blanc. The popular mind had become surcharged. The opinion was almost the same as was that of the district attorney—we cannot have a fair trial. Due to the false impressions created by the newspapers."

"What effect do you suppose," asked Judge Morton of counsel for the brothers, "that ordering will only present in case a jury trial should be had?"

"I think," replied Attorney Elmore, "that a few days before the signing of the will Clarence F. Glover stated to a friend that he was being compelled either to sign away his rights, to go to prison or to take a bullet."

To Show Glover in Dread.

"We will show that a few days after he told this same person, and told his brother also, that he was compelled to make the will he did. We will satisfy a jury of unprejudiced men that the will was not the will of Clarence, but one he was forced to make in order to keep peace in his family and to save himself from a prison or a bullet."

It was then that Judge Morton rendered his decision granting the request of the brothers for a jury trial before a Supreme Court justice and a jury.

BASEBALL FINAL RESULTS EXTRA

Get to-day the BASEBALL FINAL RESULTS EXTRA of the BOSTON AMERICAN. It is issued immediately upon the conclusion of the games. It is the most complete sporting edition of an afternoon newspaper ever published in Boston. Results of all games, East and West; racing and other sporting events, standing of the clubs and all the latest general news, local, telegraph and cable, on the same day. You don't have to wait for a morning paper.

GET THE BASEBALL FINAL RESULTS EXTRA TO-DAY

Do You Want A Partner

Is your business in need of a little capital?

Do you want a good partner —one that is honest and has the proper qualification to help you?

You'll find just the man you need to put new life into your plans if you will use the

Business Chance Column of the Boston American

Phone "Main 5180"

80-82 Summer St. 264 Washington St.

LONGWORTH CIGARETTES NOW NATIONAL ISSUE

The protest made by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Omaha against Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth smoking cigarettes is being taken up by W. C. T. U. bodies and other temperance, civic and reform organizations through the Middle West with a rapidity that promises to make the movement nation-wide.

Mrs. Longworth is asked to quit cigarettes or to deny publicly that she uses or approves them.

The W. C. T. U. leaders of Minneapolis declare that Mrs. Longworth is lacking in womanly sense of responsibility, is yielding to a degenerate appetite, is aping the vices of foreign women and is showing complete indifference to her father's teachings. At the next meetings of the Minneapolis W. C. T. U. and of the Hennepin county and Minnesota State organizations, resolutions will be adopted, telling Mrs. Longworth the opinion of the organizations in this matter and asking her to discontinue cigarettes in public at least.

Home City Busy, Also.

Mrs. Longworth's home city, Cincinnati, is particularly active in the agitation. Today, according to Cincinnati dispatches, the W. C. T. U. meets at the home of Dr. Sarah Stevens. Its president, to succeed the recent action of Lucy Page Gaston, president of the National Anti-Cigarette League.

Protest from Chicago.

In Chicago the protest against Mrs. Longworth's smoking takes the form of a letter now in course of preparation by Frances Ilaes by Mrs. Mary F. Holcomb, general secretary of the Young People's Civil League. The letter follows:

"Dear Young People: It seems opportune that your attention be called to the nation-wide publicity which is being given to the attitude taken by Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth in the cigarette habit smoking and the use of intoxicants.

"Mrs. Longworth's open declaration of her addiction to the habit of smoking and her defiance of it is not in itself important but the influence of her family and position socially makes her attitude a dangerous example to thousands of young boys and girls.

"The statement that Mrs. Longworth has championed smoking among women presents a situation which must be met at once by our league and similar bodies throughout the country.

"We should be pleased to receive personal letters from every member of the league and its affiliated bodies, telling his or her opinion of the example set by the daughter of a President and what he will do to spread a sentiment to counteract her precepts.

"This matter will be brought before the executive board of the league Monday, and we would be pleased to receive an expression from as many of the societies as possible before that time.

"We would be pleased to receive a report of the proceedings of the first meeting at which the matter is discussed.

"(MRS. MARY F. HOLCOMB,
"General Secretary Y. P. C. L."

SIX MONTHS FOR THEFTS.

Patrick Conley, twenty-two of No. 135 Eighth street, was today sentenced to six months in the House of Correction after having pleaded guilty to two complaints of larceny before Judge Fallon in the South Boston court. It was alleged that he stole $35 from Edward and Bartholomew Flaherty, fellow-lodgers, which they saved to send to their sick mother in Ireland.

Filene's
Tunnel Bargain Basement

Entrance from Washington and Winter streets and Direct from Tunnel Trains.

A Whole Page Bargain Message Into by a Dry and an Ordinary Tunnel Bargain Basement crowded into about the Local Space. Of course, the values Saturday Morning and even more extraordinary than usual. Remember what happened last Saturday. 231 pieces of Cottonades and Wash Fabrics sold. Friday night and the place all cleaned out. Don't run the risk this time of missing some of these opportunities.

For Saturday Morning
(Among Hundreds of Other Lots)

A Lot of 2.95 Figured Lawn Dresses at 1.29

Low neck, ¾ length sleeves: of figured Lawn in all wanted colors: 2 styles: sizes 34 to 42.

The Best Selection will be at 8.30 A.M. Saturday Morning!

Mrs. 'Nick' Longworth as Sketched by Kate Carew

This sketch was made by Miss Carew aboard ship while Mrs. Longworth was returning with her father, ex-President Roosevelt, from England to America after his African trip. Note Mrs. Longworth holding her hat to save it from the ocean breeze.

O'MEARA HOLDS LAW TO BLAME IN THE COMMON

Continued from First Page.

sentenced and in all others which may be found desirable the ordinance governing the conduct of persons on the Common and other public grounds shall be so amended as to conform to the said rules. If the rules were those of a body independent of the city I should hesitate to suggest to it its modus to be imitated, in as much as they have been established by a city commission for use in city parks, there can be no offence. I beg to call your attention further to the Lafayette mall of the Common. It is the westerly sidewalk of Tremont street, between Park and Boylston streets, namely subway exits and entrances open upon it, and numerous approaches to these exist in it wholly or in part without any doubt to danger. There are no seats on the mall, and the persons who idle upon it, especially near the Park and Boylston street exits are often an obstruction or worse, for unless they commit a specific offence against the law their right to be in that place as a part of the Common cannot be disputed. I recommend that the ordinance relative to obstructing sidewalks be loitering, modified, with an amendment to cover the presently explain, so as extended as to include the Lafayette mall.

The ordinance in question is Section 31 of chapter 47, and in case of any addition to the present case it provides that:

"No person shall, in any way, wilfully, maliciously and wantonly obstruct the free passage of footpassengers, but shall not persist in a street wilfully, maliciously and wantonly sooner and after for more than five minutes after being directed by a police officer to move on."

The words "wantonly" and "maliciously" were inserted in both clauses of the ordinance in the year 1906, the amendments becoming effective with the approval of Mayor Collins. The ordinance specifically put aside all considerations for such offences, for proof sufficient for a court that the obstruction or the loitering was wanton and malicious was required. I believe that in the interest of the whole city and the Common should be restored to its original form, and so recommend. I would be glad to confer with you in the Lafayette mall as well as elsewhere.

WOMEN DEMAND MORE PROTECTION ON THE COMMON

Better police protection on Boston Common and parks, especially for aged women and children from hoot and harm, is asked in the Boston Woman's Journal in a letter sent to Mayor Fitzgerald's office today.

The letter contains a copy of resolutions adopted last night at a meeting of members of the executive committee of the board at Pratt & Boardley building. The letter sent to the Mayor reads:

An executive meeting of the committee appointed by the Boston Board of Trade was held in room 512, Berkeley building, No. 420 Boylston street, to investigate and demand better protection for women and children on Boston Common, public parks and streets.

"Whereas, Police Commissioner O'Meara has asked for 119 additional police officers, but has stated his intent to put extra police officers on the Common and public parks as well as streets for the better protection of commercial and industrial women,

"Resolved, that a letter be sent to Hon. Mayor Fitzgerald respectfully requesting that he insist upon the new appointments to be made and shall specifically mention the Boston Common and public parks.

"Be it resolved that a copy of the Whereas and Resolutions be mailed to Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor of Boston, Charlotte E. Marshall, Minnie E. Caruso, Harriet L. Farrar, Charlotta Smith."

SPAIN RUSHES 10,000 MEN TO ST. SEBASTIAN

MADRID, Aug. 5.—Ten thousand carefully chosen troops were dispatched today to the Basque Provinces, under General Weyler, to quell the uprising there which has broken out under the leadership of the pretenderlist.

It is believed that behind the movement is a plan for the overthrow of King Alfonso and the placing on the throne of Don Jaime, Bourbon pretender, who has been in constant communication with the clericals since the relations between Spain and the Vatican became strained.

Confirmation was received here today of the report that the distribution of arms to the infuriated populace is being directed by the Carlist leaders every hour before the arrest of all incendiaries, whether priest or layman.

The railroads running to the north have been ordered to place a strong guard on all bridges.

Reports received here today state that the disaffection is spreading rapidly here, being particularly alarming in the northern provinces, where the Carlist element is strong. Both radicals and Carlist-clerical forces are said to be active in Vizcaya, the principal smelting miners of the Bilbao district hold strong political position in the struggle.

In the provinces of Alava and Guipuzcoa the situation is entirely free critical than yesterday. The chief part of the population is reported that the government's policy is to do away with all forms of religious worship in Catalonia.

Secret instructions were today sent to the Governor of La Mota, the fortress containing the San Sebastian garrison. It is understood this step was taken at the direct order of Premier Canalejas.

The reports arriving here today are disquieting, but not a clash is feared as yet, and the question is not largely one of whether the strikes will be delayed till the Sunday demonstration, or will come sooner.

General Aznar, Minister of War, today called for more than an hour with the Premier. Minister of Public Works Cabellero was summoned to the meeting to be consulted regarding the running of troop trains.

Baron de la Torre, Civil Governor at San Sebastian, today received detailed instructions. The situation, however, is stated in the hands of the military.

Premier Canalejas here today said that the proclamation of martial law in the North was not justified.

Del Val Sees Hope of Peace.

ROME, Aug. 5.—Rumors that Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, and the Marquis de Villalobar, Spanish ambassador, today held a conference on the Spanish crisis, lasting over two hours, is denied by both parties to the discussion, each said there appeared to be hope of peace.

SAN SEBASTIAN BEING PUT UPON A WAR FOOTING

SAN SEBASTIAN, Aug. 5.—Iron shields were today put over the windows of the Hotel de Londres, which is the headquarters of Sunday expected disorders. The captain general ordered all arms in the hands of the local agent of government. The Palace de la Diputacion and Ayuntamiento were detailed to the Alameda, and barrels were filled with stones to be hurled down from the balconies.

Crowds thronged the streets from early morning and many individual clashes were reported.

D. Pedro Vasco, the leading Catholic paper, today urges the devout to come to San Sebastian Sunday at any cost, in defiance of the government's prohibition of a demonstration.

The Republicans are doing their utmost to arrange a counter-demonstration for the same day.

TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS

Up to Midnight, London Time

Turkey to Buy Old German Warships.

BERLIN—Djavid Bey, the Turkish Minister of Finance, it was stated today, will come to Berlin to arrange the formalities connected with the payment for the two old battleships of the German fleet, which Turkey intends to purchase from Germany. The negotiations for the purchase appear to have been completed up to the stage. The battleships in question are the Brandenburg and the Kurfuerst Friedrich Wilhelm, sister ships, of 9,850 tons displacement, carrying six eleven-inch guns. They were laid down in 1890.

Cotton-Tyson Wedding.

LONDON—Mrs. Edith Johns Tyson of Baltimore and Lieutenant Bruce Cotton, United States Army, were married yesterday at St. Paul's, Knightsbridge. Among those present were Mrs. Douglas Wesson of Springfield, Mass., a sister of Mr. Cotton, and Mrs. Josiah Lee Blackwell, who went abroad with Mrs. Tyson.

Urge Study of Disarmament.

STOCKHOLM—The Peace Congress, after debating the question of limiting armaments, adopted a resolution urging that special attention be directed to this subject. It was also suggested that the Nobel committee be consulted for the purpose of studying the question in line with the step taken by the Congress of the United States in its last session.

Kitchener Takes Up Golf.

LONDON—Lord Kitchener has taken up the game of golf. He played his initial game on the links at North Berwick, and while he fooled frequently he indulged in no harsher expletive than "That's no good." He made promising progress and seemed satisfied at the end of the play.

New British Minister.

LONDON—Sir George William Buchanan, Minister at The Hague since 1908, has been appointed British Ambassador to Russia. He will replace Sir Arthur Nicolson, who is now Permanent Under-Secretary of the Foreign Office.

THREE LIVES LOST IN FREIGHT WRECK

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Aug. 5.—Three men were killed when a freight train travelling fifty miles an hour was wrecked on the Erie & Jersey Railroad near here early today. The dead: Engineer J. J. Bradley and Fireman Howard Talley, both of this city, and George Carpenter, Jersey City. The latter was dead-beating his way to Jersey City. The wreck was caused by a landslide on a new cut. The engine struck the mud and was buried under twenty cars.

CABINET MEMBERS IN ARCTIC FRATERNITY

SKAGWAY, Alaska, Aug. 5.—Attorney-General Wickersham and Secretary Nagel were initiated into the Mother Company of the Arctic Brotherhood as a largely attended meeting. A social session followed the initiation and many speeches concerning the welfare of Alaska were made. President Taft is an honorary past grand master of the order, into which he was initiated in Seattle last year.

REPUBLICS TO GIVE MEDAL TO CARNEGIE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Andrew Carnegie will be awarded a gold medal by the Pan-American Congress, now in session in Buenos Aires, according to a dispatch received by John Barrett, director of the International Bureau of American Republics. The medal was awarded because of Mr. Carnegie's prominence as a champion of humanity, and it will be the joint gift of all the republics of the Western hemisphere.

WICKERSHAM NOW IN ARCTIC BROTHERHOOD

SKAGWAY, Alaska, Aug. 5.—Attorney-General Wickersham and Secretary Nagel were initiated into the Mother Company of the Arctic Brotherhood at a largely attended meeting last night.

After the initiation speeches concerning the welfare of Alaska were made. President Taft is an honorary past grand master of the order.

STABS GUARD WITH CELL-MADE DAGGER

MANSFIELD, O., Aug. 5.—Abram W. Martin, a guard at the Ohio State Reformatory, was stabbed today with a dagger by Ernie Johnson, a convict, and probably fatally wounded. Johnson is said to have a grudge against the guard because the latter had reported him for spending money Johnson fashioned the dagger in his cell out of a piece of scrap iron.

NOT A CHANCE.

WHY BOSTON IS IMPREGNABLE

How Uncle Sam has quietly arranged defences for Boston Harbor which would make an attack by a foreign fleet foolhardy. See next Sunday's and I'll buy the rest of the original and only Yuban Brew, who make American gold medal wines in their own factory from $8 to $12; any special flavor to suit your taste. Send to big tea kettle. Mother senses. Their only store,

BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

MARRY ME, FANNY

WILSON BROS.
$3 GLASSES for $1
$5 GLASSES for $2

You can get a perfect fit in our first quality lenses for $1; sold elsewhere for $2 and $3. The real WILSON fitting, next to be kettle. Brother square. Then see your eyes examined free.

ALARM CLOCK 50c

Buy of Us. We Are Agents for
ROGERS' SILVERWARE
WALTHAM WATCHES

Satisfaction guaranteed. The best in the world. We employ 10 skilled watch repairers. Only store.

BOSTON AMERICAN HOUSEHOLD PREMIUM AND FLAG COUPON

Friday, Aug. 5.

NOTICE—A complete set consists of SEVEN (7) coupons of consecutive dates for either Household Premium or Flag. Only one coupon of each date will be accepted in each set.

VIOLENT QUAKE IS RECORDED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—A heavy earthquake was recorded on the seismograph and the observers are today anxiously awaiting news of its location. At 8 p. m. observers at the Georgetown University observatory noted that the needle on the seismograph was beginning to tremble. This was found to be only preliminary to a record which showed a violent earthquake taking place somewhere within a radius of 2,000 miles from here.

From the hour when the shocks were first observed they continued for forty-seven minutes, growing stronger and stronger until 8:56 o'clock when they diminished in strength but did not entirely subside until 9:35.

Why Millionaires Marry Actresses

How four stage favorites have won a single name-lad to the office more than $200,000,000 of husbands, and here's the secret. Read all about it in next Sunday's Boston Sunday American.

MOTHER FREED IN KNIVES THEFT

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Reilly, of Lowell, successfully defended herself in District Court today from a charge of stealing knives and forks preferred by her son-in-law, DeWitt C. Pearce. Mrs. Reilly had pawned the cutlery to buy food for her daughter and her daughter's baby. She made Pearce admit in court that she had originally given him the money to buy the knives and forks.

Mrs. Reilly came here a fortnight ago from Lowell to visit her daughter, Mrs. Rose Pearce at No. 96 Point street. She said she found her daughter and the baby starving. So she pawned six knives and forks for one dollar and bought food.

A week later Pearce had her arrested on the larceny charge. Mrs. Reilly remained a week in jail before trial. She conducted her own case today and cross-examined Pearce and the pawnbroker whom Pearce brought for witness. After Pearce admitted that Mrs. Reilly gave him $5 six months ago to buy the cutlery Judge Gorham said there was no larceny in Mrs. Reilly pawning the goods, especially as the proceeds went to buy food for Mrs. Pearce.

SMITH COLLEGE HEAD RETURNS FROM LONG TRIP

Prominent among the passengers who arrived in Boston on the White Star liner Cymric, was Dr. Marion L. Burton, the president elect of Smith College, together with Mrs. Burton, after a six months' trip abroad.

Dr. Burton's tour of the continent, during which he paid especial attention to the Mediterranean countries, was taken to make a study and survey of the systems and methods of education at present in use in some of the leading universities in Europe.

His first stop was at Cambridge College at Cambridge, where Dr. Burton gave addresses in January, visits later being paid to Oxford University and Dublin. Then a trip was taken to Berlin.

At this latter place Dr. Burton delivered two addresses, one before a large and representative audience at the American Church on the day of prayer for colleges, at which time he took for his subject "Education and Religion in America." Here Dr. Burton also addressed the American students of the Students' Club of the University of Berlin, where he was cordially received.

In Constantinople Dr. Burton delivered two addresses, one, the Charter Day address, in the American College where he took as his subject "Our Intellectual Attitude," and the other at Robert College, where he also spoke at the chapel one morning on "Loyalty."

At the Robert College Dr. Burton gave an hour address to the whole school on "The Ideals of a Modern Man."

During his stay in this city Dr. Burton has been invited to address a representative assembly of Turks on the theme, "Limitations of Human Knowledge," and is also probably being chosen for him because of the great interest he takes in the subject at present in this line of thought, due to the recent translation of Herbert Spencer's philosophy.

The lecture was delivered through an interpreter, and the interest displayed in the lecture by Dr. Burton and dubbed, Dr. Reza Bey, the foremost philosopher of the empire, and a member of the new Parliament, spoke at length on the same subject. Later many of the Turkish professors consulted with Dr. Burton on the question

All Hilton Suits Now Offered at Just Half the Regular Selling Prices

When you get the chance to buy Hilton-made Clothes at half their regular lowest selling prices, you are facing the luckiest clothes-buying opportunity ever offered to any man.

Our entire great stock, including thousands of the best and most stylish suits possible to make, is here for you to choose from at prices which will fairly astonish you.

Do the wise thing and choose while the sale is young, so that you may enjoy selection from the cream of the stock.

No Mail or Telephone orders taken. No goods delivered or sent C. O. D. Alterations charged for at cost. No charge accounts during this sale.

$15 Suits, now $7.50 — $25 Suits, now $12.50
$18 Suits, now $9.00 — $28 Suits, now $14.00
$20 Suits, now $10.00 — $30 Suits, now $15.00
$22.50 Suits, now $11.25 — $35 Suits, now $17.50
$40.00 Suits, now $20.00

All Overcoats Also Included At Half Prices

The HILTON Co.

OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS UNTIL 10:30

OTHER STORES
Newark—Broad and Market Sts.
Philadelphia—1327-1329 Chestnut St.
New York (Downtown) 219-221 Broadway.
New York (Uptown)—Broadway and 37th St.

Corner Washington Street and Temple Place Blake Building

CHILI'S PRESIDENT AND WIFE ARRIVE IN BOSTON TO-NIGHT

Head of Latin-American Republic Will Be Guest of President Taft at Beverly.

President Pedro Montt of Chili, who at one time was his country's minister to the United States, and Mrs. Montt will arrive in Boston this evening from New York. They will speed to-night at the Touraine and to-morrow morning they will be taken to Beverly on President Taft's yacht, the Mayflower, where they will lunch with the Taft family and Governor and Mrs. Draper, who have been invited to meet the foreign visitors.

President Montt is travelling at his own expenses nd paying the expenses of his many atendants and servants.

President Montt of Chilian Republic and Senora Montt.

The party left for Boston at 1 p. m. President Montt expects to get back to New York late to-morrow night. On Monday he and his family will go to West Point aboard a revenue cutter.

A Typical Spanish Beauty.

Besides being of the charming type of woman peculiar to the Latin races, Senora Montt is young, very young, and slim, with big, swimming black eyes and red, full lips and blue-black hair.

"American people are so cordial, so hospitable," she says.

"It is not my first trip to the United States," she added. "But it is so very warm here—much warmer than in Chili, really," she added, as a little breeze from the open window twitched at her veil.

"Sometimes the temperature is over 100, and sometimes it is only 32 degrees, but never is it as stifling as here, although there are so many things to make one forget the weather—the roof gardens and theatres.

Not for Suffrage Yet.

The senora smiled sweetly when asked if she were interested in the suffrage movement, and looked horrified "Yes," she interrogated nactfully—"a city, perhaps?"

At length Charge D'Affaires Youcham came to the rescue and explained in Spanish.

"Oh, yes, there is a desire to vote among the chilean women; they are almost as energetic as the women of the United States and England.

"But you, senora, do you favor the movement?"

She thought a moment and then replied, "Not yet."

M'KIM'S DIVORCE FIGHT PLEA BLOCKED

RENO, Nev., Aug. 5.—By denying an application for a mandate against the District Court of Washoe county, the Supreme Court of Nevada has blocked Sallie Hollis McKim in her effort to prevent the District Court from hearing the divorce case of his wife, Margaret Emerson McKim of Baltimore. The decision is the culmination of months of effort to defeat Mrs. McKim's case.

The New Marlboro Hotel
NOW OPEN
The new home of the Hotel has opened an express to make the place one of the best in Boston. The decorations and furnishings have all been selected anew. The Hotel is centrally located in the heart of the theatre district on the Tremont and within five minutes from the South Station.
Special menus will be served each day.
Patrick Bowen & Company
736 Washington Street

WOULD FORCE LAZY TO WORK

The monthly bulletin of the State Free Employment office proposes a solution of the question of keeping all employed whether they are inclined to toil or not. It suggests that those who will not work be made to work by being placed in institutions and, from such institutions, leased to the farmers of the State.

A job is the only thing that will keep one from being sent away if the desires of the State office are realized. They want every one to belong to the "producing class." It's a case of going to work on a job you find for yourself or going to work on a job the State finds for you by leasing you out to some farmer.

WOMAN, 100, LIVES WITHOUT SLEEPING

BROCKTON, Aug. 5.—One hundred years old and not having had a night's sleep in fourteen months is the experience of Mrs. Mary Tourcotte of No. 509 Main street, whose case has so far baffled all the physicians. Mrs. Tourcotte has not been in bed for the entire fourteen months, as she has found it impossible to sleep, and the only rest she has had has been while sitting in a rocking chair. There she gets "cat naps," but does not lose consciousness.

ESPERANTO FOR CHURCH SERVICES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Church services in Esperanto, the international language, will be conducted in this city on Sunday, August 14. It will be the first time this language has been used in divine worship in the history of the national capital. During the entire week, beginning August 14, the Sixth International Congress of Esperantos will be in session here.

12,000 PRISONERS HAVE TUBERCULOSIS

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—That there are 12,000 tuberculous prisoners in the State, Federal and local prisons and jails of the United States, with less than twenty-five special institutions and hardly soo beds for their treatment, are some of the charges made by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis in a bulletin today. New York and Massachusetts are the only States where any systematic attempt has been made to transfer all tuberculous prisoners to one central institution.

Blue Serge
Morse-Made Suits at August Markdown Prices
$19.50 for suits that were $32, $28, $25
$15.00 for suits that were $22.50 & $20
$12.50 for suits that were $17.50 & $15
$9.00 for suits that were $12.
Made in our own workshops of tested fabrics, sizes and models for all men—big or small.
If It's at Morse's, It's Correct, If It's Correct, It's at Morse's.

Leopold Morse Co.

NEW ENGLAND SOLID AGAINST PRIZE FIGHTS

Lawmakers of Rhode Island and Connecticut have no sympathy with prize-fighting or the exhibition of pictures of prize fights. In great numbers they have joined the National League of Lawmakers to Stop Prize Fighting, thus making New England solid against it.

Other States of the Union have swung into line so that it is assured that the National League will have a membership that will sweep this relic of barbarism into the dust heaps of the past.

Here are some of the opinions of lawmakers on the matter:

SENATOR PHILIP H. WILBOUR, chairman corporation committee, Rhode Island—Am not in sympathy with prize fighting. Would like to see it outlawed in the United States.

REPRESENTATIVE CALEB PARKINSON, Providence, R. I.—I am much in favor of abolishing prize fights.

Mr. Harris is Enrolled.

REPRESENTATIVE FRANKLIN P. HARRIS, Georgeville, R. I.—I am in favor of law that will abolish prize fighting in every State in the Union. You may enroll me.

REPRESENTATIVE LEWIS PROVOST, New Canaan, Ct.—I would be very glad to be enrolled as a member of the National League of Lawmakers to Stop Prize Fighting.

REPRESENTATIVE WILLIAM H. HOTCHKISS, Litchfield, Ct.—Should the Legislature meet during my time of office I should be pleased to offer or support a bill to abolish prize fighting in Connecticut. I can see no reason for its toleration any more than any other kind of immorality.

REPRESENTATIVE M. E. HEIN, Ct.—I am certainly in favor of the abolishment of prize fighting.

Voice from Granite State.

REPRESENTATIVE GEORGE P. MORRILL, West Concord, N. H.—I am heartily with Mr. Hearst in his effort to stop prize fighting and you may enroll me as a member of the National League for the stopping of prize fighting.

GEORGE W. BALDWIN, Pittsburg, N. H.—Prize fighting is brutal and debasing and it should be stopped.

PRESTON E. BOYNTON, Liberty, Me.—Enroll me. Success.

JOHN KELSO, Jeweler, Providence—I am with you.

HENRY H. HURD, lawyer, Claremont, N. H.—I believe that prize fighting should be done away with, but I would not be in favor of legislation to enact that sparring contests should be stopped when properly regulated and no prizes, aside from the distinction of winning, are awarded the victor.

CHAMPAGNE PRICE RISE PROBABLE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Champagne may become a greater luxury this year on account of the ravages of mildew among the grape vines of the Rhelms district of France—a still greater luxury than it was made by the imposition of a higher duty in the recent tariff law. W. Bardell, American Consul at Rheims, says that the champagne viticulturists are greatly concerned over the discouraging outlook for the present year's crop in that district which last year exported to the United States 5,423,916 bottles of champagne, and in the previous year 3,691,812 bottles.

Odd Items

Mouse Menaces a Widow's Pension.

DES MOINES, Aug. 5.—A mouse may be the cause of Barbara Dennis of Grand Island, Neb., losing a government pension as an old soldier's widow. Today she wrote the clerk of the Polk County Court here: "I've been married since 1862, but I cannot prove it. A mouse ate the date out of my certificate." She was furnished with a certified copy.

Pigeon Carries Stork Tidings.

WINSTED, Ct., Aug. 5.—David Cohen of Hinsdale avenue employed a novel method to inform his father in Brooklyn of the stork's arrival at his home. He sent a message by carrier pigeon, reading: "It's a boy. All well." The bird was brought here from Brooklyn a few days ago for the purpose of conveying the news of the baby's arrival to the anxious grandparents.

White Rats and Woman Evicted.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 5.—While nearly 500 white rats scampered in their open cages and played about her feet, Miss M. C. Metzger, owner of the animals, who had just been evicted from her home, perched on the sidewalk and, with the assistance of two patrolmen, protected her effects from neighboring dogs, cats and boys. The rats are to be disposed of as according to Miss Metzger. She raises them for medical research.

Warning to Tardy Suitors.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—After courting Miss Margaret McConnell thirty years, Nelson B. Hallett, a retired grocer of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., got her to set the wedding for 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. But it did not take place till an hour after. Impatient at the stage young swain had forgotten to get a license. After he had remedied that omission the ceremony was performed in the presence of a few friends in the Dobbs Ferry Presbyterian Church by the Rev. R. M. Berkley.

Mr. Berkley Out of Hock.

GREENWICH, Ct., Aug. 5.—Harry Harvey Harkey, a striking individual in pink socks, bright red tie, black frock coat and a straw hat, who says he is the head of the Harry Harkey Company, dealer in coffee and tea, with headquarters in Duane street, New York, was today released from the Greenwich lockup, where he had been reposing for twenty-four hours, upon handing over a check ticket on a watch in payment of a $6 board bill to the Commercial Hotel.

FORCED TO VACATE
Every Piece of Furniture Must Be Sold Before Sept. 15th.

$17.50
For This Combination Book Case
Mahogany Piano Polished
Regular Price $30
BEACON FURNITURE CO.
14 and 16 WASHINGTON ST

SWAMP-ROOT. Is not recommended for everything; but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. At druggists in fifty cent and dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it.
Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

CHARLESTOWN YARD RUSHED WITH WORK

Charlestown Navy Yard workmen today learned that the Navy Department has authorized the stay there of the United States coast cruiser Salem and the armored Castine for repairs. The Salem will be at the yard possibly two months, the gunboat Castine, which was run ashore at Provincetown in August last, during a fire she had been rushed under water by the submarine Bushnell, will be ready at the yard this month, at least. With the work authorized on the battleships New Jersey and Missouri, in reserve at the yard, the battleship Illinois, which is to be constructed, and the auxiliaries Hay and Vestal, the prospect for steady employment looks good.

SUES FOR SLICE OF WOMAN'S FORTUNE

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 5.—That the late Catherine Kirby promised to adopt him and make him her heir, and that she failed to fulfil her promise, is the contention of Jesse F. Cole, Jr., a minor, who has brought suit against Michael J. McNeily, administrator of the Kirby estate for $15,000. Cole charges that she promised to educate him and leave her property to him if he would give up learning a trade. He received the education, but inasmuch as he did not learn a trade he claims that he is not capable of supporting himself, and claims he is entitled to compensation.

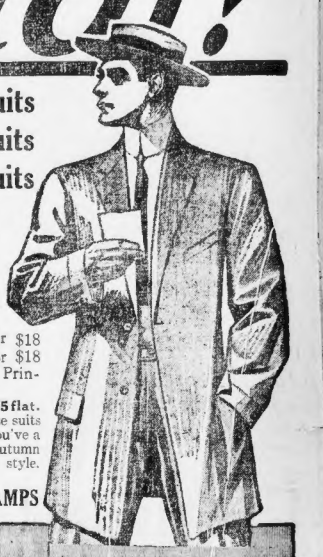
"SUNSHINE POETESS" SUES FOR $10,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Miss Alice Hathaway Hallowell, known as "the Little Sunshine Poetess of America," who has numbered among her friends several former Presidents of the United States, has filed a damage suit for $10,000 against Clarence L. Gilpin, a young Maryland farmer, charging cruel treatment. Miss Hallowell, according to the papers filed, was visiting her sisters at Sandy Springs, Md. When the "Little Sunshine Poetess" refused to leave, she alleged that Gilpin forced her into a carriage and shut the door in spite of her struggles and screams.

CROSBY COMES OUT FOR SENATE AGAIN

Senator J. Howell Crosby of Arlington, one of the most popular Republicans that has sat in the Legislature in many years, to-day announced his willingness to go to the Senate for a third term, provided the other Senatorial aspirants in his district will postpone their own campaigns for another year. Senator Crosby was chairman of the Ways and Means Committee in 1908 and 1909. He has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for Surveyor of the Port and for State Auditor. His return to the Senate would preclude his candidacy for either of the other offices. His district is usually a two-year district, the several towns naming the Senator one after another.

892 Suits To Be Closed Out At $9.75 Flat!



231 Regular $18.00 Suits
297 Regular $16.50 Suits
364 Regular $15.00 Suits

YOU know what a Vorenberg Mark-Down Sale means. You know the genuinely good, up-to-date merchandise you get. You know the reductions are exactly as stated.

Tomorrow we're going to hold a sale of Men's Suits that is entirely out of the class of the ordinary "special sale." When have you seen $18 all-wool, dyed-in-the-yarn Blue Serge Suits at $9.75? or $18 Hokanum Worsted Suits, serge lined, at $9.75? or $18 Rock Black Thibet Suits with a 2-year guarantee Princess serge lining for $9.75?

You'll see them to-day: 892 Suits will be rushed out at $9.75 flat. They regularly were $18, $16.50 and $15. A great many of these suits are the proper weight, cut and pattern for Fall wear, and if you've a provident eye, you'll buy not only for wear at present, but for Autumn as well. All fabrics, all sizes. Every garment is the newest style. They'll be ready at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

REMEMBER, WE GIVE S. & H. GREEN STAMPS

Reg. $10 & $12 Outing Suits $5.75, $7.75, $9.75

THESE Outing Suits are not the baggy, ill-fitting sort of Garments that so many stores sell, but are smartly styled, superbly draped and well made in every particular. Neither are they odds and ends or broken sizes. They are so absurdly cheap because the maker had to sacrifice them to raise immediate cash. The patterns are magnificent, and we have all sizes in each pattern. This is a wonderful bargain opportunity for you.

$5.75 For $10.00 & $12.00 Outing Suits | $7.75 For $13.50 & $15.00 Outing Suits | $9.75 For $16.50 & $18.00 Outing Suits

Outing Trousers for Vacation

$3.50 Trousers 1.95
Part of our great purchase mentioned a few days ago. Are regular $3.50 grades. Choice of 25 handsome patterns in stripes, plaids, any color and size.

$5.00 Trousers 2.95
These trousers, also included in our sensational purchase, include imported flannels, worsteds and tweeds, elegantly tailored.

$12 Young Men's Serge Suits 7.50

You'll be amazed when you see what handsome suits $7.50 will buy in this sale. Broad athletic shoulders, peg top trousers, splendid Washington Mills serge, now..

Boys' Knicker Suits $3.50 values. Elegant all wool suits, in fancy tweeds and blue cheviots, reduced to 1.95

Boys' Khaki Suits In Knickerbocker or long pants styles, genuine government cloth, now 79c

Occupies An Entire Block
VORENBERG'S
Washington, Hanover and Elm Streets

All $4.00, $3.50, $3.00 and $2.50 Straws 98¢

Take your pick of any Straw Hat in our store. Sennits, splits, milans or mackinaws, all for 98c.

Genuine Porosknit Union Suits

Regular 1.00 value 79c
The famous open work underwear that keeps you cool and prevents your taking cold. In all sizes. Special at 79c.

50c Initial Links and Scarf Pins
These fine cuff links and scarf pin, both for the price of one, heavy gold plate, for 24c

6 Pairs Good Hose
Genuine mako cotton, fast color, black or tan, sizes from 9½ to 12. Worth 15c per pair, 6 pairs for 55c

PRESIDENT TAFT DEDICATES PROVINCETOWN PILGRIM MONUMENT

ELIOT EXTOLS GREAT VALOR OF PILGRIMS

In his address at the Pilgrim monument dedication former President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard said:

"What a contrast between our surroundings and those and the scenes and sounds which greeted the Pilgrims two hundred and ninety years ago in this Cape Cod Harbor—welcome refuge from the perils and miseries of the vast and furious ocean on which they had three times set out from England for northern Virginia, first from Southampton on August 15, then from Dartmouth about September 2, and finally from Plymouth on September 16! Then they looked anxiously on a hideous and desolate wilderness full of wild beasts and wild men, and what multitude there might be of them they knew not," as their annalist, William Bradford, says. No friend was there to greet them; no shelters on the wintry land were ready for them; they could count on no human succor; they heard no sounds except the cries of seabirds, the breaking of the waves, the sighing or wailing of the wind, or some yelp or scream from the thickets on the shore—was it of savage beast or savage man?

"A great solitude encompassed them; their little vessel—the Mayflower measured only 180 tons—floated on a lonely sea without a sail, and westward, stretched to unknown distances a mysterious wilderness. Now, countless human habitations greet the view; a happy and prosperous population occupies the smiling land, and confidently uses the tamed ocean with its ports, islands and inlets for its business and its pleasures. Where the Mayflower rested alone from November 21 to December 26, 1620, we see a throng of vessels, some for pleasure, some for fishing and some for trade, and with them numerous representatives of a strong navy forever maintained by the eighty million free people who in nine generations from the Pilgrims have developed, subdued and occupied that mysterious wilderness so forbidding in the imagination of the early European settlers on the Atlantic coast of the American continent.

"We are to hear the voices of the Chief Magistrate of the multitudinous people and of the Governor of the Commonwealth, acknowledging the immeasurable indebtedness of the United States and of the Commonwealths, and State of Massachusetts, to the adult men and the eighteen adult women who, at a distance once or semi-bearing some of the Pilgrims' descendants, and who have brought bither peacefully in a few months' time vehicles and implements unimagined in 1620 from the wide circuit of Cape Cod—which it took the armed parties in the Mayflower a full month to explore in the wintry weather they encountered—to the Seekonk River, where the Pilgrims of the Mayflower, and related families from Leyden, had early suffering anxieties, and labors, felicitate them and one another on the wonderful scope of human joy, strength and freedom of their faith, endurance and deathless resolution.

Prophecy Exhausted.

"My purpose on this memorial occasion is humble, but not less reverent. I propose to describe in simple plain words as possible those doctrines and practices of the Pilgrims which have proved during the succeeding two centuries to be of value to mankind. By the Pilgrims I mean the 102 persons and their descendants on the little Mayflower when she anchored in Provincetown harbor on November 11, 1620, after a voyage of 67 days, and the 35 persons who had become, one year later on the fortune, and 20 members of the original company of 44 men who accompanied her.

"At the end of the Pilgrims' century Governor Hutchinson, a descendant of Anne Hutchinson, was very anxious to get the Pilgrim Records published, and he researched America and the Mayflower of 1620 for the purpose. He found her owner about 50 years after but at the end of the century he could find nothing and nobody, including the children and the descendants, of those two hundred immigrants who had suffered for conscience' sake and who had left the long instance of immense moral and intellectual influence which made them a small group of devoted men and women whose influence was to be felt in all the religious history of the next century. The Pilgrims scarcely found a there have been several centuries of time when so many men and women in very small groups of disinterested public-spirited persons have been active in civil service reform, in municipal reform, and in collectivist movements called conservation.

Ideals in Practice.

"These Pilgrims, or First-Comers, put their ideals into practice in accordance with their serious consistency. Their works were humble, their lives simple and obscure, their worldly success but small, their fears many and pressing, and their vision of the future limited and dim. Let us try to bring home to our minds nearly the conceptions and ideals which, having dominated their lives, have profoundly influenced the lives of the best part of nine succeeding generations of men in this hemisphere, and still exhibit to-day under social and industrial conditions very different from those of the seventeenth century, but apparently inexhaustible vitality.

"A very fruitful conception in the minds and hearts of the founders of the Plymouth colony was that of unlimited progress in the development of human institutions, both civil and religious. This was a doctrine of faith and hope, full of encouragement for all England and Holland, as reported Edward Winslow in his famous charge to his congregation, "If God should reveal further light to us by other instruments of his to be as ready to receive it as we were to receive any truth from his ministry; for he was very confident the Lord had more truth and light yet to break forth out of his holy word. He took occasion also to bewail the state of the Reformed Churches, who were come to a period in religion, and would go no further than the instruments of their reformation.

"The Pilgrims exhibited through their whole career a singularly comprehension and unextinguishable love of freedom. It was their deep love of freedom from ecclesiastical council which led to their congregation as an independent church in England, and finally to their flight to Holland in search of religious liberty; and their second flight from Holland to the North American wilderness was the boldest step they ever took. It was a step into solitude, which would be free from the restraints of the Old World forms of religion and ecclesiastics.

"The Pilgrims were the pioneers of both civil and religious liberty, and the history of the Plymouth colony from 1620 to 1691 flower was dropped in under harbor democracy that the seeds of the flower and their pioneering are the most precious of the Pilgrims' legacies to us. The Mayflower on the 21st of November, 1620, had on board 41 males of the company signed a compact, which was the first written document in North America of the principle of self-government by the consent of the governed. The compact was drawn up by the Pilgrims themselves, and was signed by all the men of the company, including the servants, who had not become, by seven years' service, freemen of the colony. Those seven years' service, freemen of the colony. Those seven years' service, freemen of the colony. Those

LONDON POLICE DECLARE CRIPPEN POISONED WIFE

Positive Evidence Found by Police Body Is That of Belle Elmore.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Positive evidence that the body found in Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen's home here is that of Belle Elmore, his wife, has been obtained by Scotland Yard detectives. It was learned to-day, confirming the announcement made by the coroner several days ago that the body had been identified.

Several strands of hair found near the body have been identified as having been those of Belle Elmore. The hair is of a peculiar color. It had been dyed and part of the hair had come back to its natural color. Friends of Belle Elmore declared after seeing the strands that they were willing to swear they were the hair of Crippen's wife.

Walter Pink, a playwright and manager, was among those who were shown the strands. Paul Martinetti, another theatrical man, also saw them, and both declare they believe that they are those that of Belle Elmore. Martinetti and Mrs. Crippen had dined with the Crippens on January 31. Belle Elmore is believed to have been killed early the following morning.

An old theory revived by new developments now leads the police to declare that Belle Elmore died from poison. According to semi-official statements made to-day a second report has been handed to Scotland Yard by Professor Pepper, who has been studying the remains. The police official admitted that it was Professor Pepper's report which led to the search that showed Crippen bought five grains of hyocin on January 19, twelve days before his wife disappeared.

At Lewis & Burrows, the drug house where Crippen bought the poison, it was said to-day that he made no attempt to hide his identity, and seemed the drug only because he was in town. His signature on the poison record book of the firm shows no trace of nervousness. One-fifth of a grain of hyocin will kill; Crippen bought enough to slay twenty-five people.

Crippen as he looks to-day, from a sketch made for the BOSTON AMERICAN after his arrest.

"LET WOMEN'S SOULS TRY CRIPPEN," SAYS BEATRICE FAIRFAX

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

If I know anything about women, Ethel LeNeve's lassitude and apathy are due to intense relief rather than to fear.

For weeks she has been under a severe strain. Now she is relaxed.

For many days she was forced to masquerade as a boy, and that in itself was enough to unnerve her.

To act a part absolutely foreign to one for many days would upset a stronger mentality than Ethel LeNeve's.

She had to act, look, walk and talk as a man. Now she is exercising the woman's privilege of indulging in "prone" and breaking down.

For ten years her will has been controlled by Crippen.

Women are loyal by nature, and probably during those years he has shown her many kindnesses.

Women are also idol makers, and it is marvellous how little heroic material is necessary for the making of their idols.

No matter how low a man has fallen, some woman will always find qualities in him over which to weave the tender magic of her love and loyalty.

Ethel LeNeve must have learned to know Crippen well after ten years, and yet she loved him well enough to flee with him. If she were not exhausted she might succumb to hysterical temptation to talk.

I doubt if any man could realize the strain that masquerade and the fear that it would be discovered was to her for all that long voyage.

I think that at times she must have looked at Crippen and thought, "I wish I really were a man so that I might treat you as you deserve to be treated."

Men like Crippen ought to be tried by a jury of all the women's souls that men of his kind have ruined. I fancy there would be no doubt of the verdict.

A man repents and the world forgives and forgets. He goes scot free. But though the girl may repent and the world forgive it never forgets, and she pays the bitter debt to the full.

If Crippen killed his wife he presents the edifying spectacle of being two kinds of a coward: the man who is coward enough to kill the woman and drag another with him in his flight from justice.

As each sordid, tragic story of the Crippen-LeNeve type unfolds itself, the world says: "This will be a great lesson for girls and will teach them to distribute affection wisely."

But still the pitiful tally goes on, and the lesson is unlearnt.

The mothers must be the first ones to appreciate the importance of learning the lesson and of watching their young daughters unceasingly. Every mother feels that she can trust her own daughter, but how about the men? Is she willingly to blindly trust them?

Tel. 2720 Ox.

SPECIAL PARLOR OUTFIT

Consisting of the following goods: 1 mahogany Cabinet Parlor Set (5 pieces), handsomely carved and upholstered in Silk Tapestry; 1 Velour Couch; 1 Velour Rocker; 1 Velour Chair; 1 Nottingham Lace Curtain; 1 Brussels Carpet, 2 Silk Piano Lamps; 1 Oak Center Table; 1 Oak Rocker. Value $50.00.

$25.00

FREE, to New Customers, a $12 Piece Solid Decorated Imported English Toilet Set, with a purchase of $25.00 or more.

MAKE YOUR OWN TERMS. CASH OR CREDIT.

MORSE FURNITURE CO

82 WASHINGTON ST. 82 — 82 WASHINGTON ST. 82
COR. JOHNSON ST.

Open Saturday Evenings

TO CALL SHERMAN IN LAND HEARING

Continued from First Page.

record showed he had consistently opposed attempts to wring extortionate counsel fees from the Indian land owners.

Tells of Bribe Attempt.

What happened in the private office of United States Senator Gore at Washington at noon, May 6 last, formed the basis of sensational charges involving the names of Vice-President Sherman, Senator Curtis and others, in a hearing before a special congressional investigating committee here.

During the thirty or forty minutes of a conference held in that office, Senator Gore testified, he was approached by Jake L. Hamon, former chairman of the Oklahoma Territorial Republican Committee, and also former chairman of the Oklahoma State Republican Committee, and that he had been offered a bribe of $25,000 or $50,000 to remove certain legislation pending in Congress, so that $5,000,000 might be paid to J. F. McMurray, an attorney at McAlester, Oklahoma, and his associates.

The money was to represent "attorney's fees" of 10 per cent of $50,000,000, which was to be secured from a New York syndicate for 450,000 acres of coal and asphalt lands now owned by the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians in this State.

Says Sherman Was Interested.

Vice-President Sherman's name was mentioned by Mr. Hamon, Senator Gore testified, as being interested in the land deal to the extent of favoring the appeal to Congress of what are known as the McMurray contracts with the Indians.

When inspected in another private room in Washington, and also where, it was alleged, Hamon made more "overtures" relative to the land deal, was told by Congressman C. E. Creager, of the Third Oklahoma District, Congressman Creager supplemented the testimony of Senator Gore. He said on June 16 last he had been invited by Hamon to meet him in a private room at the Occidental Hotel, Washington.

Having gone there, Mr. Creager testified, he was informed he could have a substantial "interest" in other land deal if he would withdraw his opposition to the approval of the McMurray contracts by Congress.

Q.—Were any figures mentioned as to how much you were to receive? A.—No, I did not let it go as far as that. I made it plain that I was not open to being influenced in that way. I had expressed once on record as being firmly opposed to the granting of such an enormous fee to attorneys.

Invited to "Frogleg" Suppers.

Congressman B. S. McGuire, who was charged by Senator Gore as being "interested" in the McMurray contracts, was called by Mr. Creager, in his testimony at yesterday's hearing, to have been at the time of his visit an occupant of the same suit of rooms with Hamon and McMurray at the hotel.

Clerks of Senator Gore testified to having been invited by McMurray and Hamon to "frogleg" suppers at Washington, at which the Indian contracts were in the "mixed cocktail" form, testified to. It was declared, were all "mixed down."

On one occasion, one of the clerks testified, Hamon said Senator Gore was awfully jolled on his friends.

Senator Gore, in his testimony, asserted that the offer of bribery were for that Hamon said the $25,000 or $50,000 would not be paid over in the form of a check or marked money, but that "it would be all clean, hard cash."

The committee that heard the charges was appointed by resolution of the House of Representatives to investigate the McMurray contracts, which are declared to have been made by McMurray individually with 10,000 Indians, each of whom agreed to turn over 10 per cent of his profits from the sale of land, provided the contracts were approved by Congress.

The committee, headed by Congressman Charles H. Burke of South Dakota, chairman, is composed of Congressman Philip P. Campbell of Kansas, Charles R. Miller of Minnesota, John H. Stephens of Texas and E. W. Saunders of Virginia. Its initial session was held to-day.

"I AM READY TO GO BEFORE COMMITTEE," DECLARES SHERMAN

BIG MOOSE, N. Y., Aug. 5.—"I am ready to go before the committee which is investigating an alleged bribery offer in connection with the Oklahoma Indian land cases," declared Vice-President James S. Sherman to-day. "Any charge that I am involved in the case is absolutely false."

Mr. Sherman to-day for the first time learned the full details of the testimony given by Senator Gore at Muskogee, Okla., yesterday.

Senator Gore did not accuse Mr. Sherman, but declared that his name had been mentioned by Jake L. Hamon, former chairman of the Oklahoma Territorial Republican Committee, as interested in Indian lands.

NEW RECORDS FOR THE VICTOR

For variety and appeal to popular taste the August list of Victor Talking Machine records is on a level with the high standard set by the Victor company. There are band and orchestral selections, instrumental and vocal solos, grand opera arias, medleys from popular operas, songs, sacred music and all the big musical hits of the season.

The list includes two new Harry Lauder records, "Jean MacNeil" and "The Bluebells of Scotland." Arthur Pryor completes his latest and liveliest march, the "Affi." Caruso and Scotti have a splendid duet from the third act of "Madame Butterfly" in the song "Dal I Not Tell You?"

There are three violin solos by the great virtuoso, Fritz Kreisler, and a xylophone fantasia from the "Bohemian Girl" by Reiti. Two of the song hits are "Dee Goo Dee Oo Ah Fingers," sung by Billy Murray, and "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" sung by Ada Jones.

Sam Hayes and Jack Norworth sing "Row, Row, Row," a Dutch dialect song which they made famous in the "Jolly Bachelors." There is also a new Irish song, "Angel Eyes," sung by Ellis Morris and Billy Murray. "Jingle Bells," a coon twostep, and the "Marseilla Waltzes" are among the dance music. The sacred selections include "Abide with Me," sung by Mr. and Mrs. Peebles.

$70,000 TENEMENT FIRE.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Aug. 5.—A $70,000 fire early to-day destroyed a hotel, three tenements and two stores here. Two score persons were compelled to flee in their night clothes.

Business Notice.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

KANSAS CITY EDITOR SEES CANNON'S END

BEVERLY, Aug. 5.—The ablest political comment heard around the Summer Capital this season has come from William R. Nelson, the editor and owner of the Kansas City Star. While maintaining personal friendship with President Taft, Colonel Nelson has been very peppery toward the administration for some time. From being one of the President's staunchest supporters he has become one of his most outspoken critics.

He called at the Executive Offices in Beverly before making a visit at Burgess Point.

"What do you think of the result of the Kansas primaries?" was one of the first queries put to the Kansas City editor.

"Well, my heart is not broken over it," he responded. "You see, Kansas is still filled with people who made the State for their sons.

"The trouble in Kansas is that the Republican party did not live up to its pledges. Speaker Cannon's visit came too late in the campaign to do either harm or good. It was a negligible quantity.

"Many Republicans imagine that the party is composed of a majority of the voters of the country. The facts are it is not. There has never been a time when the Democrats put up a better President who ought to have been elected than he was not elected. Take Cleveland and Tilden for example. The Republicans lumped the two parties in still resting on its past glories."

"Will the next House be Democratic?" the editor was asked him.

"I think it will," said he, "or it will be insurgent. It will be anti-Cannon, at least."

ROOT PLEADS FOR A TREATY ON FISHERIES

THE HAGUE, Aug. 5.—Senator Elihu Root, in his argument in America's behalf before The Hague tribunal in the Newfoundland fisheries case, to-day, pleaded for a treaty between the United States and Great Britain similar to that relating to the same subject now in force between Great Britain and France.

Mr. Root challenged the ability of Newfoundland to police American fishermen, whose treaty rights the colony considered a burden.

"Newfoundland must bear this," he said. "The right way to remove the burden is by treaty."

DEMOCRATS READ OUT OF PARTY BY BRYAN

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 5.—"Any Democrat who voted for William Lorimer is not fit for a representative position; it is hardly safe to allow him to run at large." In these and similar words of denunciation, Wm. J. Bryan reads out of the Democratic party those members of the Illinois Legislature who supported the junior senator of that State. "Any Democrat," he adds, "who voted for Lorimer for patriotic reasons ought to retire to private life and kept there. It is almost as dangerous to have a fool in the Legislature as a knave."

Nothing succeeds like circulation. Advertise in the AMERICAN.

BOSTONIANS MADE A GREAT SHOWING AT K. OF C. CONVENTION

Professor James C. Monaghan of New York, the famous Catholic lecturer and writer, arrived in Boston to-day from Quebec, where he had been in attendance at the national convention of the Knights of Columbus. Describing the convention to a reporter for the BOSTON AMERICAN, Professor Monaghan said:

GREATEST CONVENTION OF THE ORDER.

It was the most successful convention the Knights of Columbus have held in their thirty-eight years of existence. When a body of men composed of Judges like Callonet, Locke and Mouton of Louisiana, lawyers like Reddin of Colorado, Dwyer of Minnesota, Kirchoff of Arkansas, Power of California, Orrick of Texas, Herbert of New York, Monaghan of Michigan, doctors like Harrington of Wisconsin, Devine of New York, Buckley of so, and, meet in a convention, that convention is going to make its mark.

Boston Men in Limelight.

"The mark was made. But, big as the men were, none towered over Boston's representatives, Joseph C. Pelletier, William J. O'Brien and their associates.

"Boston may be proud of such men wherever she sends them. High-toned, intelligent to a degree that demands respect and compels attention, they lead; they inspire.

"It made a Boston-born man feel good to find the old Bay State standing, where she has always stood, for the highest kind of ideals. Besides receiving the four directors whose term of office had just expired, the convention went on record as favoring publication, whose author makes vicious attacks upon religious orders. The convention went on record again in favor of higher education. It went on on record also in favor of every effort that leads to love of God and country. It was a sublime sight, in the quaint but beautiful city of America's Gibraltar, to see 400 Knights in line in the grand old Basilica. It was wonderful.

"Wonderful, too, eloquent and inspiring, were the words of Bishop Fallon and of the French Bishop, endorsing the glorious work of the Knights.

"Others of the returning New England Knights said today that never were more eloquent words uttered in the old church. At the banquet Wednesday night, in the Frontenac, one of the finest hotels on earth, it was a Boston-born man, Professor Monaghan himself, who made a speech, pronounced by Quebec's Premier, and by all who heard it, the most eloquent, brilliant and moving address ever delivered inside the city's gates."

FULL "L" SERVICE IS NOW RESTORED

The Boston Elevated railway is today maintaining its full service, which was deranged by yesterday's accident at Dudley street. With the first electric train at 5:10 a. m. from Forest Hills, there was a complete restoration of both elevated and surface schedules. All elevated trains are running with the usual number of cars.

Double Legal Stamps Until Noon Every Day

"Your Money Back If You Want It"

WOLF'S

"MY CLOTHIER"

Hanover and Portland Streets

Men's Wear At These Reductions

$2.00 Small Sized Vests 25c
$1 White Duck Trousers 50c
$1.50 & $2 Wash Vests 89c
$1.50 Khaki Trousers....95c
$1.25 Crash Trousers....98c
$2.25 Linen Trousers....1.69
$3.00 Flannel Trousers..2.00

Shoes Tagged At These Prices

Men's $2 Canvas Oxfords 95c
Men's $2.50 Tennis Oxfords 1.35
Women's $2 Canv. Pumps 1.10
Women's $3.50 Oxfords 1.42
Women's $3.50 Suede Oxf. 1.89
Boys' $1 Canvas Sneakers 45c
$1.25 Barefoot Sandals 69c

Red Tag Sale Starts At Wolf's Today

A Red Tag Sale Is on at Wolf's

We've begun clearing the decks for fall—presenting bigger, more tempting price inducements than any other store will offer. If you want bargains that have the right ring of sincerity to them—come to this twice-a-year clearance sale. We insist upon showing none but the newest of goods at the outset of a new season. All the odds and ends, all broken lots, odd sizes, must be gotten rid of now.

Here is how we do it: Each item of merchandise we want to dispose of quickly we Red Tag. We leave the old selling price ticket on the goods—placing a red tag on it in addition to show the reduced price the article is to be sold at. Not everything is Red Tagged, but something of nearly every kind of merchandise we sell is bound to sooner or later fall under the Red Tag Reduction knife.

Boys' $5 Suits Marked Down 2.79

Fancy wool cheviots in sailor or Russian styles; navy blues and plaids. Ages 2 to 10. Double breasted worsted or cheviot suits 747 years.

50c Pique Shade Hats 10c
25c Khaki Blouses At 25c
50c Wash Fabric Suits 39c

$5.00 Panamas Now Go Down To 2.98

When the Red Tags get to work, all the $5 Panamas left go down to a $1.11 lower notch. Good choice in both the regular or telescope styles.

$1.50 Split Or Soft Braid Hats Are Now Marked At 98c
$2.00 Sennit Straw Hats 1.00
$2.50 Sennit Straw Hats 1.25
$5.00 Panama Hats Tagged $3

Red Tag Sale Is on at Wolf's

Men's $10 Blue Serge Suits 5.98

This shows you how we do it when Red Tags begin getting in their work. These are as good $10 suits as that sum of money will buy anywhere—but down they go to $5.98. These suits are single breasted in style and are of a thoroughly fast blue—well-lined and are strongly sewn throughout. The sizes will run from 34 to 44 for regular men—Red Tagged to sell at 5.98.

$2.00 Dresses Red Tagged 1.69

Regular $2.00 quality of chambray in pink, tan or light blue with the fronts beautifully embroidered, cut in high neck styles.

$1.69 Chambray Dresses 1.25
$2.98 Crashe Dresses 2.98
$3.25 Batiste Dresses 2.49

Men's Trousers At These Red Tag Reduction Prices

3.00 Out'g Trousers. 2.00
$3 Cassimere Pants.. 2.00
4.00 Worst. Trousers 2.65
5.00 Worst. Trousers 3.65
6.00 Worst. Trousers 4.65
7.00 Worst. Trousers 5.65

Furnishings At These Red Tag Reduction Prices

50c Bal. Underwear..39c
50c Pure Silk Ties....24c
50c President Braces.35c
25c Boston Garters...12c
15c Blk. Socks, 6 prs.55c
50c B. V. D. Un'wear.35c

Women's Items At These Red Tag Prices

A Red Tag Sale Is on at Wolf's

9c Cotton Vests for 12½c
49c long Lisle Gloves 29c
98c long Silk Gloves 69c
25c Belt Buckles at 10c
75c Black Silk Stockings 50c
25c Boas of Ruching at 15c
25c Soiled Lin. Collars at 10c
49c Trinket Sets Tagged 25c
12½c Black Cotton Hose 8c
$1.25 Mesh Bags Tagged 98c
$1.50 Umbrellas Marked 1.29

Redeem Your Legal Stamp Books at Wolf's

RED SOX JUMP TO CLEVELAND AND OPEN WITH DOUBLE-HEADER

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

20 ENTRIES FILED FOR CHAMPIONSHIP MEET OF ATHLETES

FIGHTERS TOO GREEDY OR BUSY TO FIGHT

By ED. W. SMITH.

New Orleans is wild to get a good scrap for Labor Day. It is willing to give two good pops a fat purse for contending on that day next month. But the good pops are seeking cover on one pretext or an other.

Notwithstanding the fact that Tony Ball is harrowing and New Orleans now possesses about the most available battling ground upon which dollars for ten rounds and even twenty-five round engagements can be given, the principals show no eagerness to go there to fight.

Tommy Walsh, who operates two clubs in the South—one in the city of New Orleans proper and the other across the river in what is known as the "Free State of Jefferson," where everything goes—is in the city making one last desperate effort to get Ad Wolgast, ex-welight champion, and Packey McFarland of the stockyards together for a Labor Day engagement without the aid of Tommy.

It doesn't look as if Tommy, who is a philosophical speaker and thought man who knows the fistic game backwards and then some, is going to succeed any more than did Doll Eddy, the Milwaukee man who tried to get Ketchel and Langford to wake up some hours later with a bad taste in his mouth.

Ad and Manager Disagree.

There is a strange thing about Wolgast. Walsh has a proposition from Ad which he says he will concede McFarland the weight asked for or either the welterweight limit. His manager, Tom Jones, insists however, that he will not permit his man to take anything under 142 pounds.

For the Milwaukee match Wolgast said he would have to have half of the gross receipts for his services. Packey then came through with a request for 25 per cent. While Ad is willing to agree to the fighters and to more going to the winners of the building where the battle was to have been decided, Eddy couldn't see much sense in having the end dropped in surreptitiously. If you've never tried it, Eddy says, don't.

And that's the way Eddy figured. Walsh is here with a fat bid of $10,000 for a twenty-round engagement between the star lightweights. There are no strings attached to this. It is to come, not a penny more or a farthing less. The fighters can make their own terms.

Packy Wants Some Coin.

When Wolgast said he wanted $7,500 of it and a privilege of forty-five per cent. of the gross as his share irrespective of the result, Walsh still had hope because he thought Packy would fight for next to nothing just to get the much-sought-for match at the championship.

Not so, however, Packy is said to fight Wolgast, but he wants coin of the realm for his. The bosses may fall to John, but, incidentally, a slather of the golden lavender shinplasters, which the fellow boys insist be plastered around on them.

Still, Walsh hopes some miracle may happen to give him the long end of it.

Not long ago Walsh thought Stanley Ketchel and Billy Papke could be grabbed and for him. He offered them $6,000, they to split if any way pleased. Ketchel pleaded that his match with Lang stood in the way and Papke never answered at all.

Then Tommy went after a battle between Frankie Conley of Kenosha and Hugh Walsh of Boston for the lightweight championship. Conley was ready to start the battle right then, but Walsh said he didn't care to do battle before October.

All Too Busy. They Say.

Then he offered Matty Baldwin a battle with Wolgast at their terms, but Alec MacLean, his manager—the old Bicycle man—said they were going to Australia to make some fights and Tommy laughed and couldn't consider it, really. And there you are.

If Walsh doesn't get the McFarland-Wolgast affair he is going to pass them up flatly and about October 1 open up in the usual corner and make matches between ordinary fighters who want to fight.

"New Orleans is a grand old town for a good fight," he said this morning. "I figure I'll get Mullen, who would draw $12,000 across the river. But I am not going to agree to any jobbie trying to chase them into the ring."

Ty Cobb, a Mystery; Quits Red Sox Game

The great Ty Cobb has injected a new mystery into baseball by refusing to play against the Red Sox. It is the theory of the Boston camp that Cobb, the mighty slugger, is afraid to face Karger. He appeared in uniform yesterday before the Red Sox and then suddenly walked off the field. There appeared to be nothing the matter with him, and his withdrawal is a mystery.

JOHNSON PICKS AL KAUFMAN TO BEAT LANGFORD

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 3.—"I do not expect to fight anybody for six or eight months," stated Jack Johnson, "as I do not believe there is anyone in my class or that there will be any one against me in the ring who is my class until that time," said Johnson last evening at Allen's Hotel, where he is stopping.

He expressed his opinion of the coming Kaufman-Langford bout to be held at the Philadelphia ball park on August 10. "Kaufman will have all the better of the fight unless he be of a tougher mold than Langford and can stand more punishment. He can duck as well as take punishment," smilingly added the champion.

"Al will have the best of the fight during the entire bout, and if the limit of the fight were stretched a matter of fifteen rounds, Kaufman would cut Langford out. I am almost sure of this, as I have watched both fighters and think that I have the fight 'dope' on the bout," said Johnson.

From Johnson's talk it appears that he thinks there is likely to be no one who will be able to meet him with any real chance of winning for two or three years.

His friends are none of the fighting sort. It was that his training quarters were not down to the Reno fight pictures. He sold my rights of the pictures and in consequence is prohibited from from showing any privilege," explained Johnson. "And the pictures of my fights in which I participated are being dogged by many of my admirers in hopes of seeing the climax of the fight. Johnson pictures are full of his ferocious touring around in the funniest style, and it is a source of great fear of his friends that he will again get entangled in the meshes of the law by exposing. Whenever someone outlaws him to be cured he only smiles and says, 'Don't worry.'"

Johnson, who is accompanied by his wife, will remain here until Friday evening, when he will motor to Philadelphia.

W. E. Quest is also reckoned in the running. Quest already has a win over Sunbeam Selma. Meadows is a ten-mile race in Auburn, New York, a week ago, and many are predicting that the New Yorker will again repeat in the twelve-mile route. Those other grinders, Crowley, Lee and Ted Crooks have always figured in the long game, so with such a classy entry the winner should be forced to put up new figures to win.

In addition to the special twelve-mile event a two-mile scratch event has been put on the program to give some of the local talent a show. Bert Sullivan, who has always been a strong performer in the long distance contest, is looked upon as one of the above cracks a race, and the Cambridge champion has been training especially for the event, and will take part in the other contest that day in order to win the rich purse.

On form Abbie Woods is picked to win the event, and if the shorter race comes before the twelve-mile he should about land the prize.

Woods arrived in town yesterday with his trainer and immediately went to the Oval track at Commonwealth to finish up his work. The young Canadian looked the picture of health, and was accompanied by many Canadians who are willing to wager that Canada will again win the championship.

In the other open eighteen events all of the New England pros will turn out for the jumping and weight events. Louis Gouthro has a big entry and has rapidly raised a Scotch contest, will fight it out for the all-round honors.

Everything considered, the Scotch games this year look to be the greatest in the history of the organization. Chief Williams has spared no pains in offering the finest sports, and has arranged the biggest list that nothing but the classiest athletes will appear. The contests will start at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and will continue throughout the evening.

STAR GRINDERS IN 12-MILE MARATHON

All the long distance professional running champions have arrived in town to take part in the great twelve-mile International Marathon race, at Caledonian Grove, West Roxbury, to-morrow afternoon. The entry list now closed includes the greatest collection of long grinders the Hub has seen for many a day.

Nearly every athletic nation of repute is entered, and when Mayor Fitzgerald pulls the pistol in the long grind he will have one of the best gatherings of champions that has been brought together since the revival of the distance running craze. The list of champions to strive for the $500 purse includes John Svanberg, the Swedish champion, who defeated everything in the long distance line two years ago, and who has covered over 5000 well-known performers as Johnny Hayes, the London Marathon winner; Derando, the Italian champion; St. Yves, the French champion, and who was the winner of the recent Derby Marathons at Polo Grounds, New York. Svanberg is universally picked to win the event by his many Swedish followers in town, and so great has the "flying Swede" been backed that now he is installed a slight favorite in the race. Besides the appearance of the "Northland champion," Hans Holmer, Abbie Wood, Ted Crooks, Jim Verney, the Ohio grind champion," Jimmy Lee, the old B. A. A. Marathoner; W. E. Quest, the champion of northern New York, besides many of the local runners will start.

Of this list "Abbie" Woods, the Canadian Marathon record holder, is considered to be Svanberg's hardest opponent. Young Woods is no more than a boy in appearance, but in the last two years has defeated the best of the champions across the border. Holmer and this young Canadian put up one of the most sensational races at the distance last year. Wood defeating Holmer on the tape in record-breaking time.

W. E. Quest is also reckoned in the running. Quest already has a win over Sunberg. Selma. Meadows is a ten-mile race

VALE CRACK TRAINS FOR THE ALL ROUNDS

John R. Eilpatrick of Yale is training at Travers Island for the all around which will be held at Chicago on August 13. Yale is a corking athlete and football player. He has been entered in the Yale track team for next year, and is anxious to make a good showing in the all rounds.

Pop Pilgrim has been coaching Kilpatrick for the last week, and says that the Yale man is going well.

STANDING AND TO-DAY'S PLAY IN FOUR BASEBALL LEAGUES

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Athletics	57	37	.606
Red Sox	56	39	.589
Cleveland	55	39	.585
Washington	52	43	.547
Detroit	51	44	.537
St. Louis	49	46	.516
Chicago	47	48	.495
New York	37	58	.389

TO-DAY'S GAMES.

Boston at Cleveland (2 games).
Philadelphia at Detroit (2 games).
Chicago at St. Louis.
Washington at New York.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

Red Sox	0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0	1	6
Detroit	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 3 0	3	9
Batteries—Kinney and Stanage; Willett and Sumner.
Athletics	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	0	3
Cleveland	0 0 0 1 0 0 0 5 0	6	12
Batteries—Walker and Mitchell; Coumbe and Krueger.
Athletics	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	0	2
Chicago	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	0	2
Batteries—Coombs and Bruggere; Walsh and Schalk.
FIRST GAME.
Washington	0 2 0 1 0 0 1 0 0	4	11
New York	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	0	5
Batteries—Johnson and Street; Ray and Nunamaker.
SECOND GAME.
Washington	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	0	4
New York	0 0 0 1 0 0 0 4 0	5	6
Batteries—Lake and Shanks; Gregg, Hasty and Sweeney.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Chicago	61	42	.592
Pittsburg	59	42	.584
New York	59	45	.567
Cincinnati	56	47	.544
Philadelphia	47	55	.461
St. Louis	45	57	.441
Brooklyn	43	59	.422
Boston	36	67	.350

TO-DAY'S GAMES.

Cincinnati at Pittsburg.
Brooklyn at Philadelphia (2 games).
Chicago at New York.
St. Louis at Boston.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

Chicago	0 0 0 0 0 5 0 0 0	5	8
New York	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	0	4
Batteries—Brown and Kling; Ames and Meyers.
Pittsburg	0 0 2 2 0 2 0 0 0	6	11
Philadelphia	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	0	3
Batteries—Adams and Gibson; Stack and Moran.
Cincinnati at Boston—Postponed; rain.
St. Louis at Brooklyn—Postponed; rain.

EASTERN LEAGUE.

HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Newark	62	32	.659
Providence	59	37	.615
Baltimore	52	45	.536
Buffalo	52	45	.536
Rochester	45	50	.474
Toronto	43	52	.453
Jersey City	39	56	.411
Montreal	32	63	.337

TO-DAY'S GAMES.

Montreal at Providence.
Toronto at Jersey City.
Buffalo at Baltimore.
Rochester at Newark.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

At Providence—Providence, 8; Baltimore, 4.
At Jersey City—Jersey City, 6; Toronto, 4.
At Newark—Newark, 7; Rochester, 2.
At Montreal—Montreal, 5; Buffalo, 2 (first game).
At Montreal—Montreal, 4; Buffalo, 3 (second game).

AMERICAN ASSOC. RESULTS.

At Minneapolis—Minneapolis, 4; Louisville, 1.
At Kansas City—Kansas City, 11; Toledo, 0.
At St. Paul—St. Paul, 5; Indianapolis, 4.
At Milwaukee—Milwaukee, 5; Columbus, 2 (first game).
At Milwaukee—Columbus, 5; Milwaukee, 4 (second game).

CONN. LEAGUE RESULTS.

Waterbury, 5; Northampton, 2.
Springfield, 4; Bridgeport, 3.
Hartford, 3; New Haven, 1.
Meriden, 5; New Britain, 1.

Before and After the Game

The Red Sox left Detroit for Cleveland well satisfied with the series in Tigerville. They had dopped for three straight in view of Karger's former success against Detroit. It was a case of the old "pitcher and the well," Karger going once too often. He had nothing in the final game and all Detroit's hits were resounding smacks that went by the infielders like an express train. Collins worked with much better effect and had he started the game the Red Sox would have had better than an even chance for victory.

Owner John I. Taylor is very pleased with the showing of Bert Lorchen, the Detroit semi-professional slabster, recently signed. "When we return home we can see how he hits and if he looks good at the plate, and if so we may keep him," Taylor said. "His fielding certainly looks high-class and if he hits as well he will be valuable. If not we will place him with a minor league club for seasoning.

Manager Donovan will not make any predictions regarding the pennant race, merely says: "We will give them all a battle." Maquet Taylor, however, is optimistic that he will fix at Huntington Park next Spring. The Red Sox are playing a certain

Overland Cigars (Delicioso, 50s.. $7.00; Bouquets, 25s.. $7.00; Londres, 10s.. $7.00; Puritanos, 10s.. $7.00; Perfectos, 10s.. $8.00; Invincibles, 25s.. $9.00)

S. S. Pierce Co.

Copley Square
185 Milk Street (Wholesale) } Boston
Cor. Tremont and Beacon Streets)
Coolidge Corner . . . . . Brookline

ly game and look better than at any time this season. Harry Lord is getting stronger and worked out hard in the final game. He expects to return to the lineup not later than the early part of next week. Engle during the Detroit series, played so well at third that it is difficult to see how even Lord can improve upon the work. With the fall strength in the field the Red Sox should find Cleveland and Chicago and St. Louis, the weakest clubs in the league, easy.

Bert Lorchen was called to the plate in the closing game and presented with a gold watch, a gift from local admirers. Speaker made a marvelous play in the eighth inning, one of the best ever seen here. Bush was on third when Stanage smashed a liner to centre field. Speaker ran for it, caught the ball and cut loose for the plate. A strong wind carried the ball with a long curve directly to Carrigan and he tagged the speeding Bush by two feet. In the collision Carrigan injured his right arm and Bush was jabbed so hard in the leg that he retired. O'Leary playing short. Carrigan's injury was not serious and he will play at Cleveland to-day.

Cobb did not play in the window of the game and it is stated the Tiger star is peeved. He was in uniform but disappeared about the time the game was to begin. The day before he battered a couple of Tigers when at practice. On account of failure to respond to signals. On another occasion it is said Cobb did not arrive till the third inning because he was in an auto with friends.

Ed. Willett, the Detroit pitcher, had two unusual plays in the game. In the second inning Collins bunted down the first base line and Willett seldom if ever handles the ball on the line, but as he went past. In the eighth Speaker hit to Willett on a slow roller down the line. With all his speed, Speaker arrived at the ball at the same time Willett did. The Tiger pitcher hurled himself at the runner, fumbled him on the leg and bowled him over.

GOTCH IS MATCHED.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—Frank Gotch, the champion wrestler, will open his Fall season here September 15 against Jesse Westergard, whom he agrees to throw three times in an hour.

CHASE TO RACE IN CLUB CLASS

A rousing entry, embracing the best motive trotters and pacers in New England, has been received for the interclub races at Combination Park, Medford, on Saturday. The real battle for the handsome Boston Post cup goes to the winning club will be seen on Saturday and in afternoon of right clever sport is assured for the patrons over upon the Mystic River track.

THE ENTRIES:

CLASS A. PACING—Dr. Ware, L.; Manola Boy, D. Hard Cash, Jr., Dr. Ware, Jr., Dr. Ware, Sr.

CLASS B. TROTTING—Awning Boy, D. Baron Park, L. Bonnie Wilkes, M. Lady Gray, L. Lady G., D.

CLASS C. PACING—Robinson, L. Canada, D. Robinson, Jr., L. Canada, Jr., D. Lady Robinson, L. Lady Canada, D. TROTTING—Mabel Stark, L. Rose Bud, D. Lady Stark, L.

CLASS E. PACING—Billie C., L. Canada, D. Billie C., Jr., L. Boy, D. Lady Billie C., L.

CLASS F. TROTTING—The Sullivan, L. Lady Irene Sullivan, D. Chief, L. Maid Mark, D.

CLASS G. PACING—Lady Laurice, L.; Irene Laurice, D. Lady Laurice, Jr., L. Lady Irene, Jr., D. Kenwood, L. Lady Kenwood, D.

CLASS H. TROTTING—Nellie Hall, L. Billie J., D. Kenwood, L. Lady Kenwood, D.

CLASS I. PACING—Mirdwood, L.; Claude Mirdwood, D. Mirdwood, Jr., L. Lady Mirdwood, D.

CLASS J. TROTTING—Girls Kid, L. Billie J., F. Wild Rose, D. Maxine, M. Gonzales, G.

MEDALS PICKED FOR BOSTON-1915 GAMES

A handsome design has been adopted by the Boy's Games Committee of Boston-1915 for the medals to be awarded the winners of first and second places in the preliminary "1915" track, field and swimming events. First and second prizes will be of the same design—solid silver for first and solid bronze for second. The designs for the cups to be awarded first and second places for the final meet at Wood Island on August 27 have not yet been decided upon. There will be cups, however, for those who take first and second places in the track and field events and also for first and second teams in the three classes of the relay races. That means that there will be cups for the first two teams in the relay races alone.

TIGER'S BOSS WILL RECALL 4 RECRUITS

DETROIT, Aug. 5.—President Navin of the Detroit American League baseball club announced that he will immediately recall the following recruits who are now playing with minor league teams:

Charley Nees, who is playing first base for Williamsport, Pa.; George Harden, at present pitching for Williamsport; Jim Kirke, infielder with Scranton, and Delos Drake, a pitcher, who has also been playing in a minor league.

BATTLE FOR TITLE

The amateur championship of Plymouth County will be decided on Saturday when the Hatherly team of North Scituate meets Brant Rock on the latter's grounds on Brant Rock field, Ocean Bluff, Brant Rock. Both teams include college and local players and are the two fastest teams in the southeastern part of the State.

OUR Manhattan SHIRTS
Marked Away Down
Prices Are Now
1.15, 1.38, 2.15
Formerly 1.50, 1.65, 2.00, 3.00, 3.50

All our P. & S. $1.15 and $1.50 Shirts now 89c

50c, 75c and $1.00 Fancy Hosiery 35c
3 pairs 1.00.

Fancy Neckwear, 50c and 75c. Now..... 35c
3 for 1.00.

$1.50 and $2.00 Pajamas. Now..... 1.15

STRAW HATS BELOW COST
$2.00 and $2.50 Split or Sennit, now 1.00
$3.00 and $3.50 Split or Sennit, now 1.75
Panamas—Now..... Were $5 and $6. 3.75

PHELAN & STEPTOE
38 and 42 Boylston Street
Next to Hotel Touraine
OPEN EVENINGS

KETCHEL MEETS LANG AUG. 12

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Two important bouts are slated for next week, and strange to say, they both will take place on Friday evening, August 12. The main go, of course, will be the contest to be held between Stanley Ketchel and Bill Lang of Australia at the Fairmount A. C. ring. Lang is the fighter who beat Jack Fitzsimmons and also stood off Tommy Burns in bouts in Australia. His manager, Hugh McIntosh, says he is all ready to fight Ketchel or Langford in Australia if he beats Ketchel. In the other contest Jim Smith, the lightweight champion of Windsor, will tackle Tony Ross, the fighting marine from New Orleans, Pa., for ten rounds at the National Sporting Club.

NORTH END CLUB IN LONG SWIM

Fifteen members of the Cleveland S. and A. Club of the North End are to make an attempt to swim from Winthrop Bridge, Charlestown, to Governor's Island Sunday, August 7, and will start at 12:30 o'clock with the lifesavers who start on the same time for Boston Light. The members are: H. Langley, L. Oliveri, J. Pierce, P. Pierce, A. Rosso, J. Rosso, F. Stanton, J. Mills, C. Magill, C. McGovern, J. Kelley, E. Hafey, L. Rosso and W. Closson.

JAMAICA PLAIN PLAYS WAKEFIELD

The fast Jamaica Plain Association team will clash with the strong Wakefield A. A. tomorrow afternoon on the Perkins street field. Both these teams are putting up the best kind of ball lately and are sure in for some close, good, hard battle is expected by the followers of the teams.

BROKEN AUTO TIRE HOLDS UP LANGFORD

PITTSFIELD, Aug. 5.—Sam Langford was obliged to daily in this city for several hours on route from Philadelphia to Boston, because of a broken auto tire. The Boston man was accompanied by Al Kaufman of Saur and will meet Al Kaufman in Quakertown next week.

WANT SATURDAY GAMES.

Owing to a cancellation, the Merrimacs are without a game for Saturday and would like to hear from any fast baseball team which would like to play them. Address Lowland No. 90 North street, Boston.

The Brockton Yards are open for a game for Saturday, and would like to hear from any fast team. W. S. Whitman, Jr., 43 Ames street, Brockton.

The Crack Mallets semi-professional team is without a game for Saturday, and would like to hear from any fast team. Address W. H. Hunter, Albany Building, Boston, or telephone Oxford 1000.

Any team wishing to secure a crack semi-professional pitcher address R. M. Hindstrom, 59 Bartlett street, Malden.

BARTHOLOMAY Rienzi BEER
IN BOTTLES ONLY
Bottled and Distributed by
WM. ALBRECHT
295-305 A STREET
Phone 1731 Main
Free Delivery in Greater Boston

His Hair

Was Almost Gone. Read What Happened in Six Weeks.

If all men could know the wonderful results that come from the prompt and timely use of Lorrimer's Excelsior Hair Tonic there would soon be no bald heads. Here's a letter from a man who was almost bald. Read it.

Will recommend your (Lorrimer's) hair tonic to any one in need of hair treatment. Have been using it six weeks. Was mostly bald on top of head. My hair is now coming in fine. The tonic has all you claim.

Get Lorrimer's Excelsior Hair Tonic at Riker-Jaynes' or any good drug store. Don't wait until it's too late to save your hair. Get it to-day.

E. H. Smith Co.
11-13 TEMPLE PLACE
Still Another Cut in Our Summer Sale
WOMEN'S OXFORDS
2.50 to 4.50
From $5.00, $6.00 and $6.50
All Sizes. New Goods.
MEN'S OXFORDS
3.85 and 4.85
Were $5.00, $6.00 and $8.00
ALL HIGH GRADE GOODS
Established 1892.
Opposite R. H. Stearns.

COBS

Resort to Cobs while at your summer resort. Cobs are good enough for any man anywhere at any time. In fact, Cobs are famous for their goodness. They come in a plain package, they have no pretty lithographed labels, gold bands nor costly workmanship; they have no pointed ends, but an endless good point—quality.

9 for 15c

Each Cob has 4 inches of "ten-cent-straight" quality tobacco. Get Cobs to-day. They'll get your approval. You'll become a Cob booster, and voice your verdict to your friends. Don't accept imitations. Ask for and insist upon Cobs in the green package.

Cobs are separately wrapped to retain their original freshness and to avoid breaking.

Invest in a "Ten-pocket Edition" of Cobs. 10 for a packet of 5.

LEWIS CIGAR MFG. CO.
Milwaukee, U. S. A.
The Largest Independent Cigar Factory in the world.

Distributed by All Dealers

JOHN RUSKIN 15c in everything but price. Not a nickel cigar—but sold at 5¢

Dr. Hallock's Remedies Cure to Stay Cured
Men's Diseases and Weaknesses

Nervousness, Nervous Debility, Urinary Diseases, Blood Poison, Kidney Diseases, Kidney and Bladder Complaints. Advice and books sent sealed for 6 cents in stamps. Consultation free. Office hours, 9 to 5; Sundays, 10 to 12.

DR. HALLOCK CO.
114 Court St., Boston, Mass.

BURTS GREAT SHIRT SALE

BATES STREET SHIRTS

$1.50 and $2 Shirts... $1.15
$2.50 and $3 Shirts... $1.50
Other Furnishings at Equal Reductions
Small store means—lack of space. New goods coming in, therefore this legitimate reduction sale.
BURT'S
43 Boylston St. 629 Washington St.

I CURE MEN
SPECIALIST
DISEASES and WEAKNESSES
YOUTH, MANHOOD, AGE.
Consultation Free. Expert Methods. No Cutting. Cures Guaranteed. Terms reasonable. Call or write. Free book. Hours 9 to 5 daily. Sundays, 10 to 12.
ADVICE FREE
BLOOD POISON quickly cured by the quickest possible time. Guaranteed cures. Nervous & Kidney Diseases. Kidney and Bladder Troubles. Kidney and Bladder Troubles. Kidney and Bladder Troubles.
DR. KILLORY 178 Tremont Street

BIG G
Big G Cures in One to Five Days
Guaranteed not to stricture.
Sold by Druggists or in plain wrapper, express prepaid, on receipt of $1, or three bottles, $2.75. Booklet on request.

DR. ROTHECKER
Grad. Harvard Medical School
Specialist in nervous and chronic diseases of men. Consultation free. Hours 9 to 5 daily. Sundays, 10 to 1.

CRACK RUNNERS OF COUNTRY TO MEET IN BIG MARATHON RACE

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

OXYGEN GIVEN TO JOE GANS TO KEEP OLD MASTER ALIVE

Mutt Tries the Barber Job Again With the Same Old Result -:- By "Bud" Fisher

ATLANTIC CITY BARBER SHOP
NOT A BAD IDEA! I'LL GET A JOB AS A BARBER
SHAVER WANTED INSIDE
NICE WEATHER, WE'RE HAVING. WOULD YOU LIKE A SHINE ALSO?
NOPE
SAY, YOUR HAIR IS A TRIPLE TO THE FRITZ. WOULD YOU LIKE A HAIR CUT?
NOPE!
YOUR MUSH IS A BIT LUMPY. WOULD YOU CARE FOR A MASSAGE?
NOPE!
YOUR HAIR IS VERY MUCH PITTSBURG, HAVE YOU TRIED THIS NEW SHAMPOO?
NOPE!
?

20 FOR A. A. U. CHAMPIONSHIP

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Twenty entries have been received thus far for the American Athletic Union's all-around events at Marshall field, August 15. The list will not close until probably the day before the games and several more are expected to enter.

The twenty who have sent in their names are: Ellery H. Clarke of Boston, John J. Kelly of the Newton (Mass.) Y. M. C. A., William C. Cauley and Austin J. Menard of the University of Chicago, Myron Kotnard, Avery Brundage, Leslie Byrd, Eugene Schoninger and W. A. Draper of the Chicago Athletic Association, W. H. Theismann of New Orleans, J. H. Furey of Philadelphia, J. R. Kilpatrick of Yale, J. J. Eller of the Irish-American Athletic Club of New York, H. B. Gilles of Vancouver, B. C., R. Gish of Seattle, E. B. Archibald of Toronto, F. C. Thompson of Los Angeles, J. Brodeaux of Brighton Beach, W. J. Philbrook of the Cleveland Athletic Association and P. C. Quarnestrom of Sioux City, Ia.

SMITH STOPS JOE GRIMM IN FIFTH

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N. J., stopped Young Joe Grimm in the fifth round of their scheduled ten-round bout at the Longacre A. A. Smith had all the better of the bout, and near the end of the fifth round he caught a right to the jaw and dropped Grimm to his knees. The referee then stoped the bout.

STRAIGHT TIPS
FOR SPORT FANS

THAT CERT WAS SOME PITCH ing duel between Big Ed Walsh and Jack Coombs. When two teams like the Athletics and the White Sox go sixteen innings without a single run being scored, it is very evident that the game is classy. Any time you can throw up fifty centimes—no mere price of a few buckets of suds—and sit out in God's fresh air, watching two baseball nines battle for three hours and twenty-eight minutes, take it from me you're getting run-rich quick dividends on your money. There's a whole lot of the common crowd who wouldn't put up such a howl about quitting this plant if they thought there were such things as sixteen-inning no-run games across the River Jordan.

THE GREATEST PEST IN THE YAN kee States is a kid brother. On the level I mean it. Not in the affairs of heart—I don't handle any such slush in this column—but in baseball matters. When you beat it home at night his kid-jets oozes through the door, dishes a lot of slang at you, and then keeps busy as you gulp your eats away, answering questions as to who won, where the clinks who tossed the pill, who knocks radium brilliancy with the biffatick, etc. Say you couldn't keep a kid from talking baseball if you crushed him on the bean every time he opened his yap about the ONLY game. You know you couldn't!

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS ARE ...OUT as heartless a bunch as I ever heard of. Here is Bill Joyce losing his liquor license in St. Louis because he kept his suds dispensary open a half an hour after the regular closing time. Bill said that he sold no drinks after the clock struck the fatal three-toll hour, but that he just had a little baseball confab with his old friend, Muggsy—Mr. John McGraw. The combo bet your underskirt they never saw a good baseball game in their life—would not stand for his explus of the old-time player. They took away Bill's license. As that greatest of all sports would say, "What the——"

Straight Tips—I wish to thank you for your very kind, but as the question was not strong enough still enough to answer, I think a six-day race was held in Boston, starting at 12 o'clock Sunday night and ending at 12 o'clock midnight. It was won by Alf Goullet, who rode 12 hours each day, riding 12 hours each day.

HENRY LIMERL

B is right. According to such an authority as Alcck McLean, who promoted about all the six day races here, there were none held as A states.

Straight Tips—Is there such a thing as a Charles Hackett who is a baseball player and will play against Pittsburg batted for Jimmy Burns in the ninth inning of the game of saluting the ball? P. SCHAEFER. Jamaica Plain.

My boy, if you were a good baseball fan you would never ask those questions. Every fan knows that there are no scientific batters in the big leagues. A few of them could place the ball in either right or left field. Hans Wagner is a notable slugger. It isn't a case of hit the ball where they ain't with the Pittsburg Dutchman.

Straight Tips—Please answer the following questions: Where can I get a book on amateur boxing? Who is the present welterweight champion of America? How can I get a ring? Boxing Editor, Boston American. I refuse to be interviewed. LEONARD BLAIR.

Leonard, you are a regular interrogation point, but we will always do the best we can by you. If you mean a book on boxing instructions, you can find one up at Wright & Ditson's athletic goods store on Washington street.

Straight Tips—To settle a dispute, kindly advise me through your The whether or not Ty Cobb is the highest salaried baseball player in the world. HUGH EVELYN JOHNSON.

While we have answered your question many times, we never refuse to grant a lady a favor. John D. Rockefeller, according to all authorities on pugilism, was never the world's champion.

Straight Tips—Please settle a bet, state whether or not the Commuting Saturday and ending the game will be played Monday or made up Sunday be counted if no runs were made at that time. LYNN GENERAL ELECTRIC.

Runs certainly count, as the games were scheduled.

Straight Tips—I think that Cunningham of New Bedford is the best middle distance in the New England League. A friend of mine thinks that Cunningham is not in the class of Chamberlain of Lowell or Hosley of Lynn, and I refuse to be interviewed. It's too close a pick between the bunch.

Straight Tips—As I desire to brand Cal Ripken of Kansas City as a tony sport. My blow-gib challenge to him is still open. PETE PETT.

HOUSEKEEPING TAUGHT FREE

How the city of Boston is instructing girls to solve the problem of the high cost of living. See next Sunday's

BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

OXYGEN KEEPS JOE GANS ALIVE

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Joe Gans, former lightweight champion pugilist and one of the most popular fighters in the country, may not live to see his mother and father in Baltimore, whither he is hastening from Arizona.

Gans was unable to arise from his cot when he arrived in Chicago and oxygen was brought to maintain the spark of life. He was taken to the home of his first wife, Mrs. Madge Gans, who opened her house to him and the woman who succeeded her in the affections.

Physicians accompanying Gans doubted that he would be able to leave Chicago but finally yielded to his plea that a start be made for Baltimore, and reservations were made on an eastbound train.

The physician said he believed the effort to reach Gans's old home would be fruitless.

CATCHER SCANLON RELEASED BY GRAYS

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 5.—Manager Jimmie Collins of the Providence Eastern League team has unconditionally released Catcher Raymond Scanlon, who has been on the club for nearly two seasons, but has had but little work.

Scanlon in the present season he was loaned to Worcester and later helped out Lynn while one of the regular backstops was on the hospital list. Scanlon is disposed to play independent ball the remainder of the season and be free to sign with any team he chooses next spring. He will leave for his home in Syracuse this week.

BOXING NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Ad Wolgast has agreed to box Freddie Cole at Muncie, Ind., within two weeks.

* * *

Pal Moore will train at Allenhurst, where his manager, Jimmy De Forest, lives, for his coming bout with Ad Wolgast. Moore says he is in great shape right now.

* * *

Tommy Burns still insists that he can beat Johnson if given another chance. A bookmaker at the track, figuring odds on the fight, made Burns a 1,000,000 to 1 chance.

* * *

Packey McFarland has joined the "I Told You So Club." He writes saying that he foretold the defeat of Hal Nelson some time ago. He is sure that he didn't get the plum himself.

* * *

Ketchel gets a lot of sport out of the new cause he has bought. He thinks it a fine thing to take a friend out in it and then dump the load. Ketch is not the only sportsman in the world, and the other day was so nearly all in after giving a friend a spinning that two lifesavers had to go to his rescue.

* * *

Harry Edwards is promoting the Kaufman-Langford fight. The noted promoter has a clause in the articles of agreement whereby he is in the province of the referee to declare the bout no bout if in his judgment the men are not trying. A wise move—one such as the squirrel man in the game would make to protect the patrons and the sport.

* * *

In spite of spirited opposition to the Langford-Kaufman bout to be held in Philadelphia on August 15 the promoters of the affair say it will not be prevented, indications are it will be conducted in accordance with a city ordinance that permits six three-round bouts with no decision by the referee. Under those conditions, the promoters say the men will not indulge in a prizefight, but will simply give a scientific exhibition of the manly art. If the bout is not prevented it is predicted that Shibe Park will not afford room for all the persons who will try to see the clash.

* * *

If Hugh McIntosh has sailed for England, as reports he intends to make arrangements for a twenty round fight in September between Sam Langford and Tommy Burns. The latter, in Seattle, denies that he has tried to bull McIntosh up for more money and says he will be on hand according to agreement. Jack Johnson will not go for less than $30,000 a side, and he said that he has some sort of an understanding with McIntosh to meet the winner of the Burns-Langford affair either in London, Paris or Berlin. N. S. W. Johnson has planned to remain in foreign lands until some time next year.

Posner

Cuts Prices

The most remarkable Sale of cut-price Furnishings for Men starts to-day. Every Bostonian is familiar with Posner qualities. Everyone knows Posner's low prices. Never in the history of their 15 years of business have they let down the price bars to the extent that they have now.

These items are a fair sample of what is offered

$1.15 and $1.45 White Madras Shirts	75c
$1.50 Union Linen Pleated Shirts	85c
$1.45 and $1.75 Fancy Negligee Shirts	1.15
$1.15 Fancy Negligee Shirts (entire stock)	75c
50c Athletic Underwear (special D. H. P.)	38c
25c & 35c Imported Hosiery, 6 pairs for $1.00	18c
50c Silk Lisle Hosiery (all colors), 6 pairs for $1.60	29c
25c, 35c and 50c Silk Neckwear, 6 Ties for $1.00	18c
$2.95 and $3.95 Outing Trousers (fine patterns)	1.85
65c and $1.00 Caps (new shapes)	45c

Open Saturday Evenings

Posner's

23-25-27-29 School St.

HALF YEARLY

Clearance Sale

of Melnar Smith Co.'s

Men's High-Grade Haberdashery

Madras, Negligee Shirts—plain and fancy stripings—complete assortment—soft, turn back or stiff cuffs—Formerly $2.50, now..... $1.65

Ties, full line of silks, four-in-hands, beautiful scarfs—Formerly $1.00 and $1.50, now..... 65c

Other mark-downs on Entire Stock

Melzar Smith Company

78 BOYLSTON STREET, Hotel Pelham Building.

Time For Second Straw Hat

Now when your hat is getting dingy, why not buy a new one for vacation, below cost.

$2.00 Straws ..... Now $1.00
$3.00 Straws ..... Now $2.00
$8.50 Panamas ..... Now $5.00

Delano 26 School St.
Open Sat. Evenings

Horse and Speedway Notes

There has been great interest manifested among the members of the Inter-Club Matinee Association as to whether Fred Adams and J. O. Reay of the "Mets" would start their latest acquisition, the iron horse Gallagher, 2:08¾, at this week's inter-club matinee at Combination Park. It has been decided that the famous old pacer, who has had as an eventful a career as any sidewheeler in the country, will not be started this week, as he already had one hard race at Hills Grove on Wednesday, taking a good feed into camp. The first stop of Gallagher over the picked course by the Mystic River will be eagerly awaited by local horsemen.

* * *

Strenuous efforts are being made to place Woonsocket on the racing map again and a large number of shipments have been very much on the job all week. The chances of success look to be about even at present.

* * *

It has leaked out that a most interesting attempt to pull off a craftily laid polo match will be launched upon the fans at the recent race meeting at Narragansett Park, Cranston. Mayor Sullivan, the present and first chief executive of the fifty-first city, defeated warm favorite of the Republican ring at the last election, and a keen rush with its driest, ridden by blue shot has been no comparison to the ting he'll ever see. These political entertainers propose to make speculation as to the outcome an important issue regarding Mayor Sullivan when he comes up for re-election. But the ruler of Cranston sees through the scheme and speculation will be unusually quenched at the track. Without speculation the meeting at Narragansett Park was conducted at a loss of $800 for the week.

* * *

Henry Titer is back from Detroit and lost no time in getting into the silks again at Roseville Beach, 2:15¼, mounted a finely rated mile, which Sam Gorey and a number of others caught in 2:10 flat. Rose McKinney, the handsome mare of Frank Gorey, got by second money in 2:15¼, and repeated in 2:14, while the crack green filly of Dr. Blodgett of South Lincoln, by Bingen, out of an Arion mare was timed in 2:20.

* * *

I. P. Twombly of the Fellaway Driving Club has acquired the bay pacing gelding Easter Direct, 2:09½, and this bay of excellent manners should be a very important factor in the remaining three matinees of the inter-club series at Combination Park.

* * *

The Canadian horses that were brought away from the races at Hills Grove are finding the game a very stiff one. The debut of the pacing Johnny Hudson, by Direct, 2:05¼, and the mixed-gaited Dora, coat by gentleman from the Dominion quite a pretty penny.

* * *

George L. Gilland, the genial host of the Merrimack, Providence, tells the AMERICAN that he is very confident that Jack Orr's chestnut gelding, Commodus, 2:13¼, can step a half over the straight-away course at the Clarke River Speedway in a minute flat. The proposition is one that has aroused much discussion and a party of Providence reinsmen propose hauling O'Flanagan over this Fall and making the attempt upon the fast bit of turf at Allston.

* * *

Gus Daidy of this city is doing the ticket writing at Hills Grove and is the most competent official with the pencil seen upon the fair grounds in years. Gus has talent aplenty for the Grand Circuit and should surely be out with the big shows.

* * *

There will be no more racing at Narragansett Park, Cranston, this year. Pretty safe to stick a pin there.

* * *

Frank P. Fox, the Combination Park trainer, is getting his string ready at Narragansett for the Vermont stakes and purses.

* * *

Fred H. Bellows, the well-known local amateur reinsman, has gone to Lancaster, N. H., where he will start his pacer Gerard Match, 2:22¼, and will also turn his bay racer around at the Littleton, N. H., races which are carded for August 11.

* * *

Arthur I. Power will as usual have a fine racing card at the Marshfield fair and his programming is the handsomest seen here-about in many a day. The Marshfield horse show, which will feature the trotting division, is in charge of W. Power. Davis, Edgar Power and Robert A. Fuller. The horses of Thomas W. Lawson and his family will all be shown at Marshfield, but will not compete for the ribbons.

* * *

Despite all the wild reports, the pacer, Bert Northrop, who took a mark of 2:11¼ on Monday, went down to an honest defeat in the 2:14 pace at Hills Grove, a son of Nutbrist and Birdie Kenney is eligible. Wilbur has had a most bewildering campaign this year and his second race was somewhat slow, showed very plainly that he has been overworked.

* * *

John H. Collingwood, ex-sheriff of Kent County and owner of the Hills Grove Trotting Park, received a royal greeting from his many friends at the fitness this week after his recovery from a severe illness.

Frisbie Collars

A cool-as-can-be shape for grilling days with a class that lifts it above the mass of hot-weather collars

FRISBIE, COON & Co. TROY, N.Y.

AT MOST GOOD SHOPS

25 cents for Two

WHEN YOU WANT

Pfaff's Beer

SAY FAFF'S BEER

MASSACHUSETTS BREWERIES COMPANY
20 Arch Street, Boston.
Telephone Main 6960.

Established Since 1879

Frorys

1 Price SALE A 2 WINNER

Boston knows pretty well that this is not a Ready-made Store, but that we are the market place for exclusive Merchant Tailors' uncalled-for garments and GEORGES MODEL GARMENTS, built by custom tailors during their dull seasons. Thousands have been attracted by the great values of our unique plan at REGULAR prices. Just imagine what bargains these HALF PRICES represent.

$15.00, Now	$7.50
$16.50, Now	$8.25
$18.00, Now	$9.00
$20.00, Now	$10.00
$22.50, Now	$11.25
$25.00, Now	$12.50
$28.00, Now	$14.00
$30.00, Now	$15.00
$35.00, Now	$17.50
$40.00, Now	$20.00
$45.00, Now	$22.50

Flannel Trousers

See our window display of Flannel Trousers, in plain white, cream and gray and newest striped effects. To demonstrate the supremacy of Georges, we have marked them regardless of former prices or cost. Compare for yourself and see what rare bargains they are. In fit and style entirely distinctive from ready-mades. In the sale..... $3.50

Store Open Daily till 6:00
Saturday Evenings till 10:00

Frorys

14 & 16 Summer St.
Near Washington St.

New York 11 West 20th St. Bet. B'way & 5th Ave.
Philadelphia 1006 Chestnut St. Y. M. C. A. Building

TOMFOHRDE'S

45-51 Court Street
Opposite Old Court House.

SPECIAL
Broiled Live Lobster
35 Cents

THE AMERICAN'S MAGAZINE PAGE

Love Thyself Last

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

LOVE thyself last. Look near, behold thy duty
To those who walk beside thee down life's road.
Make glad their days by little acts of beauty
And help them in the burden of earth's load.

Love thyself last. Look far and find the stranger
Who staggers 'neath his sin and his despair;
Go lend a hand, and lead him out of danger,
To heights where he may see the world is fair.

Love thyself last. The vastnesses above thee
Are filled with Spirit Forces, strong and pure,
And fervently, these faithful friends shall love thee;
Keep thou thy watch o'er others and endure.

Love thyself last; and oh, such joy shall thrill thee,
As never yet to selfish souls was given.
Whate'er thy lot, a perfect peace will fill thee,
And earth shall seem the ante-room of Heaven.

Love thyself last, and thou shalt grow in spirit
To see, to hear, to know, and understand.
The message of the stars, lo, thou shalt hear it,
And all God's joys shall be at thy command.

Tact Better Than Beauty

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SOME people are blessed with the tact that teaches them what to say; others with the tact that teaches them what not to say; and some very fortunate people are blessed with both kinds of tact.

Never to say the wrong thing is a negative quality and makes popularity of an indefinite sort.

The people who know just when to say the right thing have the charming knack of making others feel at ease and pleased with themselves.

That lady hits rightly and left with sledgehammer blows.

Kindness is the foundation of tact. If your chief desire is to make others happy you will rarely say the wrong thing.

Just ignore self in all you say, try to put yourself in the other's place—how would you feel in a like situation or predicament.

Don't try to be smart or to make others feel clever.

You may have a keen sense of humor, but don't gratify it at the expense of another's discomfiture.

The term "I told you so" is not in the tactful woman's vocabulary.

Tact is a feral quality, and happy the person who is endowed with it.

At the same time, it can be cultivated if you care to take the trouble.

The tactful person does not discriminate in friendships or favors; every one is worthy of kindness and consideration. Beauty is a great gift; but tact is a greater one.

It Shows a Lack of Thought

Sometimes you see a mere baby who possesses rare gift of tact and thoroughly understands the art of pleasing.

Again, a woman, who has had every chance in the world goes blundering through life, saying the wrong thing to everybody.

One has tact and one has not—that's all.

There is no excuse for the person who is continually saying the wrong thing. It simply shows lack of thought for the feelings of others.

Then there are people who pride themselves on being "outspoken."

I know one woman who always says: You need not come to me, unless you want the plain truth; I always speak it. And she does and she's proud of it.

There is no letting one down easily or making the best of things with that lady; she hits right and left with sledgehammer blows that smart and gall.

There is no necessity of telling an enemy, but neither is there the need of rubbing salt into the hurt.

Try to Cultivate Tact

When a friend tells a good story, never, especially if the friend happens to be a man, follow it up with a better story.

You may have a good one, and rambling on the tip of your tongue, but don't spoil the first story.

The way to cultivate tact—it will help you in all situations, all through life.

But remember that you must be really kind and sympathetic toward all, or tact will never come to you.

Why Men Write Love Letters.

A scientific study of the epistolary fever and letter writing that breaks out from time to time in the minds of some well-known and otherwise hard-headed men. See next Sunday's Boston Sunday American.

Baby's Daily Exercise

"MANY mothers make the mistake," said Dr. Alexander Wolff, the baby specialist, who is making a careful study of the condition of babies in crowded tenements, "of not allowing their babies to get sufficient exercise.

"At first, this exercise should be almost involuntary. Great care should be taken to see that this is indeed by nature and not by a push or other undue effort. When the baby cries from pain the cry is usually strong and sure sharp. The face becomes discolored red and contracted, and rage is accompanied by a drawing up of the limbs and numerous other signs of distress.

"I should also advise warm mothers against kissing their babies or allowing any one else to kiss them, especially while the weather is warm.

"There are many reasons why affection should not be demonstrated in this manner. First—Because tuberculosis, diphtheria and many other diseases may be communicated in this way.

"Second—Because it is decidedly unsanitary.

"If mothers think they must kiss their babies I should advise them to have enough consideration to kiss them on the cheek, or upon the forehead. Do not under any circumstances kiss them on the mouth.

"I have noticed that the practice of kissing babies is not confined alone to mothers. There should instruct their nurses and children not to allow other nurses or children, or people in general to kiss their babies at all.

"The less babies are kissed, or, for that matter, grown people, the better will be the health of those concerned."

CULTIVATE IT

LOVE must be cultivated and can be increased by judicious culture, as wild fruits may double their bearing under the hand of a gardener; and here can dwindle and die out, by neglect, as choice flower seeds planted in poor soil, dwindle and grown single.—H. E. Stowe.

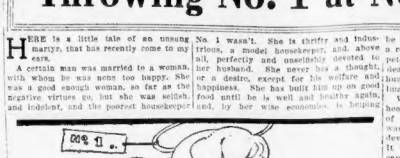
The Mistake of Loveless Marriages.

Read a man's viewpoint on this tragic situation in next Sunday's Boston Sunday American.

Throwing No. 1 at No. 2's Head----By Dorothy Dix

HERE is a little tale of an unsung martyr, that his recently come to my ears.

A certain man was married to a woman, with whom he was none too happy. She was a good enough woman, so far as the negative virtues go, but she was selfish, and indolent, and the poorest housekeeper that ever spoiled good food in the cooking.



No matter what No. 1's failings were she is held up as an angel without a stain to No. 2, is thrown at No. 2's head.

She was one of the women with "ways" and nerves, who can't be crossed and who have to have things, and her husband was little better than a hard driven slave, who worked his fingers to the bones in order to make enough money to support her, and who, when he was at home, waited on eggs and was afraid to say his soul was his own. In addition, she was a constant diet of soggy bread and watery potatoes and burnt meat, he acquired a case of dyspepsia that bid fair to carry him off untimely to the grave.

A Perverted Adoration

In the very nick of time to save this man's life the wife died, and, after a decent period of mourning, he married again. Now, Mrs. No. 2 is all that Mrs. No. 1 wasn't. She is chirpy and industrious, a model housekeeper, and above all, perfectly and unselfishly devoted to her husband. She never has a thought, or a desire, except for his welfare and happiness. She has built him up on good food until he is well and healthy again, and, by her wise economies, is helping him to accumulate a fortune.

Instead, however, of burning incense before this paragon of wives and constituting himself on his back in getting her, the husband is forever holding up before her his first wife as a model of perfection. He has forgotten all of her faults, and she shines in his memory as the one flawless and angelic being who was ever permitted to exist in this imperfect world.

Naturally, this is simply maddening to the present wife, especially as she was well acquainted with No. 1 and knew what a poor, misfit creature she was in the role of wife, and that the only really kind and considerate act she ever showed toward her husband consisted in dying—and she didn't do that intentionally.

Here is a situation for you that would be ludicrous if it were not all so tragic—a real live wife trying for her neck to compete with the imaginary virtues of a dead one, and always failing because human effort cannot keep pace with the imagination.

Worst of all, here is a loving, suffering heart being daily stabbed by the jealousy of a posthumous affection, for this man was neither happy with his first wife, nor devoted to her when she was with him. It was only after the breath that she became a creature of incomparable charm.

It is, of course, a beautiful and a generous trait in human nature that enables us to throw the mantle of charity over the shortcomings of those who have passed away, and to remember only what is kind of them.

"Of the dead say nothing but good," says the old proverb, but at the same time our reverence and loyalty to the dead should not make us blind to the virtues of the living, nor unappreciative of what the living do for us.

"A Little Tin God on Wheels"

It is all very well for a woman to forget, if she can, how many nights she had to sit up until 3 a. m. waiting to let in a husband who was too drunk to find the keyhole, and to blot out of her memory how cruelly and unjustly he was, and how hard she had to scuffle to make a living. It is quite another matter, though, for her, when she marries again, to regard him as the good, kind, faithful, long-suffering husband she gets that No. 1 was a little tin god on wheels, a romantic hero that no other woman could ever hope to equal, or approach, no matter how he tried.

Yet there are women who are always throwing the virtues of Mrs. No. 1 into No. 2's face, until No. 2 must feel like a man of whom I once heard. This man's wife was always bragging of the death of her first husband until one day the second husband also burst into tears. "Say no more," he sobbed, "and spare me possibly regret his death as much as I do."

Women understand so well this hopeless jealousy that we all secretly feel whether we admit it or not, toward the first love of a husband or wife, that unless a wife is an old fool, or really needs and relishes the solemn eulogies on the perfection of her first husband to her second husband, but men are blunderers in love, and many a good husband, without meaning to keep his wife on the rack, does so by continually asked to sit at the second table, and to descanting on his angel Maria's pie and the cut of the warmed-over fragments of way she used to make coffee.

In a second marriage one is asked to feast on the warmedover fragments of a heart and on refashed romance.

Widowers are even stupid enough to ing in No. 1 in their courting, and one will even think to forward his suit by telling the woman he is going to marry him that he was first attracted to her by cause she looked so much like his late lamented Mary Jane. And the poor, misguided idiot hasn't enough intuition to know that there isn't a woman in heaven or on earth that the woman who is in love with him would NOT rather look like than his first wife.

Saves Wear on the Nerves

Of course, widows and widowers get married, because they are preferred matrimonial risks, and there is all the advantage in marrying before that there is in buying a horse that is thoroughly broke-heart, and the refashed romance, as it were; and this being the case, it does look as if, in common decency and politeness, the husband or wife might refrain from accentuating the situation and rubbing it in by extolling the one who sat at the head of the table.

If a woman has been fortunate as to marry a Hayard, "sans peur et sans reproche," if a man has been lucky enough to win a woman who was a Patient Griselda, a Venus, and a cook book rolled into one, and they have been robbed by death of these treasures, let them stay single and hold altars to their memory as much as they like. But if they marry again, for pity's sake, let them keep silent concerning the wonders they have lost, and the blessings that have brightened their eyes.

Between the living and the dead, the living have the call on us every time.

The Illustrious Prince

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Copyright, 1910, by Little, Brown & Company.

CHAPTER XXVII.

A Prisoner.

ALMOST at the same time the Prince sat back in the shadows of the Duchess of Davenham's box at the opera and talked quietly to Lady Grace.

"But tell me, Prince," she begged, "I know that you are glad to go home, but won't you really miss even a little—for music, the life, all these things that make up existence here? Your own country is wonderful, I know, but it has not progressed so far, has it?"

He shook his head.

"I think," he said, "that the portion of our education which we have most grievously neglected is the development of our receptive faculties. We have become poorer than we are to a certain extent without that craving for amusement which makes things necessary to you others. We are perhaps too serious in my country, Lady Grace. We lack altogether that delightful air of irresponsibility which you Londoners seem to make your effortless way through life."

She was little perplexed.

"I don't believe," she said, "that in your heart you approve of us at all."

"Do not say that, Lady Grace," he begged. "It is simply that I have been brought up in so different a school. This sort of thing is very wonderful, and I shall surely miss it. But nowadays the world is being linked together in marvelous fashion. Tokio and London are closer to-day than ever they have been in the world's history."

"And our people?" she asked. "Do you really think that our people are so far apart? Between you and me, for instance," she added, meaning to ask the question carefully enough, but suddenly losing confidence and looking away from him—between you and me there seems no radical difference of race. You might almost be an Englishman—not one of these men of fashion, of course, but a statesman or a man of letters, some one who had taken hold of the serious side of life."

"You pay me a delightful compliment," he murmured.

"Please repay me, then, by being candid," she answered. "Consider for a moment that I am a typical English girl, and tell me whether I seem very different from the Japanese woman of your own class?"

Daring Lady Grace

He hesitated for a moment. The question, as put, was without its embarrassments.

"Men," he said, "are very much the same, all the world over. They are like the cerise cross which grows everywhere. But women, you know, are different in every country."

Lady Grace sighed. Perhaps she had been a trifle too daring! She was willing enough, at any rate, to let the subject drift away.

"Soon the orgies will go up," she said, "and we can talk no longer. I should like to tell you, though, how glad I am—how glad we all are—that you can come to us next week."

"I can assure you that I am looking forward to it!" he answered a little gravely. "It is my farewell to all of you, you know, and it seems to me that those who will be your father's guests are just those with whom I have been on the most intimate terms since I came to England."

She nodded.

"Penelope is coming," she said, quickly—"you know Cecil?—Penelope and Sir Charles Somerfield—"

"Yes," he answered, "I heard so."

The curtain went up. The first surprise of the violins was suddenly caught up and absorbed in the thunderous music of a march. Lady Grace moved nearer to the front. Prince Malvy remained where he was among the shadows. The music soon in his ears, but his eyes were half closed.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Patriotism.

THE Duke's chief had served an emperor with honor—the billiard room at Devonham Castle was the most comfortable room upon earth. The three men who sat together upon a huge divan, the three men most powerful in directing the destinies of their country, felt a gentle wave of optimism stealing through their quickened blood. Nevertheless this was a serious matter which occupied their thoughts.

"We are becoming," the Prime Minister said, "much too modern. We are becoming over-civilized out of any similitude to a nation of men of blood and brawn."

"You are getting some impossible person," Sir Edward Bransome declared.

"One is always quoting unconsciously," the Prime Minister admitted with a sigh. "What I mean is that five hundred years ago we should have looked this young man up in a room hung with black crape, and with a great array of nothing but the most extinct instruments we should have succeeded, beyond a doubt, in extorting the truth from him."

"And if the truth were not satisfactory?" the Duke asked, lighting a cigar.

"We should have endeavored to see his point of view," the Prime Minister continued, "even if we had to change at the same time the outline of his particularly graceful figure. The age of thumbscrews and the rack was, after all, a very virile age. Just consider for a moment our present methods of research and most brilliant statesmen of our day—and we can do very little save wait for the young man to declare himself. We are the puppets with whom he plays. It rests with him whether our names are written upon the scroll of fame or whether our ultimate extinction is dismissed in half a dozen contemptuous words by the rending historian. It rests with him whether our friend, Bransome here, shall be proclaimed the greatest Foreign Minister that ever breathed, and whether I myself am to have a statue erected to me in Westminster Yard, which shall be crowned with a laurel wreath by pretty young ladies on the morning of my anniversary."

The Duke stretched himself out with a long yawn. His cigar was burning well, and the flavor of old Jamaica lingered still upon his palate.

Tottering Ministry.

"Come," he protested, "I think you exaggerate. Malvy's importance just a little, Haviland. Henbo seems excellently disposed towards us, and, after all, I should have thought his word would have had more weight in Tokio than the word of a young man who is new to diplomacy, and whose claims to distinction seem to rest rather upon his soldiering and the fact that he is a cousin of the Emperor."

The Prime Minister sighed.

"Dear Duke," he said, "no one of us, not even myself, has ever done that young man justice. To me he represents everything that is most strenuous and intellectual in Japanese manhood. The spirit of the mystical country runs like the celtic spirit of life itself through its veins. Since the day he brought me his letter from the Emperor, I have watched him carefully, and I believe I can honestly declare that not once in those eighteen months has he made a single false step, or failed to give to one single person even an inkling of the thoughts which have passed through his mind. He came back from the court, from Berlin, from Paris, from Petersburg, with a mass of acquired information which would have made some of our blue-books read like Hans Andersen's Fairy Tales. He had made up his mind as to what he thought of each country, of their political systems, of their social life, of their military importance. He has been engaged up in the bedroom of his host, he was willing to talk as long as I, for instance, was willing to listen. He has never complained that he had met and every place which he had visited without reserve, and yet I guarantee that there is no one in England to-day, however much he may have talked with him, who knows in the least what his true impressions are."

"Haviland is right," Bransome agreed.

Many a time I have caught myself wondering, when he talks so easily about his travels, what the real thoughts are which lie at the back of his brain. We know, of course, what the object of those travels was. He went as no tourist. He went with a deep and solemn purpose always before him. He went to find out whether there was any other European Power whose alliance would be a more advantageous thing for Japan than a continuation of their alliance with us. Such a thing has never been mentioned or hinted at between us, but we know it all the same."

"I wonder," the Duke remarked, "whether we shall really get the truth out of him before he goes?"

The Prime Minister shook his head.

"Look at him now teaching old Lady Saunderson how to hold her cue. He delights in her confusion. He was the most attractive person playing, because no one took any particular notice of her, and every one seemed disposed to let her alone. Two pretty girls were all but ignoring ground him as though he were something holy, but you see how gently he has brought them into an interest she is taking in the game now. He has been encouraging the poor old lady until her hand few shots have been quite good. That is Major all the world over. I will wager that he is thinking of nothing on earth at this moment but the pleasure which old Lady Saunderson at her ease and enjoy her game. A stranger, looking on, would imagine him to be just a high-hearted, simple-minded fellow. Yet there is not one of us three who has wit enough to get a single word from him against his will. Ah, well, our time is over. There is an excellent opportunity here. I suppose both of you read his speech at the Herrick Club last night?"

"I did," the Duke answered.

Penelope's Captive.

"And I," Bransome echoed. "It seemed to me that he spoke a little more freely than usual."

"He went as near to censure as I have ever heard him when speaking of any of his colleagues," the Prime Minister declared. "I will ask him about it directly we get the chance. You shall see how he will evade the point."

"You will have to be quick if you mean to get hold of him," the Duke remarked. "See, the game is over and there he goes with Penelope."

The Prime Minister rose to his feet and intercepted them on their way to the door.

"Miss Morse," he said, "may we rank you among the supporters of Mr. Mayo?"

"Miss Morse!" he said, "may we rank you among the supporters of Mr. Mayo?"

"Do you insinuate," she laughed, "that he has a party of other?"

"We are all captives of Miss Morse's," Bransome said with a bow. "And all enemies of Somerfield's."

Somerfield, hearing his name, came up. The Duchess, too strolled over to the fire. The Prime Minister and Bransome both turned with Mayo toward the corner of the room where they had been sitting.

"Prince," the Prime Minister said, "we have been talking about your speech at the Herrick Club last night."

The Prince smiled gravely.

"Did I say too much?" he asked. "It seemed to me that I was saying no one—but everything connected with it. I was going to make a few remarks about the discourteous of me not to speak. But, Prime Minister and Bransome have their functions. I did not altogether understand, for instance, how much I was going to say, how much I ought to leave unsaid."

"We have a proverb in Japan," Bransome remarked. "What we should like to say, that we say to say so, is unsaid, we left unsaid."

The Prince for a moment was thoughtful. Perhaps he remembered that the days had passed since he was accustomed to keep to jealously his own counsel. The Prime Minister, at the head of the party, felt a sudden longing to tell these people who had been kind to him the things which he had seen enough of in the House of Commons to make a stranger coming fresh to the country could perceive.

"What I said was of little importance," the Prince answered, "but I felt myself placed in a very difficult position. Before I knew it was one of those public occasions which seem to be inevitable. And when I found myself called upon to propose the health of the Emperor, my own, I was naturally anxious to say something which should be worthy of the occasion. I was anxious to say something which should be worthy of the occasion. I was anxious to say something which should be worthy of the occasion. I was

SUMMERTIME POPULAR WITH DEBUTANTES

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

Summer time is coming to be quite as popular for debutantes as Winter time which has heretofore been looked upon as especially their season. It is quite the thing these days, too, for the prospective "buds" to have a preliminary season at the seashore during the Summer and become used to fashionable life and the gayeties to come.

Miss Helen Hooper, one of the wealthiest of next Winter's buds, who is spending the Summer at her Manchester villa, is enjoying a gay round of festivities which her numerous relatives and friends are giving in her honor. Miss Elizabeth Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Rand Thomas of Commonwealth avenue, has already been given several dinners and theater parties. Miss Thomas is a strikingly pretty girl, tall and slender, with pretty brunette coloring. She is an expert horsewoman, one of the finest in the New Riding Club, and devotes much time to golf and tennis and is a linguist and a good pianist. Her sister is Mrs. Arthur Tracy Cabot, married Betty Bliss last Winter. The Thomases are leasing the Summer of Burgratz Hay, where they are occupying Crowe's Nest and welcoming many visitors.

* * *

One of the most interesting Newport bats is Miss Elizabeth Sands, daughter of Mrs. Frederick P. Sands, who was introduced to society on Wednesday at a reception given at the Sands residence on Katherine street. Several other debutante functions are also planned for Miss Sands, to take place within the next few weeks.

* * *

Mrs. George H. Agassiz is one of the vice-presidents of the Pilgrim Memorial Association, which is in charge of the Pilgrim monument being dedicated at Provincetown to-day. Mrs. Agassiz, who before her marriage was Miss Mabel Shaler, traces her descent from Pilgrim ancestry.

* * *

Miss Margery Prescott, who has been the guest of Miss Helen Hooper at her Manchester villa, has returned to Edgehill, Nahant, where her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. George J. Prescott, are spending the midsummer.

* * *

During the absence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harleston Parker in Europe, their three interesting young children are with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stockbridge, at Nahant. Mr. Parker's mother, Mrs. Harleston Parker, is spending the Summer in town at her Exeter street house.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman, who have been occupying their Beverly Cove villa since their recent return from a tour around the world, are spending much of their time cruising on their yachts Raritan and But, which fly the New York Yacht Club colors. Mrs. Norman has offered a valuable trophy for the winner of the Eastern Yacht Club races.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. John Horsey Rhoades of New York are spending the Summer at the Algonquin, Scarbright. Mrs. Rhoades is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David P. Kimball of Commonwealth avenue.

* * *

Miss Harriet Cunningham and her brother, Frederick J. Cunningham, have gone from their Summer home in Newport for a trip to the Northwest. Miss Susannah Cunningham has returned to the Newport cottage after a visit with the William S. Rycrafts in Nova Scotia. Miss Bessie and Miss Cunningham were sister classmates last Winter.

* * *

An interesting engagement is that announced by Mrs. George Dana Noyes of Trinity court, of her daughter, Emma Butterick, to Edward Chauncey Holden of Para, Brazil.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Lonville V. Niles of Wellesley Farms have announced the engagement of their daughter, Gertrude Florence, to Roland Hall Pendergast, Yale '02, of Chicago.

* * *

James Freeman Curtis is visiting his mother, Mrs. Greeley S. Curtis, at Shutesbury, her Summer home at Manchester. Mr. Curtis is Assistant Secretary of the Treasury of the United States.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr. (Jane Grew), have taken a cottage at Lake Chocura, in the White Mountains, where they are to remain until late in the Autumn. Mrs. Morgan is a daughter of Mrs. Henry S. Grew of Beacon street and Manchester.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Wharton have arrived at the Tudor at Nahant. Mrs. Wharton's parents, Colonel and Mrs. Loy of Washington, arrived at Edgehill early in the week to spend the month of August. Miss Annie Warren, who spent July at Nahant, and Miss Emily Beebe arrived at Bar Harbor early in the week to spend several weeks.

* * *

Mrs. Robert Dawson Evans, who is spending the Summer at Dawson Hall, Burgess Point, Beverly, will go to Stockbridge about the first of September. She has taken a cottage there for the early Fall months.

NO ONE NEED SUFFER FROM ECZEMA

Latest Achievement of Science Now Within the Reach of All.

It is most difficult to understand why so many people continue to suffer from Eczema and other skin diseases when a trial box of the new medical preparation called Cadum can be had at all druggists for 10 cents. Cadum possesses remarkable soothing and healing powers. Relief follows as soon as it is applied and the itching stops at once. Cadum not only destroys germs and microbes, but acts as a barrier in excluding dust, dirt and air from the affected parts, thus protecting conditions that favor a quick cure. For Rash, Pimples, Blotches, Redness, Roughness, Chaffings, Scaly skin, Acne, Herpes, Sores, Blackheads, Salt Rheum, etc., this new remedy is a safe and sure cure. Large box 25 cents.

FORCED TO VACATE
Every Piece of Furniture Must Be Sold Before Sept. 15th.

$7.75
For This BED
Elegant Design; Heavy Enamelled; Brass Trimmings
Regular Price $14
BEACON FURNITURE CO.,
14 and 16 WASHINGTON ST.

MERRY MRS. BULL THROWS HUSBAND'S WILL AT ATTORNEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—About the liveliest and most impressible, not to say delightfully picturesque, witness that a New York court ever saw was Mrs. Mary Nevins Bull, widow of the celebrated surgeon and former wife of James G. Blaine, 2d, when she appeared before Magistrate Krotel in private chambers at the Harlem Police Court yesterday afternoon.

As is now generally known, she charges two promoters, John A. Qualey and Professor Harvey Wiley Corbett, formerly of Columbia College, with having swindled her out of $85,000.

With waving fan, flashing eyes, signs, Mediterranean hat, polka dots, open scorn and soft feminine appeals she met the trenchant cross-examination of former Assistant District Attorney John A. Mealey, who would prove that Mrs. Bull far from being the victim of any criminal scheme, figures simply as a "bad loser" in a purely business way.

When Mr. McIntyre confronted her with papers and letters that smoked her, she threw the documents at him, immediately after apologizing for her impulsive zeal.

"Dear me!" she remonstrated, "you almost frightened the life out of me. Do I resemble that?"

The amazed Magistrate looked at her at first with glaring eyes. But it was a stage glare out of which he couldn't keep the twinkle.

"Er—did I, madam?" he asked with elaborate contriteness. "I'm sorry."

Mrs. Bull settled back in her chair for a brief instant of serenity.

"Very well," she said in acknowledgment of the court's apology.

In regard to the case itself, it was found after the rattle and bang of fiery questions and sharp retorts of the cross-examination were over that Mrs. Bull insisted that Qualey and Corbett had victimized her out of the $85,000. She didn't have much to say about Corbett. But Qualey, she said, she had met through the introduction of Mrs. Ellen Dunlop Hopkins of the School of Applied Design in Fifth avenue.

Mrs. Hopkins Praised Qualey.

Mrs. Bull said Mrs. Hopkins was the most brilliant woman she has ever met. Therefore, Mrs. Hopkins's introduction of Qualey to her had placed Qualey in a peculiarly advantageous position when it came to influencing her to make investments. Mrs. Hopkins lauded Qualey's business schemes. She told Mrs. Bull—according to the witness—that she expected in two years to become so rich herself through Qualey that she would be able to throw money out of her carriage windows. And Qualey, said Mrs. Bull, had assured her as he walked away with her $90,000 check in his vest pocket that in eighteen months she would get $200,000 as a return for the money she had yielded.

But the rocky road to fruition was as a rule of roses compared to that which the widow had to travel before she could deliver this message to the Court.

Qualey, sitting on a sofa in the Magistrate's private room, where the hearing was held, was at one end of the green table and Mrs. Bull at the other. He kept his gray eyes on her quizzically all the time.

Defendants Are Alert.

A long, lean man, with a long, lean, closely shaven countenance, a tight mouth, a high forehead, a big nose and scant, blond hair is Qualey. The same description largely fits Corbett, save that his hair is longer, wavier, behind the lines of his face softer; the eyes behind his big, round spectacles more dreamy than keen. Both men had spritsed up greatly because of their night at home, after days in jail. They looked fresh and alert. Corbett's small, dapper wife was on hand, dressed in a gray tweed tailor-made gown, a neat little hat, gray gloves and carrying a yellow backed French novel tucked under her arm. Her eyes were brightly observant behind her rimless glasses and at times when Mrs. Bull was displaying excitement Corbett's little wife strolled the larger, rosier dressed woman with a politely repressed, tolerant half-smile.

Police Chief Is Her Squire.

The stout, black-haired, blue-eyed widow with the girlish features and complexion was attired as the day before in a soft, Summer black silk traveling gown with a large black straw hat. The sleeves of her coat were edged with white Irish lace half covering her remarkably pretty, small white hands. On one glittered a diamond and the other displayed an emerald of remarkable size.

She was armed with her fan. Opened, it displayed the picture of a Summer man tipping his hat to a pink-frocked girl in a motor boat. Mrs. Bull had arrived accompanied by the bald-headed, sunburned attentive chief of police of Newport, where she has her villa. He handed her out of her motor car and escorted her to the private room where Magistrate Krotel had ordered the hearing to be held.

Settling in her chair and applying her fan, Mrs. Bull whispered to a Newport official, who went out and returned shortly with a big bottle of ice cold mineral water and a glass. Mrs. Bull sipped the water and eyed Mr. McIntyre with a challenge. The lawyer arose with a bow and began to question her, and from that instant on both he and the widow wore red faces.

"Did you sign this consent in the proceedings in equity?" he asked.

"I suppose so."

Lauterbach Told Her to.

"Did you know what was in it when you signed it?"

"Mr. Lauterbach told me to sign it and I knew" he said so it was all right."

"Do you know that in this complaint you admit that Mr. Qualey applied some of the money you gave him to the improvement of the plants of the company in which you had invested?"

"I object," cried Lawyer Craig on behalf of the widow, "this action in equity seeks to trace all the money—not merely the little part of it that may have been used on the property of this company."

"Did you get your information from any particular source in starting this action?"

"Yes, indeed, I got it," said Mrs. Bull, with a slap of her fan.

"From whom?"

"My son, James G. Blaine 3d. He investigated the character of Mr. Qualey."

Mrs. Bull admitted she had consulted with Qualey after she had come to know him through Mrs. Hopkins regarding a building proposition he thought would net her about $35,000. Then Mr. McIntyre started the shrewdness.

"As a matter of fact you had known Qualey a long time before you met him through Mrs. Hopkins, when you were children together? naively suggested McIntyre.

Age Question Arouses Ire.

Down came Mrs. Bull's fan with a slam.

"Me? Me? When we were children together? Why the idea! It is preposterous. Qualey is as old as my brother Joseph—every day as old—and Joseph is fifteen years older than I am!"

"Qualey is forty-two—only forty-two—"

"He doesn't look it," snapped the widow.

"And do you mean to say," demanded Mr. McIntyre, "you are fifteen years younger than he is?"

"Well, I don't care what he says. I only know that—the widow pounded her fan on the table—'I was just a little girl when he was grown up, and I never knew him anyway, though I know his brother Joseph, and I'd heard that he was a bright man.'

"Now, didn't you ask him to advise you in your business matters on the grounds of old friendship?"

"No—no—no," indignantly responded the widow, her face greatly flushed.

Mr. McIntyre did a little pounding of the table at this juncture.

Shows Her Husband's Will.

"Didn't you in the course of seeking Mr. Qualey's advice mail him this will of your husband's to show what property you had?"

He held forth a large envelope with a deep black border. Mrs. Bull gasped as he leaned forward and placed it in her hands.

"And do you mean to say that you've kept that—my husband's will—have kept it?"

"Most certainly we have kept it," replied the lawyer with a grin.

"Mr. McIntyre," cried the widow, "you are a worse man than I thought you were."

The next instant Mr. McIntyre gave a backward jump. By this strategy he avoided being struck on the nose by the document. For the widow had flung it at his head.

"I am not in the habit of having things thrown at me, madam," remonstrated the lawyer.

"Oh, I beg your pardon. I'm so sorry. I really did not mean that. Mr. McIntyre," explained Mrs. Bull, starting a soothing treatment of cool breezes on her flushed cheeks with her fan. Her lawyer, Mr. Craig, and Magistrate Krotel were staring at each other trying to forget that they knew how to grin, all through the hearing.

Even Chides the Court.

She tore legal conventionalities to tatters in her testimony, argued with her lawyers on questions that came up, and even chided Magistrate Krotel when he cut off cross-examination by her on the reservation of legal evidence, he thumped his gavel with sudden emphasis.

"Dear me!" she remonstrated, "you almost frightened the life out of me. Do I resemble that?"

The amazed Magistrate looked at her at first with glaring eyes. But it was a stage glare out of which he couldn't keep the twinkle.

"Er—did I, madam?" he asked with elaborate contriteness. "I'm sorry."

Mrs. Bull settled back in her chair for a brief instant of serenity.

"Very well," she said in acknowledgment of the court's apology.

In regard to the case itself, it was found after the rattle and bang of fiery questions and sharp retorts of the cross-examination were over that Mrs. Bull insisted that Qualey and Corbett had victimized her out of the $85,000. She didn't have much to say about Corbett. But Qualey, she said, she had met through the introduction of Mrs. Ellen Dunlop Hopkins of the School of Applied Design in Fifth avenue.

Mrs. Hopkins Praised Qualey.

Mrs. Bull said Mrs. Hopkins was the most brilliant woman she has ever met. Therefore, Mrs. Hopkins's introduction of Qualey to her had placed Qualey in a peculiarly advantageous position when it came to influencing her to make investments. Mrs. Hopkins lauded Qualey's business schemes. She told Mrs. Bull—according to the witness—that she expected in two years to become so rich herself through Qualey that she would be able to throw money out of her carriage windows. And Qualey, said Mrs. Bull, had assured her as he walked away with her $90,000 check in his vest pocket that in eighteen months she would get $200,000 as a return for the money she had yielded.

But the rocky road to fruition was as a rule of roses compared to that which the widow had to travel before she could deliver this message to the Court.

Qualey, sitting on a sofa in the Magistrate's private room, where the hearing was held, was at one end of the green table and Mrs. Bull at the other. He kept his gray eyes on her quizzically all the time.

Defendants Are Alert.

A long, lean man, with a long, lean, closely shaven countenance, a tight mouth, a high forehead, a big nose and scant, blond hair is Qualey. The same description largely fits Corbett, save that his hair is longer, wavier, behind the lines of his face softer; the eyes behind his big, round spectacles more dreamy than keen. Both men had sprtsed up greatly because of their night at home, after days in jail. They looked fresh and alert. Corbett's small, dapper wife was on hand, dressed in a gray tweed tailor-made gown, a neat little hat, gray gloves and carrying a yellow backed French novel tucked under her arm. Her eyes were brightly observant behind her rimless glasses and at times when Mrs. Bull was displaying excitement Corbett's little wife strolled the larger, rosier dressed woman with a politely repressed, tolerant half-smile.

Police Chief Is Her Squire.

The stout, black-haired, blue-eyed widow with the girlish features and complexion was attired as the day before in a soft, Summer black silk traveling gown with a large black straw hat. The sleeves of her coat were edged with white Irish lace half covering her remarkably pretty, small white hands. On one glittered a diamond and the other displayed an emerald of remarkable size.

She was armed with her fan. Opened, it displayed the picture of a Summer man tipping his hat to a pink-frocked girl in a motor boat. Mrs. Bull had arrived accompanied by the bald-headed, sunburned attentive chief of police of Newport, where she has her villa. He handed her out of her motor car and escorted her to the private room where Magistrate Krotel had ordered the hearing to be held.

Settling in her chair and applying her fan, Mrs. Bull whispered to a Newport official, who went out and returned shortly with a big bottle of ice cold mineral water and a glass. Mrs. Bull sipped the water and eyed Mr. McIntyre with a challenge. The lawyer arose with a bow and began to question her, and from that instant on both he and the widow wore red faces.

"Did you sign this consent in the proceedings in equity?" he asked.

"I suppose so."

Lauterbach Told Her to.

"Did you know what was in it when you signed it?"

"Mr. Lauterbach told me to sign it and I knew" he said so it was all right."

"Do you know that in this complaint you admit that Mr. Qualey applied some of the money you gave him to the improvement of the plants of the company in which you had invested?"

"I object," cried Lawyer Craig on behalf of the widow, "this action in equity seeks to trace all the money—not merely the little part of it that may have been used on the property of this company."

"Did you get your information from any particular source in starting this action?"

"Yes, indeed, I got it," said Mrs. Bull, with a slap of her fan.

"From whom?"

"My son, James G. Blaine 3d. He investigated the character of Mr. Qualey."

Mrs. Bull admitted she had consulted with Qualey after she had come to know him through Mrs. Hopkins regarding a building proposition he thought would net her about $35,000. Then Mr. McIntyre started the shrewdness.

"As a matter of fact you had known Qualey a long time before you met him through Mrs. Hopkins, when you were children together? naively suggested McIntyre.

Age Question Arouses Ire.

Down came Mrs. Bull's fan with a slam.

"Me? Me? When we were children together? Why the idea! It is preposterous. Qualey is as old as my brother Joseph—every day as old—and Joseph is fifteen years older than I am!"

"Qualey is forty-two—only forty-two—"

"He doesn't look it," snapped the widow.

"DRYS" SURE THEY'LL WIN IN TENNESSEE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 5.—That former Governor Patterson will be eliminated as a political power, and that the prohibition forces will be in control of the state at the next election was the declaration made to-day by the leaders of the independent forces following their victory at the primaries yesterday.

They assert that the result was a stern rebuke to the Governor for his action in the Cartmack-Cooper case. It was Patterson, who, after the court had sustained Duncan B. Cooper to prison for seven years, pardoned him. Charges must be attempted to cover the Supreme Court played a leading part in the fight and made political contests ever known in the state. Following are the successful tickets:

Judges of the Supreme Court, Eastern district, John K. Shields; Middle division, D. L. Lansden; Middle, M. N. Nelson at large, W. D. Beard, Grafton Green.

Judges Court of Civil Appeals—Eastern division, H. V. Hughes; Middle division, Joseph E. Higgins, S. F. Wilson. State at large, Frank P. Hall, John M. Taylor.

Governor Patterson entered the lists for the regular ticket and stumped the State for it. His enemies lined up solidly with the independents. Governor Patterson is the candidate for re-election, but six foes declared to-day that he could not be elected.

* * *

It isn't what you pay for advertising; it's what advertising pays you. Advertising that pays is the only cheap advertising; advertising that doesn't pay is dear at any price. Advertising in the AMERICAN pays best, therefore it is the cheapest.

MERRY WIDOW MAIDS TO WIN TAFT PRAISES

A petticoat invasion of the Summer White House at Beverly is threatened, headed by Miss Mabel Willer.

Miss Willer is daughter-in-law of Police Chief Corey of Brookline. Also she is leading woman in "The Merry Widow," which comes to the Majestic Theatre Monday.

Miss Wilber and a number of the Maxim Girls in the company are extremely anxious to see the President. They wish to pay their girlish respects to the National Executive on his first place. In the next place, they wish to remove from his mind what they suspect is a Presidential prejudice against musical comedies and operettas.

Naturally they feel sure that, if the President once sees them, he will be deeply impressed with the merits of the musical stage, as represented by these fair exponents of it.

So Miss Wilber has written to President Taft, requesting the privilege of a visit to him at Beverly next week.

In her letter Miss Wilber naively writes that she firmly believes that such prejudices against the musical stage as the President may have are caused by lack of acquaintance with the many gentle minded members of the profession.

If the President grants them permission to call, the girls will be as serious as deacons.

It is hinted that if the desired permission is not forthcoming the girls may descend on Burgess Point on their own responsibility and take a chance of meeting the secret service blockade. Maybe they will all get "pinched."

The girls are anxiously awaiting the Presidential reply, with hopes of a date from the pleasing affability lilted fund of $75, out of which the island authorities added $575. Three hundred received their money yesterday. Each got $48.

GIRL WHO MAY LEAD INVASION OF SUMMER CAPITOL

616 BLIND PERSONS RECEIVE $48 EACH

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Three hundred deserving persons were paid off to-day by the municipality lilted fund of $75, out of which the island authorities added $575. Three hundred received their money yesterday. Each got $48.

BOSTON BRIDE IN CALIFORNIA ELOPEMENT

Dispatches from Los Angeles, Cal., say that Miss Agnes Dorr Summers of Boston, a wealthy visitor at Catalina Island, eloped with Frank Leslie Mein, a business man of Pasadena, and went to Los Angeles where there were married by Father Hudnett at the Cathedral.

Mein had been spending a couple of weeks at the island and met Miss Summers a week ago for the first time. Their infatuation caused a sensation in the Summer colony there. It was so spontaneous. At the Cathedral their ages were given as eighteen for the bride and twenty-seven for the groom.

Mein is interested extensively in mining, and is wealthy. Father Hudnett said he was not surprised to learn that the wedding was an elopement, as "the young people were in a tremendous hurry to have the knot tied." They had brought no witnesses and it was necessary to call in two servants from the priest's house to act.

According to the dispatches, the bride is known at Catalina Island as a relative of the Montgomery Summers of this city. Her name does not appear in the Boston directory.

HOBBLE SKIRT CAUSE OF WOMAN'S INJURY

NEWPORT, Aug. 5.—Mrs. E. Van Cortlandt of New York, while alighting from an electric runabout in front of the Casino, tripped and fell to the pavement, bruising her hands and face and cutting her lips slightly. Her foot caught on the steps and as she was wearing a hobble skirt, she was unable to save herself.

It was quality—the delicious flavor—of Kellogg's, the genuine Toasted Corn Flakes, that made it the greatest cereal success ever known.

It was this wonderful success that encouraged the many imitators.

But Kellogg's is still the quality Corn Flakes—it is the original—none of the imitations has even approached it in general goodness.

Kellogg's is the kind with the flavor—made only from selected white corn.

Protect yourself against worthless substitutes by looking for the signature of "W. K. Kellogg" on the package.

BALLOON ENDS 6-STATE TRIP

DANBURY, N. H., Aug. 5.—Ending a balloon flight of 350 miles, the longest ever made from Philadelphia, Dr. Thomas Edwin Eldridge and a companion landed here after having been in the air 11 hours and being in six states. At one time they reached a height of 15,100 feet.

Dr. Eldridge, who is Welch Strawbridge a prominent polo player and society man, ascended from Philadelphia amid intense darkness. They saw no light until seven hours later. Four hours later still they descended here, thirty miles north of Concord, during a severe thunderstorm, on the farm of Joseph R. Maxfield, two and a half miles north of Danbury Centre.

The balloonists made their flight in the Philadelphia 24, owned by the Philadelphia Recreation Society, of which Dr. Eldridge is president. This balloon has a capacity of 50,000 cubic feet.

SEVEN DEAD IN LODGING FIRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Seven persons, two of them women, were suffocated to death, two were fatally hurt and 10 others were injured seriously early today when an incendiary fire destroyed a lodging house at No. 100 Rockaway road, Jamaica, who was fatally hurt while attempting to save others, the loss of life would have been greater. This was Stefan Marzonowski, was awakened by the barking of a dog.

"The AMERICAN has the evening home' field in Boston exclusively."—Advertisers' Magazine.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS

ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

Some English speculators have the theory that stocks bought at present sale from financial ills will be sold out later on to busted liars.

$ $ $

Some London newspapers are admitting for the first time in years that the United States dwelling or current debt to Europe is very small.

$ $ $

Professional Stock Street figures that stocks of railroads serving the Northwest have already declined enough to discount crop damage from that section.

$ $ $

Northern Pacific will be cut by the St. Paul extension, and all of those roads are suffering for lack of new capital. There is no truth in the report that the Kennedy estate has been liquidating Northern Pacific recently.

$ $ $

The bears have sought to create the impression that if the United States does not continue as a large exporter of wheat the international trade balance will remain largely against us. They do not take into consideration that the foreigner manufactured goods the people abroad are taking.

$ $ $

Liquidation of a block of Canadian Pacific is said to be a possibility of the near future. Although the Canadian Pacific territory has a short crop this year, the stability of the security cannot be questioned, and if there is any decline it will be only temporary.

$ $ $

Taking into consideration all the phases of the political battle now being waged in all sections of the United States the best interests of New York are those concerning in keeping the market on an even keel than to fostering a bull boom that will lift prices much higher.

$ $ $

While there is comparative disorganization in the iron trade, it is indicated pessistently that the copper industry is progressing fowrad harmony and self-reliance, thanks to the aseptic endeavors of the Guggenheims, who are again reported to have put through a proposition whereby the American companies will curtail their output by 12 per cent. The company will be under cover for a time, possibly for a year, to avert possible legal unpleasantness.

$ $ $

It is probable there will not be much demand for export. This country produced but about 20 per cent. of the world's wheat, while 10 per cent of cotton is 50 per cent. of what is raised on the globe, of this about 75 per cent. is sent abroad. The foreigners will find a hole confronting the $425,000,000 worth of our cotton this year, they cannot have it, as they raise little themselves.

$ $ $

Some maintain that all there is to the market at the moment is the squeezing of the shorts. They run every year and then, it is true, but there is no evidence that they are now willing to confess by borrowing demand for stocks still keeping up, believing that the bears are bound still in possession of a rather steady nerve.

$ $ $

Of unusual importance is the production of gold this year. The high cost of living is involved in the question. Estimates of gold output for the year 1910 for the first half of 1910 show that it will exceed the same period in 1909. Africa and India are mining more, Canada and the United States are yielding more profusely, while in eastern Europe and Mexico production is well abreast of 1909.

$ $ $

It was reported in banking circles that the large transfer of stock the other day was made by an operator of Reading to John D. Rockefeller, who is said to have taken over privately 80,000 shares from the member of the stock exchange who had been rather hard pressed on his loan. The terms were not stated.

$ $ $

That more than one wealthy man is carrying stocks taken at much higher prices undoubtedly is so, but the fact is there is no necessity a menace to the stock market on the whole. People cannot eat, wear or lunch there are banking and other interests in the State willing to confer the relief after business hours. In such cases the attention is relieved, matters are straightened and the market is all the better for the trade made.

$ $ $

It is stated that the common dividend of Norfolk & Western will be placed on 6 per cent. basis at either the October or January meeting of the board. The conditions in the business and railway world make an unexpectedly unfavorable outlook in the meantime. In the fiscal year, June 30, the surplus applicable to common stock was 10.8 per cent.

BOSTON CURB

Following is the range of prices to noon for leading Curb stocks:

QUALIFIED LIST.

Stocks.	High.	Low.	Noon.
Alaska	17¾	17½	17½
Amal. Sec	90¾	88¾	89¾
Amer. Zinc	6¾	6¾	6¾
Bohemia	4¾	4½	4½
Cactus	4¾	4¾	4¾
Calif. Oil	17 7-16	17 1-16	17 1-16
Calif. Standard	13 3-16	13 1-16	13 1-16
Cobalt Contact	5¾	5¾	5¾
Cobalt Contact	5¾	5¾	5¾
Cobalt Comb.	10¾	10¾	10¾
First National	3¾	3¾	3¾
Gold Hill	2¾	2¾	2¾
Granby	88¾	88¾	88¾
Hedley	4	4	4
Majestic	55¾	55¾	55¾
Man. Coal	28¾	28¾	28¾
Raven	16¾	17¾	17¾
Texas Central	5¾	5¾	5¾
South Lake	5¾	5¾	5¾
Yellow Metal	9¾	9¾	9¾

UNQUALIFIED LIST.

Arizona	85¾	85¾	85¾
Bonanza	1¾	1¾	1¾
Cactus Deal	1¾	1¾	1¾
Calumet Corbin	55¾	56¾	55¾
Cananea	5¾	5¾	5¾
Chino	12	12	12
Consol Central	1¾	1¾	1¾
Maraline	33¾	33¾	33¾
National Explo	1¾	1¾	1¾
Onesa	1¾	1¾	1¾
Rawhide Mining	8¾	8¾	8¾
Yuma	29¾	29¾	29¾

STOCKS STEADY; TRADING QUIET

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—For the first time this week the stock market in Wall street opened firm and quiet today. There were small fractional advances along the line and a general feeling of confidence prevailed.

While Amalgamated Copper opened off ¼ of a point, it rapidly recovered and finally advanced ¼ on the day. Chesapeake & Ohio also opened at a slight decline, but afterward rose to an advance of ⅝ of a point. Union Pacific advanced ¾, and its lead was followed by fractional gains in Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Atchison, Reading and the Hawley stocks. All the railroad issues showed strength.

Steel common opened strong, but later fell off from a small part of its gain.

American stocks in London showed slight advances.

The cotton market was somewhat feverish and irregular, but gained steadiness soon after the opening.

The curb market opened active but irregular.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Following is the range of prices for the leading New York stocks:

RAILROADS.

	High.	Low.	Noon.
Atch., T. & S. F.	102¾	102¾	102¾
Balt. & Ohio	109¾	109¾	109¾
Brooklyn Rap. Tr.	75¾	75¾	75¾
Canadian Pacific	185¾	185¾	185¾
Ches. & Ohio	65¾	65¾	65¾
Chi., R. I. & Pac.	22¾	22¾	22¾
Chi., R. I. & Pac. pf.	44¾	44¾	44¾
Chi., M. & St. P.	142	142	142
Del. & Hudson	175¾	175¾	175¾
Del., L. & W.	478	478	478
Erie	28¾	28¾	28¾
Erie 1st pf.	44¾	44¾	44¾
Gt. Northern pf.	123½	122¾	123¾
Gt. Northern Ore	46¾	46¾	46¾
Int. Met. pf.	46	46	46
Louis. & Nash.	158	158	158
Mo., Kan. & Tex.	31¾	31	31¾
Missouri Pacific	50¾	50¾	50¾
N. Y. C. & Hud.	111¾	110¾	111¾
N. Y., Ont. & West	39¾	39¾	39¾
N. & W.	96	95¾	96
Northern Pacific	114	113¾	114
Pennsylvania	125¾	125¾	125¾
Reading	158¾	157¾	158¾
Rock Island	30	29¾	29¾
Rock Island pf.	62¾	62	62¾
Southern Pacific	113¾	110¾	111¾
Southern Ry.	26¾	25¾	25¾
Southern Ry. pf.	55¾	55¾	55¾
Union Pacific	163¾	161	161¾
Union Pac. pf.	91	91	91
Wabash	10¾	10¾	10¾
Wabash pf.	24¾	24¾	24¾
Wisconsin Cen.	43	42¾	43

INDUSTRIALS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Amal. Copper	65¾	64¾	65¾
Am. Ag. Chem.	43	43	43
Am. Ag. Chem. pf.	85¾	85¾	85¾
Am. Cotton Oil	55¾	55¾	55¾
Am. Beet Sug.	29¾	29¾	29¾
Am. Ice Secur.	18¾	18¾	18¾
Am. Linseed	25¾	25¾	25¾
Amer. Sm. & R.	65¾	65¾	67
Am. Sug. Ref.	117	116¾	116¾
Anaconda Cop.	38¾	38¾	38¾
Am. Can. Fdry. & Iron	28¾	28¾	28¾
Con. Gas (N. Y.)	128	127	128
Consolidated Leather	33¾	33¾	33¾
Int. Pump.	38¾	38¾	38¾
National Lead	93¾	93¾	93¾
Northern Ore	53	53	53¾
People's Gas	104¾	104¾	104¾
Press. Steel Car.	32	32	32
Pressed Steel	105	105	105
Rep. I. & Steel.	30	29¾	30
Rep. I. & Steel pf.	93¾	93¾	93¾
U. S. Rubber 1st pf.	104¾	104¾	104¾
U. S. Steel	97¾	97¾	97¾
U. S. Steel pf.	114¾	114¾	114¾
Unit. Copper	44¾	44¾	44¾
Va.-Car. Chem.	64	64	64
Va.-Car. Chem.	57¾	57¾	57¾

*Ex-dividend.

BOSTON STOCKS.

Following is the range of prices for the leading Boston stocks to-day:

RAILROADS.

	High.	Low.	Noon.
Chi., June. & So. Y.	140	140	140
N. Y., N. H. & Hfd.	152	152	152

LAND COMPANIES.

East Boston	8¾	8¾	8¾

TELEPHONES.

American	132	131¾	132

MINING STOCKS.

Arizona Commercial	14¾	14¾	14¾
Calumet & Arizona	52	51	52
Calumet & Hecla	525	525	525
Copper Range	62	62	62
Daly-West	7	7	7
Elm River	35	35	35
Franklin	11	10¾	11
Granby	31¾	31¾	31¾
Mexico Con.	48	48	48
North Butte	25	24½	25
Old Colony	41	41	41
Tamarack	52	52	52
Trinity	13¾	13¾	13¾
Utah Con.	23¾	23¾	23¾
Winona	8	8	8
Wyandotte	1¾	1¾	1¾

MISCELLANEOUS.

American Pneumatic	5¾	5¾	5¾
Am. Pneumatic pf.	16¾	16¾	16¾
United Shoe Mach.	51	50	51

UNLISTED SECURITIES.

Amalgamated	65¾	62	65¾
Lake Copper	37½	36½	37½
Smelting & Pittsburg	71¾	70½	71¾
U. S. Coal & Oil	24	24	24
U. S. Smelting	57	57	57
U. S. Smelting pf.	47½	47½	47½
Hedley	4¾	4¾	4¾
East Butte	17¾	17¾	17¾
Kerr Lake Co.	7¾	7¾	7¾
Keweenaw	5	5	5
Superior	19¾	19¾	19¾
Superior Boston	8¾	8¾	8¾

CITY DRIVER HURT TO AUTO RAMS WAGON

BEVERLY, Aug. 5.—Thomas Shennell, sixty, an employee of the city street department, is dying to-day from injuries received when he was thrown from his wagon in a collision with an automobile. Shennell was driving along Chase street when the auto of J. F. Davy, driven by J. J. Molloy turned into the street from Cabot street and came into collision with his wagon. Shennell was hurled to the ground and under the auto.

THE TWELVE MISTAKES OF LIFE

Read what not to do if you would make your time on this earth a success to yourself and friends in next Sunday's

BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

THEY CAUGHT STAMP GIRLS

Here are the winners of the prizes at the Merchants' Green Stamp Picnic, which was held under the auspices of the Sperry & Hutchinson Co. at Wonderland Park today. The prize-winners had to identify mysterious green stamp girls during the picnic. The competition was brisk and the race for the prizes added a whole lot to the enjoyment of a splendid day's diversion. The winners follow:

Edward J. Miller, No. 316 Washington street, Lynn; Samuel Avafe, No. 24 Shirley avenue, Winthrop; Mr. W. S. Marshall, Whitinsville, Mass.; Mrs. H. E. Joy, No. 28 Greenwood street, Dorchester; Mrs. F. G. Davis, No. 121 Locust street, Winthrop; Mrs. Alice Conners, No. 13 Carpenter street, South Boston; Mrs. E. F. Hooker, No. 17 Longwood street, Roxbury; Joseph Teeran, No. 690 Beech street, Roslindale; Mrs. R. D. Radford, No. 276 Mountain avenue, Revere; W. R. Deane, No. 24 Revere street, Revere; Mrs. Mary Purdoe, No. 9 Linden street, Revere; O. E. Fay, No. 7 Linden street, Allston; H. Cohen, No. 80 Malden street, Everett; Mrs. H. B. Rogers, No. 34 Winchester street, Medford; Mrs. James Letts, No. 77 Tinson street, Lynn; John D. Mandville, No. 547 Harrison avenue, Boston; Mrs. W. F. Burrill, No. 40 Longwood street, Dorchester; Mrs. F. Whiteley, No. 4 Minton street, South Boston; Mrs. Thomas McNulty, No. 1 Hadley street, No. Cambridge; Mrs. F. E. Dodge, No. 168 Euclid avenue, East Lynn; Miss Jennie Fyfe, No. 105 Federal avenue, Quincy; Mrs. H. Robinson, No. 118 Pearl street, Cambridge; Edward Kelley, No. 48 Revere street, Revere; Ethel Balfour, No. 65 Eastern avenue, Revere.

ORPHANS BAND HERE TO RAISE $5,000

The Jenkins Orphan Brass Band and Jubilee Concert Company of twenty-four from Charleston, S. C., is in Boston for the purpose of raising $5,000 for the Jenkins Orphanage and Reform Industrial Home. These organizations, conducted for 538 poor orphan and destitute children in the Orphanage and School, are sent out each Summer to sing and play for their funds. The Rev. D. J. Jenkins, president and founder, accompanies them. The children will appear at many of the churches during their two weeks' stay in Boston. They will be at St. Stephen Baptist Church, Howard and Windsor streets, Cambridge, Sunday night, and under the "Pall of Smoke," "The Holy City" and other selections.

HONK! HONK! HONK! "AIN'T YOU SORRY?"

GLENVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 5.—William Beckman, the town constable, known as "Cold Sleath," and the first constable to shoot up the town to stop speeding autoists, is in the Tarrytown Hospital. An electric wire had been damaging a tree in his yard. He had cut down the tree. The limb he saw cut into a live wire and the shock threw him to the ground, thirty feet below.

TRAINS KILL 1,100 IN THREE MONTHS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—During the months of January, February and March 1,100 persons were killed and 21,232 injured on steam railroads in the United States, an increase of 406 killed and 6,110 injured over last year's same period, according to a statement issued to-day by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Electric railroads killed 19 and injured 969 persons.

MAN DIES AFTER AUTO HITS A SKUNK

GREENWICH, Ct., Aug. 5.—Jens Peterson, in his auto, ran down a skunk in the road near here and found it advisable to hurry his machine to a garage to be cleaned. During the process the animal caught fire from the gasoline and Peterson in trying to put it out was burned, dying in the hospital a short time later.

TAFT TO WEED OUT AGED EMPLOYES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—It is the President's intention to have the Government's business conducted in a coldly scientific manner. Mercy and considerations which have been shown to those who have grown aged in the service of the Government, are to be done away with by the new domestic workings of a system. The man may fall on any clerk deemed inefficient or too old to work.

Rice & Hutchins SHOES

We must reduce our stock of Men's and Women's Low Cut Shoes, made by Rice & Hutchins, to make room for the fall stock.

All Women's Patent Colt Dull Calf, Russia Calf and Black Kid Oxfords. Pumps and Ties ..... All America $3.50 and $4.00 2.65

All Women's Patent Colt, Dull Calf, Russia Calf and Black Kid Mayfair $3.00 Oxfords and Pumps ..... All America $3.50 and $4 Oxfords 2.35

Women's White Canvas, Red Rubber Sole $2.00 Tennis Oxfords 1.15

Men's Patent Colt Dull Calf, Russia Calf and Black Kid Button and Lace Oxfords ..... All America $3.50 and $4 2.85

Men's Dull Calf, Russia Calf and Black Kid Blucher Cut Oxfords ..... All America $3.50 and $4 2.95

Men's Russia Calf, Red Rubber Sole $2.50 and $3.00 Tennis Oxfords 2.65

Tremont Street Store Only!

Odd Lot of Women's Patent Colt, Dull Calf and Russia Calf $2.00 and $2.50 Oxfords and Pumps, small sizes, narrow widths 1.95

Odd Lot of Men's Patent Colt, Dull Calf and Russia Calf $2.50 and $3.00 Blucher Oxfords, sizes 5, 5½, 6, 6½, 9½ and 10 ..... 1.95

Special Values in Misses' and Children's Oxfords. Former prices $1.50 to $2.00, now 95c

NOTICE! Tremont Street Store Only!

All America Shoe Shops

79-81 TREMONT ST. Tremont Bldg. 66 SUMMER ST. Cor. Otis St.

Most people do not sleep well on most trains

Everyone sleeps on trains via the New York Central Lines because the route is water level.

A daylight ride through the Berkshire Hills. A night's sleep while your train is running through the Mohawk Valley and along the shores of the Great Lakes. The route is "Water Level"—you can sleep.

Lv. Boston 1.00 p. m. — 20th Century Limited. Fastest long-distance train in the world; arriving Chicago 8.30 next morning.

Lv. Boston 11.30 a. m. — for Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Toledo, Elkhart, South Bend and Chicago.

Lv. Boston 2.00 p. m. — for Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis Detroit and Chicago.

Lv. Boston 4.50 p. m. — for Buffalo, St. Thomas, Detroit, Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Cleveland, Toledo and Chicago.

From Trinity Place Four Minutes Later.

Stop-overs at important scenic and business points without extra charge

Tickets and Sleeping-Car Accommodations Railroad and Pullman tickets can be secured at City Ticket Office, 366 Washington St., Phone 2140 Fort Hill; at Trinity Place Station, Phone Oxford 1026; at Newtonville Station, Phone Newton North 70, or they will be delivered upon request, by special representative, who will furnish any information desired.

NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES "For the Public Service"

Put Your Real Estate Ads IN THE Sunday American

The result will be quick and effective because they reach a greater number of readers at a small cost than can be had in any other way.

Copy Should Be "In" Early Today

PHONE "MAIN 5180"

80-82 Summer Street 264 Washington Street

New York Curb AND Boston Coppers

Unexcelled facilities for executing commission orders. Private wires between Boston and New York. Instantaneous service. Lowest commission rates.

B. H. Scheftels & Co. ESTABLISHED 1902

52-54 Devonshire St., Boston 44 Broad Street, New York

Tours and Travels.

THE COLONIAL LINE Only Fly Class Independent Line

2.65 BOSTON TO NEW YORK

Via Express, Fast and Elegant Steamships "Concord" & "Lexington" Daily P. M. from Boston connecting with steamers at Providence at 7 P. M. week days. Sundays 8 P. M.

Tickets Office, 234 Washington St., Boston. Phone Fort Hill 2785.

Theatres.

MAJESTIC DAILY 25c MAT. Evenings 8.30—Matinees 2.00

LAST WEEK CHARLOTTE HUNT STOCK CO. CARMEN

Beginning Next Monday AT A SUMMER SEASON PRICES

HENRY W. SAVAGE OFFERS THE WORLD'S FAMOUS OPERETTA

THE MERRY WIDOW SEATS NOW PRICES 25c to $1.50

COLONIAL THEATRE Chas. Dyllman & Wm. Harris, Lessees and Mgrs. Twilight at 7. Mats. Wed., Sat. at 2

REALLY WORTH WHILE SEEING

You will Never Know What Your Voice Is Until You Unconsciously Find Yourself Humming Its Irresistible Melodies

It Will Be Cool Tonight DON'T MISS SEEING THE GREATEST WESTERN MUSICAL COMEDY EVER WRITTEN

THREE MILLION DOLLARS

KEITH'S STILL LAUGHING FRANK LALOR BACK TO EARTH

Kelly and Kent, Kramer, Noody and Hill, Felix Adler, Misses Turner, Edwards, Murray and Mack, Mazarin, Walker and Sipon Monday at 2 and 7.45

AMERICAN MUSIC HALL Daily Mats. & Eves., 50c, 25c, 10c LINDSAY MORISON STOCK CO. SECOND WEEK "Bingville Bugle" Next Week—Clyde Fitch's "Girl's Million." First Appearance Eleanor Gordon

AUSTIN & STONE'S MUSEUM Venetian Gondoliers Famous Gondolier Entertainers, trained seals, sea lions. For ladies and children. 10c Motion Pictures.

BOWDOIN SQ. THEATRE 10c All Feature Vaudeville and Picturing till 10.30 Moving Pictures Continuous

GLOBE PICTURES VAUDEVILLE 10¢ 10 TO 11

Amusements.

See "The Pilgrims' First Landing Place"

Provincetown AND RETURN

Cape Cod

STEAMSHIP & RAILWAY Leaves Bay Line Wharf, 400 Atlantic Ave., 9.30 (foot south of Rowe's wharf) daily (except Sunday) for Provincetown. Sundays 9.00 A.M. Leave Provincetown 4.30 P.M. Arrive Boston 9.00 P.M. Sundays excepted. Tickets at Bay Line Wharf, 306 Washington St., Room 310, Tel. Telephone 1251 Fort Hill, and at principal hotels. S. A. MOODY, Gen. Manager.

BASS POINT NAHANT

Band Concerts Shore Dinners Special This Week

Free Exhibition—Loey's Airship

Preparatory to daily flights 10 A.M. to 6 P.M. Special Evening Flights Leave Old Wharf at 8.30. Returning 12.00 A.M. Fare 50c. Return from Bass Point 8.00 & 10.30 P.M. Fare 50c. Via Naha.

GRAND TESTIMONIAL AND BENEFIT TENDERED TO JOHN J. COOGAN

Boston's most popular vaudeville agent, to be held at the AMERICAN MUSIC HALL, Sunday evening, Aug. 7, at 8.30. All Star Vaudeville Show. Tickets $1. Committee Eddie Shack, Patrick McNulty, Joe Callahan. Committee meeting Saturday evening, 8 P.M. Columbia Amusement Co. Office, 71 Boylston St.

FOR THE FISHING GROUNDS DAILY. PILOT

$400.00 IN GOLD PRIZES

Steamer King Philip, Captain Dixon, Leaves Commercial Wharf Daily and Sundays at 9.30 A.M. Return 2.30 P.M. Music aboard. Dancing.

FOLLOW THE CROWD NORUMBEGA PARK

Open Daily at 10 A.M. Vaudeville NEW CONCRETE THEATRE Opera Restaurant. Zoological Gardens. Etc.

GLOUCESTER

Round Trip, Via Central Wharf, Fast State Steamer, Leaving Every Day, 10 A.M. Arrive Gloucester 12.15 P.M. Music Aboard. Leave Gloucester 2.15 P.M. Arrive Boston 4.15 P.M. Music Aboard. E. S. MERCHANT, Mgr. BOSTON & GLOUCESTER S. B. CO.

TROLLEY INFORMATION FREE

209 Washington St. opp. Boston Rooms, Time Tables and General Information. Call, write or telephone Main 6500. New England Street Railway Club

Amusements.

JOY LINE BOSTON VIA RAIL $2.40 AND BOAT TO NEW YORK

New York via Providence and Day, $2.25 Motion Steel Steamships GEORGES and PILGRIM Between Providence and Pier 19, East River, New York. Through Tickets and Baggage Rates. Offices, 192 Washington St., Boston, and 3 South Market st., Providence. Steamers leave Providence 5.30 P.M. Boston 5.00 P.M. NEW MANAGEMENT. IMPROVED SERVICE. Time Table Office, 214 Washington St., Boston.

BASE BALL Tomorrow at 3:15 PITTSBURG CHAMPIONS NATIONAL LEAGUE COLUMBUS AVE. GROUNDS

Tickets on sale at regular prices at Wright & Ditson's, 344 Washington st.; Connelly & Burke's, Adams House; Cadwick, at Young's and Parker's.

FOR THE FISHING GROUNDS

$400.00 IN GOLD PRIZES

The fast steamer Satellite, Capt. Sherman, leaves north side Central wharf daily and Sundays at 10 a. m. Fare $1.00. Lines, bait and chowder free. Boat accommodates 50 ladies. Tel. 1880-2 Rich. Can be chartered for pleasure parties.

BOSTON to NEW YORK $2.25 By Trolley and Boat Special through car issued Post Office Square Daily and Sunday at 3 P. M. Tickets and information at Pass. Dept., O. C. St. Ry. Co., 309 Washington St.

To Providence or Fall River 75c

SKY SAILING DAILY IN THE CAPTIVE BALLOON AT Wonderland

AMERICAN WANT "ADS" BRING QUICK RESULTS

OCEAN AVENUE TO BE CLOSED TO MOTORISTS

By J. C. KERRISON.

The Massachusetts Highway Commission will, in a few days, tackle the problem of closing that part of Ocean avenue, Revere, lying between Beach and Revere streets, a narrow end at the best to ever make the thoroughfare, full of hidden dangers to everyone who uses it. On Saturday, Sunday and holiday afternoons and evenings, the ever-crowded condition of Ocean avenue becomes indescribable. Electric cars, horse-drawn vehicles and motor cars, and thousands of people around the thoroughfare from building is building, and it is way by the most painstaking means on the part of drivers of vehicles of every description that serious injuries are not more often reported in this street than there are at the present time. The selectmen of Revere, mindful of the public welfare and without any malice or objections to the motorists, have passed a rule closing this thoroughfare to motorists at all times. The rule is now in the hands of the Highway Commission, and will be put into effect in due season.

The road runs parallel to the Revere Beach parkway between those two streets, and is never used at any time. The residents regard for his own peace of mind, at any time after 5 o'clock when it is compelled to drive over that short stretch by the electric cars. The heaviest traffic is between the hours of 5 and 11 p. m. on Sundays, Saturdays and holidays, and during those hours the crowd on the beach is the largest, the hotels are forced to their capacity, and this narrow thoroughfare, the road surface of which is fully 40 feet, is jammed and taken up by electric car tracks, it is here that the largest number of people will leave and board the cars, and to drive a motor vehicle there during those hours is something that the average motorist has no great desire to undertake.

It is not believed that there will be a great deal of opposition to the action the board is held. Of course, if this thoroughfare is closed, it means a long detour from the beach road to the parkway, and to the boulevard, or else down through and over the Lynn turnpike. It is believed now, without the ordinance in effect, many motorists prefer to take that detour rather than endure the nerve strain of driving through a block of people, and that is what there is every direction indiscriminately.

The first of the new 1911 model Cadillac cars was received here by the Cadillac Motor Car Company of Boston. The new model is an improvement over that having an increased wheel base, wider rear seats, more roomy tonneau, and a general improved general appearance. The car shows the same high class of workmanship as there being evidence in every detail of the great care and thoroughness exercised by the Cadillac workmen. The engine has been slightly increased in power, more horsepower, although the cylinders are cast separately and measure the same as the motor features throughout.

Manager Alfred Moscure of the Boston company, is mightly well pleased with the Cadillac, and will be right here.

The salesroom of the Whitten-Gilmore Company on Boylston street was a decided jr hurry place yesterday afternoon, as word received the "Chalmers 30" touring car, which shows many improvements in body and design over its sister open car, was expected to arrive in Boston by the noon. The construction and finish of the car is on a par with the other cars that are well established and experienced a firm as the Chalmers. There is no radical change in the mechanical detail, the improvements being all in the nature of refinements.

The Chalmers touring car is to be kept in the salesroom during the week, and commencing Monday will be sent on demonstration trips. Orders for early deliveries in large numbers are already beginning to come in.

Manager Gilmore stated that almost all the deliveries for August have been taken up, and that he is now booking deliveries for September.

Deaths.

MANNING—In Roxbury, Aug. 6, suddenly, Benjamin Manning, 58.

Funeral services at his late residence, 48 Alpine st., on Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited to attend.

ESTABLISHED 1850.

J. S. WATERMAN & SONS

Incorporated

UNDERTAKERS

2326 & 2328 Washington Street

Adjoining Dudley Street Terminal station

Cemetery and Cremation, also Funeral service at Crematory.

Established prices for furnishings and services.

Advice and information given.

Complete arrangements for Burial with or Out of Town services.

Carriages and Automobiles, without charge.

FRANK S. WATERMAN, Pres. and Manager

GEORGE H. WATERMAN, Treasurer

TELEPHONE ROXBURY 79

Nearest Telegraph and Cable address "Undertaker, Boston."

LOST AND FOUND

Stick pins are easy things to work loose, so you no doubt know through experience. Even the little fastener fails to do its duty at times, and through its carelessness or neglect of the owner a valuable has gone astray.

If this should ever occur to you, the Lost and Found column of this paper will surely in four hours at a small expense to help you find it.

LOST—A pocketbook containing money orders and checks of no use to any one else. Also piano tuner's Hand record. Reward. Address Room 20 Union sq., Somerville, Mass.

LOST—If Jack Reed of 307 Talbot av., Dor., will call on the standard at 10 o'clock, he may hear something to his advantage. Inquire for Mr. Hennessey, Standard.

LOST—Near Mt. Mountjoy, S. S., July 24, large male collie, yellow and white, liberal reward. Information will be thankfully received by Mrs. Lincoln, Mass.

FOUND—A purse with small sum of money, owner may have same by calling at 1 Dwight st., Brookline and proving property and paying charges.

LOST—Lady's gold watch in Brookline Reservoir, corner of Walnut st. and Heath st. Reward. KENDALL & CO., Boston.

LOST—In a office corridor, Monday, a sum of money; reward. E. BERRING, 3 Bosworth, Quincy market.

LEAVE Hatboy mill case taken by mistake at North station, 9:15 a. m. Tuesday, with Quincy train. Mag. get $10 for trouble, no questions.

Special Announcements.

FREE BUSINESS CARDS, $1; dinner cards. BRIEF PRESS, 88 Leverett st., Boston.

Information Wanted.

MISSING PERSONS FOUND in all parts of the world. Address Room 308, 170 Boylston, Mass.

Printing.

JOB PRINTING—All kinds; letters, bills, envelopes $1.25 thousand. UNITED PRINTING CO., 39 Green st., Boston, Mass.

Male Help Wanted.

WEAVERS.

HAND and power looms weavers, and spinners and chenille makers wanted for upholstery and drapery fabrications; only experienced weavers, $10 to $21 a week; spinners, $21 a week; hand loom weavers and helpers wanted for power work; permanent production assured.

ROBERTS-HENSHARD CO.,
144, 146, 148 Lincoln st., Boston.
W. BERG & CO.,
51 to 57 Gold st., New York.
EDWARD MAAG,
125 W. 42d st., New York.
C. BILES & CO.,
27 and 29 Bleecker st., New York.
HUGO KLAHRE CO.,
Lincoln and Jackson sts., Paterson, N. J.
CHARLES KLAHRE,
115 W. 42d st., New York.
ROBERTS-HENSHARD CO.,
42 S. 20th st., New York.
BOSTON LINEN SUPPLY CO.,
306 C. 20th st., New York.

LINEMAN WANTED.
EXPERIENCED cedar pole lineman for city work; steady job and good wages. Apply to W. F. LEE, Gas Co., Fall River, Mass.

ASSISTANT FOREMAN in a laundry; must be experienced; steady employment; good wages; no experience and wages expected; 5 days, 50 hours; 6 to 9 A. M. Saturday morning. Apply to Boston.

BOY WANTED. Apprentice to learn the heavy harness business. Address 1 Boylston st., Boston.

CHAUFFEUR WANTED—Experienced driver only; one owner drives; must be sober, reliable and well recommended. Apply 9 to 10 A. M. or 2 to 3 P. M. Edward Ford, 1 Beacon st., Boston.

CUTTER—Wanted first-class cutter, experienced in rubber clothing, good wages. Apply to CLIFTON MFG. CO., 65 Hanover st., Boston.

CANDY PACKERS wanted; experienced candy packers shipping desk. Apply to BOSTON CONFECTIONERY CO., 514 Main st., Cambridge.

GOOD COLLECTOR and salesman wanted at Medford, Malden and Everett; $18 weekly. Call 177 Scollay sq., Washington.

MACHINIST—Wanted, machine, all-round machinist, milling machine hands; steady work; good wages. Apply at once. Address R. F. & P. MFG. CO., Lawrence, Mass.

MACHINISTS WANTED for navy; per $44 to $77 per month clothes or living allowance; also apprentices. Apply U. S. NAVY RECRUITING STATION, 60 Hanover st., Boston.

MACHINIST—Competent, wanted to go to Philadelphia; steady work for right man. Apply to W. H. SQUIRES, room 601, 620 Atlantic av., Boston.

MACHINISTS—Wanted, first-class machinists. HYDRAULIC MFG. CO., Keene, N. H.

OFFICE MAN Wanted—An experienced office man who knows all kinds of bank and office accounting, state your age, salary expected and experience. Address Box 1, Boston Post.

PLUMBER wanted at once; state wages wanted. Address 1 Boylston st., Boston.

SHEET METAL WORKER wanted, one acquainted with air washing and cooling system. Call over shop. THE JENNISON CO., Fitchburg, Mass.

SALESMAN—Man wanted to sell floor oil; wholesale big commission. Address Andre Nave, 90 Commercial st., Boston.

WANTED—Able-bodied men for the U. S. Marine Corps, between ages of 21 and 35, must be citizens, of good moral character and temperate habits; $15 to $60; additional compensation possible; thorough medical examination required; for information apply at recruiting office, 306 Washington st., Boston, Mass., or 346 Main st., Fitchburg, Mass.

Male Miscellaneous.

PRACTICAL ELECTRICITY SCHOOL

Practical work from beginning to end. All types of engines, boilers, pumps, dynamos, motors, and other electrical machinery. Actual work in the electric engineering field in actual operation. Only school in Boston where you can learn by doing. Day and evening classes. Call or write for catalogue.

ENGINEERING SCHOOL, 113 Huntington av., Boston.

ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN—HAWLEY ENGINEERING SCHOOL, 1 Somerset st., Boston, offers instruction of plant and installation of additional plant; also instruction for firemen; day and evening; with low grade license; enter early in September, when the rush begins; also at 1 Huntington ave., Huntington ave. entrance on Exeter st.

ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN instructed for examination; according to the rules and regulations of the board of examiners of engineers and firemen; established Hawthorn st., Boston; free college advice upon request. 1907 and 1908 classes now forming; day and evening classes; limited number; begin with $3; send for free book. HAWLEY ENGINEERING SCHOOL, 1 Somerset st., Boston.

INSTRUCTION in moving picture operating. PETERS THEATRICAL EXCHANGE, 24 Bromfield st., room 6.

MEN wanted to learn automobile business in our repair shop; we teach running and driving; book on app. G. L. HENNESSY, Boston.

MEN WANTED—Age 18 to 35; to learn railroad telegraphy and station work; railroads in this territory are calling for our graduates; we have railroad wire connection to engineers, conductors, dispatchers and superintendents; we are railroad men; railroad men only; write or call. DODGE RAILROAD TELEGRAPH SCHOOL, Boston.

SALESMANAGER—If Charles B. Floyd of 1095 Boylston st., will call on the undersigned at 1 Beacon st., Boston, he will receive to his advantage. CHARLES B. FLOYD.

WANTED—Salesman to sell automobile tires on commission. Address Box 1, Boston Post.

MEN WANTED to learn to drive and repair automobiles in our repair shop; day and evening classes; positions secured; for particulars write NEW ENGLAND AUTO CO., 949 Tremont st., Boston.

OPERATE moving pictures, get license; $25 to $50 weekly; we teach you; write for free booklet. MOVING PICTURE INSTITUTE, Dept. 189 S, Rochester, N. Y.

WANTED—Railway mail clerks, government positions; examinations Oct. 6 and Nov. 12. Average salary $1,100. Write for free booklet, schedule. FRANKLIN INSTITUTE, Dept. 189 S, Rochester, N. Y.

Male Situations Wanted.

A SHORT COLORED BOY, 16, 3 years' basis situation to sound associate or useful hand about cleaned shop, auto preferred; can drive it; is willing office; please write or call on H. E. HALLEN, 20 Beach st., West Medford, Mass.

AUTO REPAIRING—Middle-aged sober man desires place to learn auto repairing; can give A 1 ref. 308, Boston Advertiser.

BRIGHT boy, understanding young man, 23, with best references and habits, good education, wants work in office or store; will start at small salary. Address Box 1, Boston Post.

CHAUFFEUR—Experienced, can repair and overhaul, desires position; best of references; single man. Address S. M. 043, Boston Advertiser.

COLORED YOUNG MAN, 22, competent chauffeur, repair, finish, desires position; city or country's office, valet to gentleman or otherwise. Address L. W. C., 105 Pinckney st., Boston.

CARPENTER wants work by the day; will do jobbing or repairing; can furnish best of references; address 1 Boylston st.

FARM WORK—Man wants a position on farm; is experienced, and not afraid to work. Address O'CONNELL, 9 Burroughs pl.

FARM WORK—Boy, 17, from still educated, wants work on farm; not afraid to work; start for small salary. Address K 271, Boston Advertiser.

GENERAL WORK—Situation wanted by single man; handy around house, small farm or driver; can take care of horses. Address A. B., 500 Boylston st., Boston.

GENERAL WORK—If Robert Gaddis of 73 Tremont st., Cambridge will call on American office, he will receive to his advantage. Address American office, 70 Kilby st., Boston.

GENERAL OFFICE WORK wanted; a position wanted by young man experienced in general office work; is employed in Everett, but desires change to Boston. Address M 983 Boston American.

HOSTLER—Young man wishes position taking care of horses or driving team; will go anywhere. Address G 596, Boston Advertiser.

ICE CREAM MAKER wants position in private family; good reference. PETER PEPPOPOULOS, 56 Kneeland st., city.

HEAT CUTTER—Position wanted by cutter and operator; first; understands fast; best ref. Address K 1, Boston Post.

PAINTER—Wanted, situation by young man about 20 years of age; can do plain and outside work. Address P 525, Boston Advertiser.

SALESMAN wants a position as a traveling salesman; have experience, good reference; best of habits; can furnish bond. Address S. H., Box 17, Station O, Boston.

SODA FOUNTAIN CLERK—Position wanted by young man with first-class experience; can fill any grade of fountain; can furnish best of references. P 502, Boston Advertiser.

YOUNG MARRIED MAN—American, strong and intelligent; would like position with good wages for in return for steady position; with good references; no agency or solicitor. Address A 560, Boston Advertiser.

Agents and Canvassers.

AGENTS WANTED to sell greatest money maker on the market; sells at sight; one man made $20 a day; exclusive territory. Box 2020, Boston, Mass.

AGENTS wanted to sell fully tooth plate on commission; apply to W. H. SQUIRES, Room 601, 620 Atlantic av., Boston, Mass.

BOYS AND GIRLS during your vacation, to sell our new and fascinating article, to get cash; commission or a nice prize or a gift given in addition; call a few days or send for terms; it will be a good 30 days. Address 19 High st., room 14.

LADY AGENTS—for new article; big money for hustlers. Call 2 Park sq., room 305.

SALESMEN—Take orders for custom sweeping powder from stores, hotels, factories, restaurants, etc.; salary, KENDALL, box 180, Manchester, N. H.

Female Help Wanted.

GENERAL HOUSEWORK—Girl wanted for family of 3 adults and one child; wages $18. Call Monday, 9 to 12 noon, 6 Roxbury.

GENERAL HOUSEWORK girl wanted in family of 3 adults and one child; must be good cook; wages $18. Call 6 Roxbury.

WANTED—A woman to tend ball while I'm busy; small room, 59 Revere st., suite 5, West End.

WEAVERS, drawer tenders and doublegirls girls wanted at the BALTIC MILLS, Enfield, N. H.

WAITRESS for restaurant, 342 East 6th st., South Boston.

Female Miscellaneous.

LADIES WANTED TO LEARN MILLINERY; "POSITIONS GUARANTEED." "INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION." "SPECIAL MATERIALS." "DAY AND EVENING SCHOOL." Established over 25 years. "COME OR SEND." Catalogue. Write for circular. BOSTON MILLINERY COLLEGE, 491 Tremont st.

GIRLS wanted two weeks to learn dressmaking; positions secured; 5 cents for catalogue. 1 Boylston st., Boston.

MISCELLANEOUS—If Mrs King of 69 Washington st. will call on the standard st., corr. 4th st., South Boston, she will receive to her advantage.

Employment Agencies.

AT MISS FINN'S, 30 Winchester street—Cooks $20, $25, $30, $35; chamber, waiting, parlor maids, $20, $25; nurses, $20, $25.

AT 50 ROXBURY ST.—Cooks, general, second, nurses, waitress, green girls, day workers.

Female Situations Wanted.

ATTENDANT wishes position, caring for invalid or elderly lady; best of references. Address M. A. H., 19 Hancock st., Dorchester.

ALL ROUND COOK, makes excellent bread, pastry, cuisine and good order; best of reference; 2 years last place; 25 Pond st., Jamaica Plain.

A REFINED young widow wants position as housekeeper in gentleman's family; no objection to go in the country. 27 Pond st., South Boston.

BOOKKEEPER—Experienced, permanent or temporary; restaurant or drug store. Reference, present employer. P 508, Boston Advertiser.

COOK—American cook, first-class, all round; neat and quiet; wants good home; good wages; economical; city or country. 225 Tremont st., Boston, room 1.

CHAMBER WORK—Lady would like chamber work in hotel or lodging house. Address 264 Bowdoin, South Boston.

CLEANING or washing by the day or hour; good worker. MRS. BUTLER, 370 Albany st., Boston.

DRESSMAKER (French)—For engagement wanted by an experienced dressmaker; perfect fit and style guaranteed; also remodeling; if desired go to your home; 15 Tremont st., room 1, Boston.

DRESSMAKER—As operator or dressmaker wishes by young lady; experience in cutting and basting of all kinds; also learning a specialty. 47 Appleton st., Boston.

DRESSMAKER, first-class, with dressmaker's diploma, wishes position with dressmaker in Boston. Address M. A. H., 19 Hancock st., Dorchester.

DAY WORK—Woman wants work by day or hours; is an expert cleaner and washer. 1 Boylston st., Boston, room 12, 1372-2 Boylston.

DAYS WORK—Young woman wants day or hour; by capable woman; references. M. T., 4 Dwight st., Boston.

DAY WORK—A woman wants work by the day or hour; is a good worker. Call or address 30 Windsor st., top 2nd floor, Roxbury.

DAY WORK—A woman wants work by the day; 15 cents per hour and car fare. MRS. SMITH, 105 Cedar st., Roxbury.

DAY WORK—Woman wants work by the day or hour; is a good worker. Call or address 30 Windsor st., top 2nd floor, Roxbury.

DRESSMAKING—City or country; is neat and reliable; can furnish best of references. MISS KNIGHT, Concord Junction, Mass.

GENERAL HOUSEWORK—Young woman wants some employment in light housework; is a good worker; has best of references. Address 1 Boylston st., Boston, room 12, 1372-2 Boylston.

For GENERAL WORK—Colored woman wants work; general or any kind of work; is a good worker; has best of references. Address 1 Boylston st., Boston, room 12, 1372-2 Boylston.

GENERAL WORK by the day or hour. Address 1 Boylston st., Boston, room 12, 1372-2 Boylston.

GENERAL HOUSEWORK—Young lady desires work; is a good worker; has best of references. Address 1 Boylston st., Boston, room 12, 1372-2 Boylston.

GENERAL HOUSEKEEPER—Colored woman wants work; is a good worker; has best of references. Address 1 Boylston st., Boston, room 12, 1372-2 Boylston.

GENERAL WORK—Two experienced girls wish work in small family; one to do washing and ironing, the other housework; good references. 1 Boylston st., Boston, room 12, 1372-2 Boylston.

GENERAL HOUSEWORK

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN BOSTON, AUGUST 5, 1910

BOSTON AMERICAN

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, AUGUST 5, 1910.

Important OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT Worth Many Millions, and MORE THAN MERE MILLIONS

Racing in New York State Ends Positively August 31

Copyright, 1910, by the American-Journal-Examiner.

Racetrack gambling is dead. That is to say, the vile public gambling dens conducted in connection with racing go out of existence on the 31st day of August in the State of New York. The biggest and richest State in the Union has been slow in following the example of other States—Illinois, New Jersey and others. But, at last, even New York's rich, self-indulgent men MUST PAY THE BILLS FOR THEIR OWN VICES. They can no longer race their horses and have the horses fed and the jockeys paid by the stealings of little clerks.

Even the newspapers that represent the rich gamblers, and that protected racing because the rich men wanted it, NOW ADMIT THAT THE BETTING IS OVER.

A very good thing for the State of New York and for all of the United States. This means millions upon millions saved for the mothers and children. And what is far more important, it means that hundreds of thousands of young men will use their energies in some beneficial way instead of wasting thought and time on foolish, vicious gambling calculations.

Some of our bankers and big men worry because American families are in the habit of buying automobiles in order to get the fresh air and enjoy life.

We beg to tell them that the amount of money spent usefully, wisely and healthfully in purchasing automobiles in the State of New York does not equal by far THE AMOUNT OF MONEY THAT WILL BE SAVED BY THE ABOLITION OF PUBLIC GAMBLING. Nor does it equal what MIGHT be saved by abolition of Wall Street gambling.

One great reform has been brought about AT LAST. No man can tell the good results that will follow the wiping out of the sorest, most dangerous plague spots in the life of a great State.

P. S.—There is a feeble hope expressed by the gamblers that racing may be revived "later."

It is hoped by the men who have put their money into the gambling business that they will be able to get "a Governor" of New York State that will permit them to break the law and violate decency.

These gamblers and the big men that own the racetracks, and have been taking the stolen dollars of clerks and employes, pin their hopes particularly to Mr. Gaynor—why, they are best able to tell.

They feel, as they put it, that Mr. Gaynor is "liberal." They are very much encouraged by the fact that Mr. Gaynor has refused to interfere with the exhibitions of moving pictures of a degrading prize fight—whereas executives in other cities have found quick methods for stopping those pictures.

Those that take the profits of betting bear in mind Mr. Gaynor's famous "golf ball decision."

That was the case in which cunning lawyers brought before Mr. Gaynor, as Judge, a trumped-up case about a golf ball—imposing, of course, on his innocence and lack of worldly knowledge—and then used his golf ball decision to continue the criminal gambling.

We inform those who pin their hopes of future gambling on Mr. Gaynor that they will be disappointed for two reasons.

The first reason is that if Mr. Gaynor were Governor of New York he would not dare renew the existence of the vile gambling den.

And the second reason is that Mr. Gaynor will never be Governor of the State of New York.

The Title of This Song Is "Happy in the Love I Thought Was Mine."

Love Is a Terrible Thing, When It Gets Off the Track. It Would Be Unjust to Our Readers Not to Print This Poem

Copyright, 1910, by the American-Journal-Examiner.

Mr. M. Anthony, writing from a department store waiting room, says: "I thought it would be a very good proposition if you would have your readers send in some poems and songs.

"Here is one song a young lady wrote. She never wrote one before, and I thought it was very good."

We print the song; we print it just as it was written. Many a good thing has been spoiled by a foolish effort to make it better or to change it.

We by no means encourage the writer to hope that she can make a living writing poems—very few have had that power, and most of them are dead.

Readers too critical may find fault with the technical side of this poetic work. But no one can deny the value of the fundamental idea that inspires the poem.

"HAPPY IN LOVE I THOUGHT WAS MINE."

Sweet memorys bring my thoughts to you
I long to see you once again
I wonder if You think of me or are my hopes in vain
When we parted I thought it best
I thought that you loved some one else but if his love does not prove true remember one that had loved you

Happy were those dear days—I thought that you were mine
I never thought another love would take you from my side
You seamed so very happy happy all the time
& I was allways happy in the love I thought was mine

I know dear heart it was my fault
I asked you for to go away
but O these thoughts they broke my heart
I wish I had you back again
but O I know it can not be
Your happy with your new love dear
While I lone will sit & moan for my lost love alone

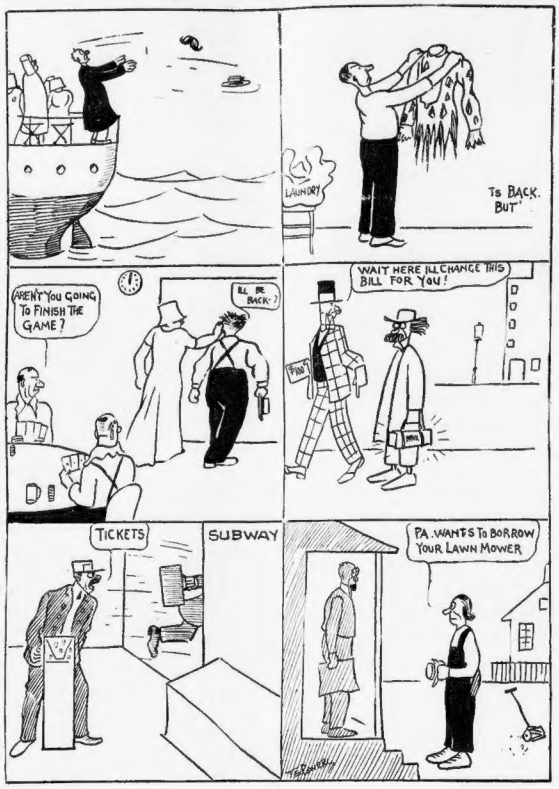
They Never Come Back

YOU'LL SURELY ADMIT AS MUCH

By T. E. POWER

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner



Henpecko, the Monk

By GUS MAGER

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

HENRY, PEEL THESE TOMATOES,— I'M GOING TO MAKE SOME KETCHUP!
YES LOVE.
SCOUR THAT KETTLE THOROUGHLY HENRY.
BE SURE YOU HAVE A GOOD HOT FIRE!
KEEP STIRRING IT - DON'T LET IT BURN!
CORK THEM TIGHT — THE KETCHUP MAY WORK!
I SMELL KETCHUP, MRS. HENPECKO,
YES, I THOUGHT I'D MAKE SOME FOR HENRY— HE'S SO FOND OF IT!

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES OF The Unijama Man

By Winifred Black

HURRAH for the Unijama!

Welcome to our city and to every other city in sensible land!

Haven't heard about the Unijama? Well, it's time you did. The Unijama is the new Summer dress for men. It's going to be exhibited at the Fashion Show in Chicago this week. It is a one-piece garment laced up in sailor style. It may have collars and cuffs attached or unattached.

Color? Oh, any old color you want—pink, blue, green, yellow, brown, black or navy, and it's made of pongee. It's the only sensible, reasonable, comfortable Summer dress that has ever been invented for the Summer time. If the men of this country don't adopt the Unijama, then let them stop talking about women's slavery to fashion once and for all.

The average man in a coat, shirt, trousers, collar, cuffs and shoes in this kind of weather is a sight to make a brainless monkey laugh.

What's it all for, this loading on of discomfort on discomfort?

Who's the happier because a man bakes and broils and roasts—for the sake of the fool fashion?

We live, we Americans, in the height of the tropics, as far as four months in the year are concerned, and we go right on dressing as if we had the climate of England or the cool mist of Scotland for our native air.

The hottest, most uncomfortable, most disagreeable thing to look at in the world on a July day is a man in a stiff collar and a regulation suit of clothes.

If they don't have sense enough to welcome the Unijama to the life of the American city in the Summer, let's get together, girls, and make some one pass a law about it. Arrest every man with money enough to buy a Unijama suit every time he appears on the streets in anything else. Put him in jail and make him wear a Peary Arctic expedition outfit for a week just to teach him some sense. I believe we'd save a lot of suicides and divorces and mysterious disappearances.

Hurrah for the Unijama! I hope it has come to stay.

Science—and Fact

By BERTON BRALEY

TAKING his spectacles down from his nose,
Professor Ezekiel gazed at his class;
"Ethnology surely and certainly shows,"
He grimly asserted, "that man is an ass—
"An ass, I repeat, when he dares to suggest
That the white man is greater than all of the rest
This talk of the 'white man, superb and supreme,
Is nothing but rot—is no more than a dream."
The closing bell rang and the students arose,
And the glasses went back to that classical nose.
Now, four good men there were who heard that word of wisdom clear,
And they went out to win their spurs and gather gold and gear.
They took their paths, which led apart, but first they smiled and said,
"Five years from now—at Billy's place—unless we're jailed, or dead."
A grip of hands, a firm "So long"—and not one gave a thought
To that great scientific fact the old Professor taught.
They met again—at "Billy's place"—four men of strength and might,
With five good years of tales to tell, of love and gold and fight;
For Blake was fresh from Africa, he'd made a fortune there;
And Brown was back from China, and the gray was in his hair;
White Burke, a lean and wiry Celt, returned from Panama,
And Jenkins from the Yukon land, beyond the "White Man's law."
They told their tales of good and ill, laughter and love and death—
Till each could feel the Arctic chill, the desert's searing breath,
Or see the yellow faces peer at window crack and door,

Or hear the blasting in the cuts—a sullen, throbbing roar.
For Blake had sought and toiled and starved and found the yellow gold,
Had brushed and smashed and bluffed his way through chances manifold,
While Brown had subtler tales to tell—Celestial plot and plan,
And monstrous cunning, fraud and greed, with that wide gulf to span
Which lies between the Orient mind and ways of Western men;
And, as he talked of perils past, he lived them through again.
Followed the story then of Burke, he and a cheery pal,
Who kept Eurasian gangs at work upon the big canal,
And Jenkins had his sketch of life up in the frozen zone,
Where he commanded brown Aleuts and ruled them all alone.
And through each tale the White Man strolled, ready to give or take;
Serene in all his perils stark—Jenkins or Brown or Blake.
Quiet, supreme, superb and strong, master of road and town,
The White Man—whether his name was Burke, Jenkins or Blake or Brown!

Little Bobbie

He Writes About Pa's Love Talks

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

PA & Ma and me was setting in the living room last nite, & Pa was riteing sumthing on the writing tablet. After he had rote for a long time, he sed Abu, at last I have it.

What is it you have? sed Ma. I have my new monologue I am going to sell to Laury Lupp, the grate lady novelist that is now in vaudeville. It is to be called the Love monologue, sed Pa.

I didnt know that one of yure speshalities was riteing Love Talks, sed Ma. If sum burglerck had asked you to rite him a sawsuit lecture, that mite be different, but ware do you cum in to rite about a gentel thing like luv?

I cum in, all rite, sed Pa. Just lissen to this monologue wich I have rote for Miss Lipp:

I shall never forgit the first time that I was in luv. It was with a butcher. Wen he calm in the back door with six ribs pork chops, I was attired in a gown of sum soft, clinging material. I looked strangely butiful, that morning, & I think the butcher noticed it, for he charged me ten (10) cents a pound extra for the chops.

The next time I fell in luv was with the ice man. He was a large & solum man, in fact I mite say he was almost sober. He had to bring the ice clear up the stairs, the poor fellow, because the dum waiter was brook. As he stood there in the door, with a huge piece of ice in his hands, he looked for all the world like a descendant of sum grate ice lander, & I knew the minnit that I looked in his eyes that he luvd me.

He was standing there in the doorway & talking pleasantly, the ice all melted, & I have never saw him since.

One of the times wich I distinkly recoll were I didnt fall in luv at all was wen the landlord calm. He was short & spare, like a wire nail. He had queer litte cold eyes, like the eyes of a weesh-fish. I shall never forgit his first murmured words to me, as I stood there in all my gurlish grace, leeding against the door. "Well, kid," he sed, "do I get it? $45 & the recent is all made out."

As my audience perhaps knows, I have ritten my best stuff wen I rose to poitry. Poitry is the reel languags of luv. I will now reesite to you a luv pome wich I rote, wile I was watching the laundryman the morning he calm for his laundry munny. He was big & fat & had red hair & a red face. I looked at him wen he held out the bill to me & then I took the bill & this is what I rote on the back of the bill, with a lead pencil wich I had found in one of the pockets of my husband's coat, wile I was looking for any munny wich he mite have possibly left in the pockets wen he was changing his clothes:

Ah, laundryman, oh, laundryman,
The way you washed my husbands shirts
Stings him to rage & likewise hurts
Yare standing with us, laundryman,
You boiled them shirts & made them shrink,
They wunderet At Tod Sloan to-day,
I mite have had you once, you doner!

Now, on yure way!

& now, ladies & gentlemen, I will conclude my Love Monologue by singing to you a song of luv wich I once composed wen I was a mere girl. It is called Cum Back, My Expressman, A Trunk Has Fell Off.

Soo here, sed Ma to Pa, after she had discovered that far to Pa, you dount think for a minit that little Bobbie & me is going to set here all that time & listen to a lot of foolish talk like that, & I hope you dount think that Miss Laura Jean Lippy wud ever think of doing it on the stage.

Oh, I dount know, sed Pa, I thought it was kind of good.

Well, sed Ma, it isent good at all. Take it up & go to bed.

So Pa tore it up.